HOT TALK BY TAFT.

Ridicules Bryan's Cry of Bribery.

Promise of More Work With Republican Success, He Says, Is Business.

Employers State Facts That Workingmen Have Right to Know.

Candidate, in Good Voice, Delivers Sixteen Speeches to Thousands.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

EVANSVILLE (Ind.) Oct. 22.—During this, the first of the three days he is to speak in Indiana, William H. Taft has talked to more people than on any previous day of the campaign.

In each of his sixteen speeches the listeners and applauders have numbered thousands.

Rejuvenated in voice, energy and enthusiasm by his one day of rest, the candidate handled the campaign with even a greater degree of positiveness than heretofore. In the first speech he made he ridiculed Mr. Bryan's charge of "bribery" in connection with the promise of employers to their employés as to more work in case of Republican success, and in the case of manufacturers whose goods were contingent upon the same result, were not bribes, he said, but business. They did not represent false conditions, he said, but facts.

Judge Taft talked today to many audiences, and it was noticeable that what he said was more educational than heretofore.

HISTORY OF INJUNCTIONS.

At Linton, where he spoke to several thousand coal miners, he gave them the history of the writ of injunction, something he has not previously done.

At Terre Haute, he made a clear distinction between the Republican and Democratic platforms on the use of the injunction, and declared business to be property. There were two occasions during the day when Candidate Debs came in for attention. These were at Terre Haute, the home of Debs, and at the two meetings at Evansville.

The largest outdoor gathering Mr. Taft said he had ever addressed, was assembled at Terre Haute, when the Taft special arrived there this afternoon. Many present said it was the largest gathering in the history of the State.

Injunction was the candidate's topic at Terre Haute, and after it had been explained and the position of the two parties set forth, the candidate declared with great vehemence:

CARES NOT FOR POLITICS.

"That is where the Republican party stands; that is where I stand, and I don't care what happens politically, that is where I am going to stand. I have issued injunctions against lawless laboring men who were violating somebody else's rights. If I had not done it, I should not have the right to be here asking for your suffrage. What kind of judge do you want? Do you want a judge that distinguishes between classes, decides in favor of one class and against another? Is it not the judge who, under his oath, with the law as it is laid down in the text-book and the statute and with the evidence before him under his oath decides according to the justice of the case and then issues the order that the law requires him to issue?

"What is an injunction? An injunction is merely an order with reference to the prevention of the abuse made before the fact occurs which is to injure or not injure the party. Where an injury has been done a man brings suit to recover damages for the injury, but where the injury is of a character recurring from time to time in small acts for which you cannot recover damages that are adequate,

ZEPPELIN MAY FIGHT DUEL.

Berlin Paper Says He Will Meet Rival Aeronaut Today.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BERLIN, Oct. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] According to the Morgenpost, a duel will be fought, probably tomorrow, between Count Zeppelin and Maj. Cross, aëronauts.

The duel is the outcome of a dispute as to who was the original inventor of the system of rigid balloon construction.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BERLIN, Oct. 22.—Duchess Alexandra Victoria of Schleswig-Holstein, daughter of Prince Frederick, Duke of Schleswig-Holstein, was married in the chapel of the Imperial Palace at 6 o'clock this afternoon to Prince August William of Prussia, fourth son of Emperor William.

The ceremony was witnessed by the members of the imperial family and some fifty princes and princesses of the minor German royal household. The Chancellor of the empire, Prince Von Buelow, as well as the other high state functionaries, the members of the diplomatic corps, including Dr. Hill, the American Ambassador, and the members of the embassy staffs, with their wives, together with about 800 guests, were present.

The civil ceremony was held in the private apartment of the palace, after which the Emperor placed the Hohenzollern Crown on the head of the foreign Princess. The royal party then marched in procession to the chapel. The bride was clad in a white silk dress trimmed with lace, and her train, which was richly embroidered with silver, and thirteen feet long, was borne by four pages.

The simple ceremony of the Lutheran State Church was performed by Dr. Dryander, the court preacher, assisted by several minor ecclesiasts.

As the rings were exchanged the artillery in the palace square began firing a salute and the crashing sounds were interrupted by the melodious chiming of the church bells. The Emperor and the Empress kissed the bridal couple.

After the ceremony the royal party marched to the white hall of the palace and held a reception to some 2000 invited guests.

After the supper the wedding guests took part in a "fagot dance," an old custom that has been modernized by the Emperor and the Empress. The newly-wedded pair promenaded around the white hall attended by ten lackeys bearing tall candles while the bride cut her garters in several pieces and distributed them to her bridesmaids.

No Improvement in Condition of Boy and Father's Plans Are Held in Abeyance Pending Outcome of Illness—Infantile Paralysis and Indigestion Is Diagnosis.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 22.—The condition of John W. Kern, Jr., the 5-year-old son of the Democratic Vice-Presidential candidate who is suffering from infantile paralysis complicated by acute indigestion, showed no improvement tonight.

His father, who was called home from his speaking campaign in New York and Ohio, reached the city early in the morning and scarcely left the bedside during the day, although he was himself nearly worn out.

Mr. Kern said tonight his plans for the immediate future were in abeyance pending the outcome of his son's illness.

Powder Trust Used Giant Brand.

Let no Competitor Rest Until He Is Forced Out or Bought up.

"Jamestown Agreement" Made With Foreign Dynamite Dealers.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Methods alleged to have been employed by the so-called "powder trust" to gain control of the powder trade in the United States were described by R. S. Waddell, former general sales agent in the United States for the big powder company, at today's session of the hearing in the government suit against the company for alleged violation of the Sherman anti-trust law. He had declared that the defendant company controls between 85 and 98 per cent. of the trade in gunpowder and 90 per cent. of the trade in blasting powder. Today he told of the formation of the Southern Powder Company, which was organized in Cincinnati, with mills in Georgia, and absorbed by the big company a few months later.

"We went right after the Southern as soon as they entered the market," said Mr. Waddell. "The fight continued until the general round-up in July, 1896."

"What do you mean by the 'general round-up?'" was asked.

"I mean the complete elimination of competition by absorption of the competitors," replied the witness.

Mr. Waddell said he had been informed by the officers of the company that there was an agreement with foreign manufacturers on sales of dynamite. This information was given him, he said, after foreign mills had been erected in Jamestown, and was known as the "Jamestown agreement."

"I was told that one of our officers had been to Europe, and that thereafter we would have no further trouble," said he.

KEPT COPY OF AGREEMENT.

This, he said, was when there was some disturbances in the market over the cutting of prices in smokeless powder. He said a new agreement was drawn by members of the pool after practically all the competitors had been absorbed. When a paper, identified by Waddell as a copy of the agreement, was presented, counsel for the defense objected. Waddell was rather severely handled by counsel for the defense on cross-examination and was asked why, when he found the paper in his possession after he had left the employ of the company, he did not return it to the company.

"It never occurred to me," he answered. "I could have taken trunks full of records had I wanted them."

"Did you find this paper when you were concocting a scheme to build a plant and sell it to the company?" asked the cross-examining attorney.

"No; I was concocting no scheme. I was preparing to defend myself against the powder trust."

CRUSHED COMPETITORS.

Continuing his description of methods, which he alleged were used to absorb or crush competitors, Waddell told of fights which were made by his company against the Indiana Powder Company, and the Southern Powder Company. The Indiana Company, which was formed in 1897, had Ohio, Kentucky, Michigan, West Virginia and one or two other States for its market.

NEBRASKA, INDIANA, KANSAS FOR TAFT.

Bryan Has No Show of Election. Is Like the Man Who Fell Out of a Balloon—Taft's Success Seems to Be Fully Assured.

BY HARRISON GRAY OTIS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] When I arrived in Chicago homeward bound from Baltimore, I asked Secretary William Hayward, the capable and trusted official in charge of Republican headquarters for the western division of States, for a sure enough estimate based upon his close knowledge of the situation, giving the political complexion of the States west of Ohio (in which his division is not included.) I wanted to secure special information as to this division by itself, partly for the reason that the Eastern and Central States have been fully exploited in previous dispatches, and also because the solid South is conceded to Bryan. Mr. Hayward's clear and specific responses, kindly made for me in writing, are in substance as follows:

"I consider Taft's election absolutely assured. Every one of the Western States, with the possible exception of Montana, Colorado and Nevada, will give a majority to Taft. Some of the more conservative leaders around headquarters have placed Nebraska on the doubtful list of States, but, personally, I feel sure that State will give Taft a majority of at least 15,000. [So strong is Mr. Hayward's confidence in Nebraska that he is willing to back his faith with his money.]

"I base my statement regarding the Nebraska situation on the numerous polls we have made in that State. The first polls were so favorable that we were afraid some mistake had been made and ordered another poll.

"In each case, returns proved conclusively that the Republicans would easily carry the State. This is not guesswork, for we know just where we stand and are not in the least afraid of the result in Nebraska.

"Kansas, I am certain, will be carried by the Republicans by at least 25,000 majority. Mr. Taft's tour throughout the Northwest made the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin and all of that territory absolutely safe. Everywhere his reception was so cordial and so enthusiastic, that not even the most conservative man could doubt for a minute that the voters were with him.

"Indiana and Illinois are safe beyond a doubt. Indiana, I believe, will give the Republicans a majority of 50,000 or 60,000, In Illinois Deneen will be elected by a great majority. I would be willing to wager ten to one on the contest in Illinois that Deneen will be the winner, and I must be pretty sure of that situation to offer such odds.

"In '96, you will remember, the opposition had Bryan elected in October, and it is this same clamor that you are hearing now. Bryan is always elected early in the game. The Democrats base their hopes for success on the talk of disgruntled Republicans scattered throughout the West, believing that these men are going to support Bryan. On the contrary, the disgruntled of the party will do a good deal of talking, but when they are met squarely with the issue, they will support the ticket.

"So positive am I regarding the Nebraska situation that I firmly believe if Bryan carries that State, he will be elected, for any influence which would be of sufficient importance to swing Nebraska into the Democratic column, might even be sufficient to carry with it New York and other important States. There is, however, no fear of any issue arising which will cause a turn of this kind."

Now, suppose we depart somewhat from Secretary Hayward's estimates and concede to Bryan Nebraska, Colorado, Montana and Nevada, with their combined electoral vote of nineteen, and add these votes to Bryan's 151 in the solid South, and also add Delaware, Maryland, West Virginia and Oklahoma (twenty-five,) making a possible aggregate for Bryan of 195. He then has forty-seven less electoral votes than the requisite number to elect.

On the contrary, suppose Mr. Bryan loses Maryland, West Virginia and Delaware, which he is liable to do, the eighteen electoral votes of these States combined would reduce Bryan's total vote from 195 to 177, being sixty-five votes short. So that, in the light of the best and most conservative information on the political situation today, the election of William J. Bryan to the Presidency of the United States is a simple impossibility. In short, Mr. Bryan's situation politically is, by comparison, not unlike that of the man who fell out of the balloon—he is no longer in it.

IOWA PHYSICIAN HASTENS TO DUCHESS OF CHAULNES.

Theodore P. Shonts's Anxiety Over Daughter Such That He Insisted Upon Old Family Physician Going Half Around World to Be Present on Critical Occasion.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CENTERVILLE (Iowa) Oct. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Dr. J. L. Sawyers, Centerville's most prominent physician and surgeon, former family physician to the Shonts family, has been summoned to Paris to attend the Duchess of Chaulnes, who expects to become a mother some time soon after the 10th of November. He left Centerville tonight and sails from New York Tuesday next, and will be absent for a month or six weeks. Mrs. Sawyers, an aunt of the Duchess, will accompany him and they will be joined at New York by T. P. Shonts, father of the Duchess. Mr. Shonts's anxiety over his daughter has caused him to insist upon Dr. Sawyers making the trip half around the world to be present at the coming of the stork.

The Duchess was formerly Miss Theodora Shonts and married the Duke of Chaulnes February 25, 1908. He died very suddenly in Paris three months later. The Duchess was formerly a Centerville girl. As soon as she recovers after the birth of her child, it is expected that she will return to America.

CONQUEST OF PEACE.

EMPEROR SAYS, "LET JOY BE UNCONFINED."

With Imperial Mandate Urging More Demonstrations of Hospitality Japanese Engage in Celebration that Lacks Parallel in History.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

TOKIO, Oct. 22.—The capital of Japan witnessed tonight the most extraordinary evidence of the spirit of the new Japan. After his audience with the officers of the American battleship fleet on Tuesday the Emperor issued an order directing the people to increase in every way possible the enjoyment, comfort and pleasure of the American visitors, who came, he said, as historic friends of the Japanese nation. The response to this Imperial mandate was seen and heard tonight.

Originally a torch-light procession of 15,000 people was planned as part of the programme, but this feature went far beyond expectations and developed one of the greatest popular demonstrations and outpourings of an enthusiastic people ever witnessed in any country. Japan's war celebrations after peace with Russia, London's "Mafeking Night," and even New York's election night revel would seem almost insignificant compared with Tokio's celebration tonight. It would be impossible to estimate the number of people who took part in the parade and the myriads of spectators. Mile after mile, through madly cheering people, the great procession wound its way.

Representatives of various guilds, universities, schools of every class for boys, and other organizations, took part in the parade, each individual carrying a lighted lantern held high on a long pole with American and Japanese flags interwined. Admiral Sperry and the other chief officers of the American fleet viewed the procession from a special stand, standing with bared heads above the sea of waving lanterns, and deafening roar of cheers and the clash of the music from scores of bands which played the American national hymn continuously.

OVATION TO AMERICAN WOMEN.

So dense became the crowds around the stand where the American officers stood, that the entire procession was blocked until Admiral Sperry was forced to leave in order to keep an engagement at the dinner given by Minister of Foreign Affairs Komura. Again at the American Embassy the great procession halted and the climax of enthusiasm was reached, although Ambassador O'Brien was not at the Embassy at the time. He, too, had left to attend the function at the residence of the Foreign Minister. When the head of the procession arrived at the Embassy and halted, Mrs. O'Brien and the other ladies of the Embassy appeared upon the verandas and received a prolonged ovation from the crowds, every man and boy among the paraders lifting his hat to the ladies, while there were continuous shouts for the American Ambassador. The entire grounds surrounding the Embassy were lighted with a sea of lanterns, and the demonstration at this point lasted for two hours, the ladies of the Embassy viewing it until they were forced to leave to keep a dinner engagement. Even then the parade was not resumed for more than an hour.

Every hand in Tokio turned out for the parade, and their favorite airs were "Yankee Doodle," "Dixie" and "John Brown." Thousands of the paraders wore fantastic costumes characteristic of Japanese celebrations.

Every foreigner in Tokio was deeply impressed by tonight's remarkable demonstration, coming as it did from an ordinarily undemonstrative people.

The entire day was taken up by a series of elaborate entertainments to Admiral Sperry and the other admirals of the American fleet and their aides. The American fleet commander, together with the other admirals and their aides, will leave Tokio at 3 p.m., October 23, when the scene of celebrations will change from this city to Yokohama and will close with a reception on board the flagship Connecticut next Saturday.

JAPAN NEVER FORGETS.

At the dinner given by Minister of Foreign Affairs Komura tonight, the Minister, in proposing the health of Rear-Admiral Sperry, said he was bidding him a reluctant good-by. He asked the admiral to take back to the people of the United States the message of good will and kindly feeling seen on every face and heard in every voice of tens of thousands, which was a sure reflection of the sentiments of the loyal subjects of the Emperor.

Japan never forgot, said Minister Komura, that in her hour of stress she had not looked in vain to the great republic for sympathy, while in her forward struggles she had had the example and encouragement of the American people.

Rear-Admiral Sperry in replying earnestly said that the character of the welcome given the fleet by Japan could not be mistaken, and it must be perpetuated for generations, for no better gauge of lasting friendship could be given than the bangais of the Harvard Professor Sets $15 a Week as Bottom Figure for Family.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON, Oct. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Thomas Nixon Carver, professor of economics at Harvard University, says it is not in the interest of society or the laboring classes that men who cannot earn $15 a week should try to marry and bring up a family in a place like Boston.

When people who cannot earn $15 a week bring children into the world the chances are that the children will be like them. There will thus be a large supply of unskilled laborers to crowd the market and make conditions worse for the superior laborers.

He advocates the adjustment of the labor question and the exclusion of the ever-increasing stream of unskilled foreign laborers.

Loyal Legion Work Discussed at Advance Meeting.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

DENVER, Oct. 22.—Meetings of the Executive Committee, official board and organizers of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union were held today, completing preparations for the thirty-fifth annual convention of the organization, which opens tomorrow morning in the Denver city Auditorium.

There are 700 accredited delegates. The president, Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens, of Portland, Me., to whom is given the credit of successfully carrying the union through the crisis following the death of its founder, Frances Willard, attended all preliminary meetings today.

The union is divided into sections, the educational, the evangelistic, the social, the legal, etc., and they have also divisions, making in all about forty departments of work. The heads of these departments or the chairmen of each committee conducting them, reviewed their field for the year at the Institute, which was held in the First Baptist Church today.

Special attention has been given during the last year to the organization of the Loyal Temperance Legion, the children's branch of the union, and the most interesting reports presented were those relating to this department.

Miss Anna Gordon of Boston, who was associated for twenty years with Frances Willard, and who has general charge of the W.C.T.U. work among the children of the country, in speaking of methods, said she thought the campaigning which had been most effective in bringing about the recent wide sweep of prohibition through the country was the holding of mass meetings, with torchlight processions and brass bands, followed by hundreds of children singing and bearing banners.

CLAIM MRS. GUNNESS IS ALIVE.

LA PORTE (Ind.) Oct. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Incident to the coming trial of Ray Lamphere, for complicity in the murders at the Gunness farmhouse, Attorneys Darrow and Worden, counsel for Lamphere, announced today they expected to prove Mrs. Gunness is alive.

A man named Hudson, one of the diggers the day the supposed body of Mrs. Gunness was taken out of the ruins of her house, declares he saw her alive the morning of July 8. His two daughters also saw her, say the attorneys, and the evidence of these three witnesses will be offered to prove the arch-slayer did not die in the flames.

CHARGES OF FRAUD.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—General charges of fraud made in a petition for an injunction against the directors of the Scandia Association, met with sharp retort in Judge Kohlsaat's court yesterday. Later in the day counter charges of a serious nature were made against the instigators of the action. The petition which asked the appointment of a receiver to prevent the directors from leasing the corporations Alaska properties, had been filed by Edward F. Richardson of Denver Colo. Mr. Richardson brings the suit as a stockholder and represents himself. He made a brief argument to Judge Kohlsaat in which he reviewed his petition, which among other things, accuses Robert A. Child's attorney for the corporation, of dominating the board of directors and carrying out his personal plans. Judge Kohlsaat took the application for a writ of injunction under advisement and postponed until today action on the application for a receiver. Attorney Childs and associates had their inning when their side of the story was told to Judge Kohlsaat by Horace K. Tenney, counsel for them. Mr. Tenney asserted Mr. Richardson represented a faction involved in the mining syndicate and that it happened that he and his faction were not members of the board of directors. "It happens," said Mr. Tenney, "that one of the directors Mr. Henry L. H. Bolander, who has opposed the action of the board, was at one time in control and so completely dominated everything that he tied up all the company's funds in Nome, Alaska."

ORDINANCE DEMANDED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—The Council Committee on Streets and Alleys, South, yesterday "turned down" its sister the Kensington & Eastern railway franchise. In the face of an extensive and carefully drawn report, refering the matter to the local transportation company, it ordered the subcommittee to begin again and draft an ordinance. The effect of this committee action was to encourage the idea that the Illinois Central road might get what it wants after all. A motion to file the subcommittee report, which would have had the effect of again bringing the ordinance before the committee as a whole, also was defeated. The report which was "turned down" by the committee explains at length the relations between the Illinois Central and the Kensington & Eastern, showing the vast advantages to be derived by the former road by the passage of the ordinance.

LEAPS INTO HIS ARMS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—Mrs. Annie Kline was saved from probable death yesterday, when she jumped from a third-story window of r residence, which was afire, by Policeman Michael Egan, who caught her in his arms after he had shouted to her not to jump. The cause of the fire is not known. It spread so rapidly that while Mrs. Kline was gathering up some of her personal belongings she found escape cut off. The policeman was standing almost directly under Mrs. Kline and as she plunged head foremost, he caught her in his arms. Both fell to the ground and were unconscious when spectators ran to their assistance. Egan's helmet was broken, but aside from being stunned he was not injured. Mrs. Kline suffered bruises, but was not seriously hurt. The fire caused damage of $500.

BREWER BROUGHT BACK.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—Theodore C. Tiedebohl, former secretary of the Zieppp Brewing Company, and president of the Chicago Distilled Water Ice Company, was brought back to Chicago last night to answer to the charge of embezzling $17,250 of the brewing company's funds. The return followed the arrest of Tiedebohl in Denver on Tuesday on the complaint of Theodore Oehne, president of the brewing company, after the former secretary, who left Chicago last Friday for a western trip with his wife, had been located through a detective agency. Tiedebohl agreed to return to Chicago without waiting for extradition papers.

GENEROUS SHOW OF STOCKING.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

EAST ST. LOUIS (Ill.) Oct. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Leverne Noyes, a beautiful Chicago delegate to the Illinois State Federation of Women's Clubs, now in session here, and one of Chicago's wealthiest women, has attracted a great deal of attention because of the beauty of her gowns and the style of her skirts. Today she went from the convention to the National Hotel, a distance of about a mile, walking two blocks to the street car bareheaded and she was a perfect symphony in brown, her chiffon satin dress matching the color of her auburn hair. Her stockings and shoes were the same color, the tight-fitting sheath skirt minus petticoats to amount to anything, being held so that her stocking thing, being held so that her stocking was displayed for a generous length. Mrs. Noyes has been quite noticeable as she went about with her camera taking snapshots of all the features of the convention. At the Elks' Hall reception on Tuesday, Mrs. Noyes was the most handsomely gowned woman in the room and attracted a great deal

PHILIPPINES UNDER DEBATE.

Senor Ocampo Says Ideal Is Independence.

Discussion at Lake Mohonk Presents Two Sides.

Americans Believe Duty Is to Protect.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LAKE MOHONK (N. Y.) Oct. 22.—"The Philippines" was the general subject of discussion at today's session of the Lake Mohonk conference. Senor Pablo Ocampo, resident commissioner of the Philippines at Washington, who talked briefly, first in English and then in Spanish, favored the independence of the Philippines.

Senor Ocampo said that while the Philippine Islands, due to their geographical position, were a dispersed, separate and scattered country, in the latent aspiration of the people they have a cohesive whole

"And that aspiration, sacred in its origin, regenerating in its means, great in its finality," he continued, "is the wish of assuming their own affairs, the vivid desire of being free and independent. It is absolutely a popular aspiration, an ideal worshiped at all times, in all places and by all classes. These desires and their anxiety, however, are not a cry of protest against the present administration. The government there is administered for the benefit of the people in a paternal and not tyrannical manner. It is simply a desire for ultimate independence."

Conditions in the Philippines were discussed by prominent American officials of the islands.

The conference has expressed the opinion that the Bureau of Insular Affairs, whose functions are essentially civil, should be ultimately committed to some other department than the Department of War.

ECONOMICAL ADMINISTRATION.

Maj. Long showed that the work as at present carried on was economical, the administration of the War Department, including this new bureau, the increased military establishment and its far wider field of activity, costing today only $150,000 more annually than ten years ago. The creation of the Bureau of Insular Affairs has increased the army by exactly two officers.

FORBES' ADDRESS.

W. Cameron Forbes addressed the conference at this session as follows:

"The first manifest duty of the United States is to open her doors to Philippine products, to remove the tariff barriers so unjustly raised, and so unkindly held up. The produce of the Philippine Islands is not sufficiently large to supply our home demand and make any appreciable effect on the industries here and those interested in the manufacture or production of the articles likely to affect the market would do a thousand times better to welcome the addition of the Philippines as a new field for their activities and assist in a development which would inure greatly to their advantage and that of the islands.

ISLANDS NEED CAPITAL.

"There is one other thing of the greatest importance to the islands. We need capital and capital cannot be directed so far afield without some special inducements. The amount of land which may be taken up by any one individual or corporation is so small as to limit the attraction of capital to a very small fraction of what it would be were larger tracts of land available under the law.

"Two thousand five hundred acres is the limit that a corporation can own, but this is not sufficient to raise products to justify the construction of machinery on a large and modern scale. It is a great pity that enough leeway could not be given to enable us to attract a company that would start big plantations of hemp, cocoanuts, rubber and other products which are consumed in great quantities in the United States. The same thing applies to mining claims, the size and number of which are limited to the extent that seriously hinders the development of that important industry."

E. J. HILL SPEAKS.

E. J. Hill was one of the principal speakers tonight. He said:

"Are we to do our duty where it lies near by, and shirk that duty far away, and, when done, at a greater cost? Will this great nation put justice and right in one side of the scales and tobacco and sugar in the other and measure our responsibility to the people we released from Spain by dollars and cents?

"Such a policy carried to its logical conclusion would close every missionary institution in the world, and in this particular case would bring us fast condemnation as highway robbers of civilization in its progress around the globe, for under this progress the people would be abandoned and coaling stations and naval bases for our own use would be retained."

FIFTH OF ARMY THERE.

He went on to describe the progress which had surprised those who viewed the prospect at the outset as all but hopeless, and added:

"Today about one-fifth of our little army is stationed there, and that, together with a brigade of native Filipino troops, imposes a burden upon our treasury of not to exceed $6,000,000 annually. It is an annual expenditure of about 7 cents per capita of our population in the greatest missionary enterprise which the world has ever seen, and in the interest of humanity and Christian civilization to lift up a nation and put it upon its feet, and hold it there until it can walk alone. And yet, some of our people declare it is an inexcusable blunder."

LITTLE GIRL UNDER CAR.

Went to Death Reciting Verse She Was to Give in School the Next Day.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Reciting over and over to herself the little verse which she was to have spoken before her class in school today and clutching in her hands a 5-cent piece, the last coin of her mother's little store, with which she was to buy milk for her baby brother, Marion Meade, 9 years old, ran in front of a trolley car last night and was crushed to death.

No one knows just how the accident happened, but when a policeman called for volunteers and a hundred men put their shoulders to the car and turned it over on its side, there was no life left in the mangled little one under the trucks.

The nickel was still clutched in the little dead hand.

Angry men and women made a demonstration against the motorman of the car but he was rescued by the police and locked up on a charge of homicide.

E. J. Hill,
Connecticut Congressman, who spoke yesterday at the Mohonk conference.

GIFT STAGE REACHED.

ROYAL PRESENTS SENT KATHERINE.

MISS ELKINS PRESENTED MANY MAGNIFICENT JEWELS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ROME, Oct. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Sig. Musi of Turin, Confalonieri of Milan and Marchesini of Rome, the royal jewelers, have just finished and sent to their destination presents intended by the royal family for Miss Katherine Elkins. Many of these are magnificent, including a diamond necklace, brooch and buckle from the Duke of the Abruzzi, a necklace of pearls and diamonds from King Victor Emmanuel, a valuable old wedding veil from Dowager Queen Margherita and a gold-mounted dressing case and parasol, with diamond-studded gold handles, from Queen Helena.

All of the other Princes and Princesses connected with the House of Savoy also are sending costly gifts of gold or diamonds. The Duke of Genoa presents the American Princess with a gondola of precious wood, inlaid with jewels, for use at Venice.

WARSHIPS TO ESCORT BRIDE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

ROME, Oct. 22.—The Italian cruiser Fieramosca has been ordered to await the Duke of the Abruzzi at New York, whither the cruiser Etruria also will be dispatched. It is understood that the two warships will escort the Duke and his bride to Italy.

The statement is made also that no member of the Elkins family will attend the official ceremony of the transcription of the marriage deed in Rome, and that when Senator Elkins visits Italy, he will be given the title of Chevalier of Annuciade.

The cruiser Fieramosca is at present in New York waters, having arrived there Saturday night from Bridgeport, where she took part in the Columbus Day celebration.

BRIDESMAIDS NAMED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Friends of the Elkins family told important secrets tonight. The bridesmaids of Miss Elkins are to be her two close girl friends, Miss Marjorie Gould, daughter of George J. Gould, and Miss Rosalie O'Brien, daughter of former Supreme Court Justice Morgan J. O'Brien of New York City.

The information came from a close friend of the Elkins family. It is also learned that there will be no announcement by the Elkins family of any engagement. The announcemet will come from the Prime Minister of Italy, which will be made shortly.

SERIOUS TYPHOID EPIDEMIC.

MONTREAL, Oct. 22.—An epidemic of typhoid which has been prevalent in Montreal for several weeks, is assuming serious proportions. All the Canadian hospitals are filled to their capacity, and are refusing additional patients. The epidemic is attributed to the bad condition of the water and to impure milk.

LYNCH CASE WITH JURY.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—Arguments in the case of J. J. Lynch, the broker accused of embezzling bonds of the Ocean Shore Railroad Company, were completed this afternoon. After the jury had been charged by Judge Conley it retired to deliberate on a verdict.

The Chinese have selected William Grant to take charge of the new engraving plant to be established in Peking for the purpose of printing the bank notes to be issued by the Chinese government, which notes in the past have been turned out in foreign countries. The plant, it is expected, will be completed next year.

BIG PURCHASE OF CARS MADE.

Espee Gives Two-Million Order for Equipment.

Much New Rolling Stock for Texas and Louisiana.

Deliveries in Both November and January Promised.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW ORLEANS (La.) Oct. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Purchases of equipment amounting to more than $2,000,000 in value for the Southern Pacific lines of Louisiana and Texas and the Sunset Route were announced today by Vice-President and Manager Thornwell Fay.

Mr. Fay placed an order for 1800 new freight cars and ten steel passenger cars, the first that have made their appearance in the South for use on the Sunset Route lines. Besides these, there are five combination mail and baggage cars to be delivered at the order of the company. The freight car order will include 100 box of fifty tons capacity each, 500 flat cars of fifty tons capacity each, 300 coal cars of fifty tons capacity and 200 stock cars of forty tons capacity. The cars are all to have metal frames and will be of the latest improved pattern.

The freight cars are promised for delivery in November and the passenger equipment delivery will begin in January.

RAILROADS AMEND COMPLAINT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

ST. PAUL, Oct. 22.—Three amended bills of complaint were filed in the Federal court here today by the Union Pacific, Northern Pacific and the Great Northern Railroad Companies, alleging unconstitutionality of the interstate commerce act and the act of Congress under which the Interstate Commerce Commission ordered a reduction in the freight rates on lumber from the Pacific Coast and also asserting that the rates, alleged to be excessive, were justified by reason of the increase in the value of forest products, occasioned by the depletion of the forests, the increased value of southern yellow pine and of the white pine of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan. The amended bills recited that the enforcement of the reduced rates would entail a loss upon the railroads of five cents per 100 pounds and in some instances more.

SANTA FE ANNUAL MEETING.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

TOPEKA (Kan.) Oct. 22.—The annual meeting of the Santa Fé stockholders was held in Topeka today.

The chief business transacted was the reelection of four directors to succeed themselves. They are: E. J. Berwind, A. J. McCollough, A. B. Jobes, and Henry C. Frick.

Those who atended the meeting were: E. P. Ripley, president; J. W. Kendrick, second vice-president; George T. Nicholson, third vice-president; W. B. Storey, chief engineer, and W. E. Hodges, purch sing agent.

CROWDS GREET GILLETT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN BERNARDINO, Oct. 22.—Gov. Gillett and Hon. John L. McNab of Ukiah addressed a big political demonstration here tonight. The opera-house was packed to the doors with an audience which stayed to the finish of the meeting.

The Governor and party arrived about noon and spent the afternoon in an auto ride about the valley, including Highland, Redlands and Colton. At the latter place an impromptu gathering of over 1200 people assembled on the streets to greet the Governor. A novel plan was adopted of sending out word by all school children that the Governor's party would arrive at 4 o'clock. Governor Gillett spoke from his auto for twenty minutes.

The meeting tonight brought special trains from all parts of the valley, and the interest and enthusiasm were surprising in view of the generally apathetic campaign heretofore. The Governor devoted himself to a discussion of the tariff, first historical and then as applied to the citrus industry, and later took up Taft's labor record, and handled Gompers without gloves.

He made a particularly strong point of the President's letter made public yesterday, defending the President's attitude on the subject of injunction, and his contention that the right to do business is a property right and entitled to protection by writ.

BLOCKADED.

TERRIFIC SNOWSTORM TIES UP RAILROADS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WINNIPEG (Manitoba) Oct. 22.—One of the worst snowstorms that ever occurred in the West is now at its height, and has completely demoralized the service of both the Canadian Pacific and the Great Northern railroads.

The storm started night before last, and has continued with unabating vigor. Ten inches of snow has already fallen, accompanied by a terrible gale. Snow has blown into the railroad cuts and in many cases is over ten feet deep.

The Canadian Pacific ordered snowplows to the scene, and they are hard at work clearing the tracks. But little progress can be made until the snow ceases to fall. The expresses from Vancouver and other western points are completely stalled, and west-bound trains are held up. No trains from the East have reached the city today, and it is uncertain when they will get through.

NOT PREPARED.

The storm which broke over Alberta province Tuesday night was unexpected by the railroads and preparations were not made to receive it.

The Canadian Northern train left Edmonton at the usual time and proceeded all right until near Islay, a short distance east of Vermillion, when it ran into a snow bank and stuck there. Efforts to back the train failed and finally another train was sent to pull it out.

MONTANA BLIZZARD.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

ST. PAUL, Oct. 22.—Blizzards and heavy snowstorms in Montana yesterday, where fifteen feet of snow drifted in some places, wrought havoc with the passenger-train schedule on the Pacific Coast extension of the St. Paul road, and train No. 106 from the west, which was due to reach St. Paul at 8:10 a.m. today, was over five hours late.

PEARY'S SHIP NOT INJURED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—A story to the effect that Commander Peary's Arctic steamer Roosevelt had collided with an iceberg before she reached Etah recently, and told by Henry Johnson, a sailor on the Roosevelt, was denied today by Robert Bartlett, the Roosevelt's carpenter.

A statement from Carpenter Bartlett, which was made public today by Herbert Bridgman, says in part: "There is no basis whatever for the reports of injuries sustained by the ship. She said she reached Etah in a battle," and there was no need to use a pump in her. "The Roosevelt left New York ... Etah."

LAND FRAUD SUIT.

SOLD CLAIM BEFORE GETTING HIS PATENT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PORTLAND, Oct. 22.—Scott T. Sheldon, one of the directors of the Pacific Furniture and Lumber Company, was the principal witness heard today in the so-called Los Angeles land fraud case, before Judge Wolverton, in the Federal Court.

Sheldon was one of the stockholders in the concern and also took up and sold to the company one of the timber claims which the government alleges were obtained by fraudulent means. Sheldon's recollection on many vital points of the case and his transactions with the company were poor.

The witness told of selling his claim to the company and tearing up the deed that he had given the company when he learned, upon consulting a Los Angeles attorney, that he was liable to get into trouble with the government, because he had given a deed to his claim before he had received a patent. Sheldon later testified that he made another deed and this was turned over to the Broadway Bank and Trust Company of Los Angeles as security for loans obtained by the company.

During the course of giving his testimony, Attorney Becker pressed the witness hard and he was forced into testifying to many details that he had either forgotten about or was not inclined to tell about.

Once, after a rather sharp interrogation, Mr. Becker started to take the witness to task, when he was interrupted by Judge Wolverton.

On cross-examination, Attorney McLemore brought out the admission that when the Pacific Furniture and Lumber Company was formed it was not with the intention of defrauding the government out of timber land by false entries.

After the conclusion of Sheldon's testimony, the introduction of a large number of letters followed.

They began a line of questions to show that three years ago Mrs. Martin had taken the youth to Dr. Austin Flint, the noted alienist in New York, to be examined as to his mental responsibility and was told that evil traits in the boy could only be cured by an operation.

"Baby John" admitted on the stand the facts of the examination but insisted that he had answered yes to all the alienist's questions under threats made by Mrs. Martin that she would do him bodily harm if he did not.

The other line of cross-examination this morning was regarding the youth's testimony before the grand jury and at the preliminary examination in the case. With but few exceptions "Baby John" withstood the ordeal.

The alleged degeneracy of "Baby John" will be one of the main stays in the defense of the case.

AUTO FOR ELECTION BONFIRE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SANTA ROSA, Oct. 22.—Provoked by the misfortune that has attended his every effort to operate a red touring car, obtained against his will, J. Luppold, a business man of this city, has determined to rid himself of the hoodoo automobile by the baptism of fire, and to that end has obtained the permission of the Council for a bonfire to be held in the street on election night.

Luppold obtained a car on attachment proceedings and seems to have encountered more than his share of the ill-luck that attends amateur chauffeurs.

As a means of ending his troubles, and at the same time indulging in celebration of the election of his chosen candidate, he has invited his friends to witness the burning of the machine.

WIFE-SLAYER CONFESSES.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SALEM, Oct. 22.—C. Y. Timmons, who yesterday killed his wife by cutting her throat and who is in a precarious condition owing to terrible injuries to his own throat which were at first believed to have been self inflicted, today subscribed to a confession to the murder of his own wife but declared he did not know who cut his throat. Timmons says he awoke from a sleep to find his throat had been cut. He saw a razor in his wife's hand, took it from her and cut her throat. He says a man named "Bob," but whose surname he does not know, had come between him and his wife and had furnished her with money to secure a divorce.

BEACHED SCHOONERS SAVED.

LITTLE DAMAGE DONE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WEDDERBURN, Oct. 22.—The gasoline schooner Enterprise which yesterday was reported a wreck on the bar, was merely beached and will be pulled off late today or tomorrow. She is not damaged badly.

The Osprey was floated yesterday. She is not damaged. The Osprey was towing the Enterprise at the time of the accident. The engines of the Enterprise having become disabled, the tow line parted, and the Enterprise was swept upon the beach. The line caught in the Osprey's wheel and she, too, was driven ashore.

BAD MAN KILLS ANOTHER.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) Oct. 22.—Frank Spence, notorious for several killing affairs, shot and killed Edgar Sullivan in a hut on a small ranch six miles from this city about noon today. Spence, who came to Prescott and surrendered to the Sheriff, asserts Sullivan attacked him with a butcher knife and he shot in self defense. Evidence deducted from a visit to the scene of the tragedy leads the District Attorney and Coroner to believe Spence shot Sullivan from behind as the victim was eating his noonday meal.

BRANDENBURG ARRESTED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DAYTON (Ohio) Oct. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Earl Broughton Brandenburg, the alleged author of the Cleveland letter, in which the ex-President was made to favor the election of Taft in preference to Bryan, was arrested tonight by a detective from New York City on charges of forgery and grand larceny.

Brandenburg said he anticipated an indictment and credits the charges to connection with the publication of the Cleveland article. He says he is guiltless of any crime and expects to be able to vindicate himself. He expresses astonishment and inability to understand the reported conduct of Mrs. Cleveland and Mr. Hastings in repudiating the article, "inasmuch as both knew," he says, "of the genuineness of the article and the ex-President's signature."

The Governor of Shan Tung, who is at Tsing Tau, on a state visit, has been entertained at a banquet, the speeches being rather cool in tone, though expressing a desire for mutual assistance in the promotion of commercial projects. The Governor said he did only his duty in suppressing the anti-German movement. The situation in the province, however, is unchanged. Foreigners have been stoned at Chinanfu and the boycott of the Hamburg American steamship line continues.

DISSATISFIED.

ANIMOSITY TOWARD AUSTRIA IS STILL STRONG IN BELGRADE.

Serbs Plan to Send Armed Bands Into Bosnia to Incite Countrymen to Insurrection and Gain More Through Intervention Than by Conference.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BELGRADE, Oct. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Servian animosity toward Austria shows no sign of diminishing. On the contrary, while the feeling in the rest of Europe is that things are growing better, Belgrade still remains dissatisfied and the situation threatens to develop into open hostilities.

Plans are maturing to send armed bands into Bosnia to incite their fellow-Servians to insurrection, thereby provoking war. In such case the Servians hope that through the intervention of Great Britain or some other power they will gain more than by waiting passively for a conference.

PRINCESSES LEAD IN WAR DEMONSTRATION.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CETTINJE, Oct. 22.—A remarkable exposition of the depth to which the war fever has penetrated the Montenegrin people as a result of the annexation of the provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina by Austria-Hungary was witnessed in Cettinje today when the women of the capital united in a great street demonstration.

They were headed by Princesses Zenia and Perova, daughters of Prince Nicholas, who marched the streets carrying Montenegrin flags. They were followed by a great throng of women of all classes who chanted war songs, stopping from time to time to plead with the men who followed in their wake to defend the sacred rites of the nation. The two Princesses subsequently formed a committee for the enrollment of red cross nurses.

BULGARIAN ENVOYS FAIL IN TURKEY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LONDON, Oct. 22.—The Sofia correspondent of the Mail states that the Bulgarian envoys to Constantinople are returning to Sofia, their mission having failed. The government, however, is still hopeful of reaching an agreement with Turkey.

HITCH IN NEGOTIATIONS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 22.—There was a hitch in the negotiations between the Turkish government and the Bulgarian envoys owing to Turkey's insisting upon the capitalization of the Roumelian tribute to which Bulgaria declines to accede.

AUSTRIA BARS MUNITIONS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

VIENNA, Oct. 22.—The Austro-Hungarian government today published the order announced yesterday prohibiting either the export or transmission through Austro-Hungarian territory of any war material of any kind to Servia or Montenegro.

UNITED STATES CAN'T ACT IN BALKAN AFFAIR.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Not being signatory to the Berlin Treaty of 1871, the United States is not in a position to intercede with Austria in behalf of Bosnia and Herzegovina, the provinces recently annexed by Austria, which President Roosevelt has been asked to do by a mass meeting of Servians in San Francisco.

The President referred the request to the State Department, which will send a formal reply, indicating the attitude of the United States.

DENIES BREAKING OF NEGOTIATIONS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BUDAPEST, Oct. 22.—In an address today to the Foreign Affairs Committee of the Austro-Hungarian Diet, Baron Von Aehrenthal, the Foreign Minister, denied that the negotiations between Austria-Hungary and Turkey relative to the provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina and the Sanjak of Novipazar have been broken off, as reported in some newspapers.

The Baron's speech generally was hopeful. He said that Austria-Hungary in principle had no objection to an international congress, provided the programme was prearranged and in accordance with Austria-Hungary's views. He said he believed the present agitation in Servia would soon die out.

CHANGES AT VATICAN.

ROME, Oct. 12.—The Osservatore Romano, the vatican organ, publishes the appointments of the new officials of the Rome congregation, as reorganized by the Pope last June. The consistorial congregation, which replaces the congregation of the propaganda in the nomination of American bishops, and which is presided over by the Pope, will have as its secretary Cardinal De Lai.

The Rota Roma tribunal is composed of ten members, including M. Prior, rector of Boda College, for Anglo-American affa[illegible]

EARLY WINTER MOVES STOCK.

Bisbee Takes Care of Fire Victims Nobly.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX, Oct. 21.—Winter has begun already in Northern Arizona, the earliest ever known. At Flagstaff and Williams, two days ago there was a snowstorm that covered the ground to the depth of two feet. Trains were delayed. Saw mills will have to be shut down and the stock interests have been caught in bad plight. Cattlemen are now sending their horses south to the Salt River Valley for pasturage, and sheep men will start their annual pilgrimage toward the same point much earlier than ever before. The snowfall was general all over the higher parts of the Territory, every mountain range now being white-capped. The temperature has fallen throughout the south, following a cold but welcome rainstorm.

Thomas Clark, the gambler shot last night in this city by Richard Fletcher, is still alive at the Sisters' Hospital, though slight hopes are entertained for his recovery. Fletcher, widely known on the Coast as "Pompadour Dick," will be arraigned when Clark's condition more accurately indicates the gravity of the charge. There seems little doubt, however, that his plea of self-defense will be sustained, as Clark had been threatening his life and had secured a rifle with deadly intent. The fact that Clark failed to load the weapon apparently was not appreciated by either party. Clark and Fletcher had been the closest of friends and the former had been notable for good nature and kindliness when sober. Fletcher, though a saloon man, never drinks. In an ante-mortem statement this afternoon Clark said:

"I have no one to blame but myself. I got what was coming to me."

BISBEE REFUSES AID.

Bisbee has refused all offers of assistance after her late half million dollar fire and is taking care of the destitute herself. Offers of aid were telegraphed from most of the towns of Arizona and the neighboring city of Douglas made especial preparations to help. But a committee of Bisbee residents has done all that was necessary with funds and supplies locally furnished. Much of the actual work of relief was done by the Salvation Army. One Bisbee butcher offered free meat for a week to all fire sufferers, a bakery donated 500 loaves of bread, landlords gave thirty days' rental free on new quarters, while cash poured in to the amount of thousands of dollars, the subscription being headed by $500 from the Copper Queen Company. Weldon W. Whalen, P. H. Griffith and P. H. Howard, insurance adjusters from Los Angeles, are in Bisbee and will rush settlement of claims. The insurance is larger than had been expected and will approximate $200,000. It is understood that a question has arisen concerning the liability of companies for the loss of buildings dynamited before the flames reached them.

The loss of the Arizona Gypsum Company through the rerent destruction by fire of its plant at Douglas has been set at $35,000. In the same town fire destroyed the car shops of the Copper Queen smelter. The structure was a light one and the damage was not material.

Two thousand dollars damage was done in Globe by the burning of a residence owned by Louis Trajanovich. At Ash Fork the pumphouse of the Santa Fé Railroad was burned.

In Prescott, a traup who chose the boiler room of a laundry as a sleeping apartment and who built up the fire to keep himself warm, had a narrow escape from death, as the boiler had but a few inches of water and an explosion was narrowly averted by the timely appearance of Manager Harry Heap. The tramp escaped.

ENGINEERS ON SURVEY.

A party of engineers is working west from Phoenix, at the crossing of the Agua Fria River, apparently on the projected extension of the Southern Pacific from this city to Yuma. Col. Epes Randolph has stated that this line would be built just as soon as funds for its construction could be raised in the East. There appears no indication of activity, however, on the connection of the Southern Pacific line between Winkelman and San Carlos or on the Santa Fé line that is to be built from Parker westward to Bengal on the main line.

The lowest part of the Roosevelt dam now is sixty feet above low-water mark and construction is being advanced much faster than ever before. It is expected that the structure will be 100 feet in height before the winter floods come, thus assuring the storage of a material quantity of water against next summer's needs.

Among the plans of the new beet sugar company at Glendale is the colonization of a large number of German farmers, as well as the employment of several hundred Japanese laborers, brought from California to cultivate the beet crop. It is probable that much of the company's land will be leased to a Japanese contracting firm.

The Postmasters' Association of Arizona will have its second annual meeting in Phoenix, November 11. It will be addressed by Special Inspector H. G. Durand of Denver, who will speak especially on postal savings banks and the extension of the parcels service.

Tempe is excited over the organization of a "social club," and its City Council threatens to reopen the saloons on Sunday, as one way for checkmating the proposed monopoly for the sale of liquor on the Sabbath.

GOODS ROADS FOR AUTOS.

In consideration of the proposed automobile race from Los Angeles to Phoenix during fair week, much mention has been made of the terrors of desert travel in Arizona. Local motorists desire it understood that, if the journey be by way of Ehrenburg, the roads within Arizona will be found in fair shape, at least, and very good for most of the distance from the Colorado River to Phoenix. The sand is almost wholly on the California side. There need be no fear of sandstorms, as well. The late rains have eliminated even dust on the highways to be traversed.

As no new buildings can be erected this year, the Fair Association is erecting a number of large tents to house exhibits that cannot find room in the main buildings.

W. N. Tiffany has resigned as reporter in the local court and has associated himself with the Los Angeles reporting firm of Langley, Keith & Bagley. He has been succeeded by J. S. Jenckes, latterly deputy court clerk. Mrs. Tiffany, who will accompany her husband to the Coast, is gifted with a soprano voice of rare quality and already has been engaged as a member of the choir of the First Presbyterian Church at Pasadena.

SLOPE BRIEFS.

Prejudice Charged to Grand Jury.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—When the case of Frank J. Murphy and A. S. Newburgh, two of Abraham Ruef's attorneys, accused of attempting to bribe J. M. Kelly, a prospective juror, was called in Judge Murasky's court today a motion to set aside the indictment on the ground of prejudice on the part of the grand jurors, was made on behalf of the accused. Argument on the motion will be heard next Monday, until which time the trial was postponed.

Fire at Red Bluff.

RED BLUFF, Oct. 22.—The Red Bluff machine shops and foundry were completely destroyed by fire today. Loss about $10,000.

Saving City Hall Ruins.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—Opposition has developed to the razing of San Francisco's picturesque ruin of the City Hall. Frank J. Sullivan, through Harry T. Creswell, has filed an application for an injunction forbidding the Supervisors to expend any money for this purpose after the bids have been opened. The complainant questions the right of the Mayor and Supervisors to take such action. Sullivan objects on the ground of expense for the taxpayers, alleging that the structure can be rebuilt.

Runaway Cold and Hungry.

SAN JOSE, Oct. 22.—Harold Ball, 13 years old, who ran away from his home near Oakland two weeks ago, was found cold and hungry under a bridge over the Coyote Creek in this city yesterday, and he will be returned to his home this afternoon.

Quarantine Lifted.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—By direction of the surgeon-general of the Marine Hospital Service, the quarantine that has been maintained in all ports against vessels leaving San Francisco harbor has been completely removed and today the ocean-going craft will be able for the first time in fourteen months to come and go without use of rat guards, dock fenders and periodical fumigations.

Looking for Van Dyck Picture.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—In the hope of locating in this city an original painting by Van Dyck, stolen last August from the art gallery of Count von Harrach in Vienna, the Viennese police are communicating with the police of this and other coast cities, who are advised the painting, entitled, "Head of a Child," has been traced to this coast and that a reward of 1000 crowns is offered for its recovery.

Italian Stabbed to Death.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—Anton Torterollo, who is said to have been deported from Italy for murder and who was more recently a resident of Nevada, was stabbed to death by an unknown assailant just outside a saloon in the Italian quarter last night. The dead man is said to have had a quarrel with a stranger in the afternoon, and last night he left the place to renew the battle outside. A moment later he staggered into the place with a dozen wounds that quickly caused his death.

MORSE JUROR SICK.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Sudden illness of one of the jurors today resulted in a temporary halt in the trial of Charles W. Morse and A. H. Curtis. The jurors have been held under close guard.

The sick man, Gordon Wendall, was transferred from the hotel to his home, but a constant surveillance will be maintained over him.

LAND FRAUD SUIT.

SOLD CLAIM BEFORE GETTING HIS PATENT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PORTLAND, Oct. 22.—Scott T. Sheldon, one of the directors of the Pacific Furniture and Lumber Company, was the principal witness heard today in the so-called Los Angeles land fraud case, before Judge Wolverton, in the Federal Court.

Sheldon was one of the stockholders in the concern and also took up and sold to the company one of the timber claims which the government alleges were obtained by fraudulent means. Sheldon's recollection on many vital points of the case and his transactions with the company were poor.

The witness told of selling his claim to the company and tearing up the deed that he had given the company when he learned, upon consulting a Los Angeles attorney, that he was liable to get into trouble with the government, because he had given a deed to his claim before he had received a patent. Sheldon later testified that he made another deed and this was turned over to the Broadway Bank and Trust Company of Los Angeles as security for loans obtained by the company.

During the course of giving his testimony, Attorney Becker pressed the witness hard and he was forced into testifying to many details that he had either forgotten about or was not inclined to tell about.

Once, after a rather sharp interrogation, Mr. Becker started to take the witness to task, when he was interrupted by Judge Wolverton.

On cross-examination, Attorney McLemore brought out the admission that when the Pacific Furniture and Lumber Company was formed it was not with the intention of defrauding the government out of timber land by false entries.

After the conclusion of Sheldon's testimony, the introduction of a large number of letters followed.

They began a line of questions to show that three years ago Mrs. Martin had taken the youth to Dr. Austin Flint, the noted alienist in New York, to be examined as to his mental responsibility and was told that evil traits in the boy could only be cured by an operation.

"Baby John" admitted on the stand the facts of the examination but insisted that he had answered yes to all the alienist's questions under threats made by Mrs. Martin that she would do him bodily harm if he did not.

The other line of cross-examination this morning was regarding the youth's testimony before the grand jury and at the preliminary examination in the case. With but few exceptions "Baby John" withstood the ordeal.

The alleged degeneracy of "Baby John" will be one of the main stays in the defense of the case.

AUTO FOR ELECTION BONFIRE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SANTA ROSA, Oct. 22.—Provoked by the misfortune that has attended his every effort to operate a red touring car, obtained against his will, J. Luppold, a business man of this city, has determined to rid himself of the hoodoo automobile by the baptism of fire, and to that end has obtained the permission of the Council for a bonfire to be held in the street on election night.

Luppold obtained a car on attachment proceedings and seems to have encountered more than his share of the ill-luck that attends amateur chauffeurs.

As a means of ending his troubles, and at the same time indulging in celebration of the election of his chosen candidate, he has invited his friends to witness the burning of the machine.

WIFE-SLAYER CONFESSES.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SALEM, Oct. 22.—C. Y. Timmons, who yesterday killed his wife by cutting her throat and who is in a precarious condition owing to terrible injuries to his own throat which were at first believed to have been self inflicted, today subscribed to a confession to the murder of his own wife but declared he did not know who cut this throat. Timmons says he awoke from a sleep to find his throat had been cut. He saw a razor in his wife's hand, took it from her and cut her throat. He says a man named "Bob," but whose surname he does not know, had come between him and his wife and had furnished her with money to secure a divorce.

BEACHED SCHOONERS SAVED.

LITTLE DAMAGE DONE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WEDDERBURN, Oct. 22.—The gasoline schooner Enterprise which yesterday was reported a wreck on the bar, was merely beached and will be pulled off late today or tomorrow. She is not damaged badly.

The Osprey was floated yesterday. She is not damaged. The Osprey was towing the Enterprise at the time of the accident. The engines of the Enterprise having become disabled, the tow line parted, and the Enterprise was swept upon the beach. The line caught in the Osprey's wheel and she, too, was driven ashore.

BAD MAN KILLS ANOTHER.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) Oct. 22.—Frank Spence, notorious for several killing affairs, shot and killed Edgar Sullivan in a hut on a small ranch six miles from this city about noon today. Spence, who came to Prescott and surrendered to the Sheriff, asserts Sullivan attacked him with a butcher knife and he shot in self defense. Evidence deducted from a visit to the scene of the tragedy leads the District Attorney and Coroner to believe Spence shot Sullivan from behind as the victim was eating his noonday meal.

BRANDENBURG ARRESTED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DAYTON (Ohio) Oct. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Earl Broughton Brandenburg, the alleged author of the Cleveland letter, in which the ex-President was made to favor the election of Taft in preference to Bryan, was arrested tonight by a detective from New York City on charges of forgery and grand larceny.

Brandenburg said he anticipated an indictment and credits the charges to connection with the publication of the Cleveland article. He says he is guiltless of any crime and expects to be able to vindicate himself. He expresses astonishment and inability to understand the reported conduct of Mrs. Cleveland and Mr. Hastings in repudiating the article, "inasmuch as both knew," he says, "of the genuineness of the article and the ex-President's signature."

The Governor of Shan Tung, who is at Tsing Tau, on a state visit, has been entertained at a banquet, the speeches being rather cool in tone, though expressing a desire for mutual assistance in the promotion of commercial projects. The Governor said he did only his duty in suppressing the anti-German movement. The situation in the province, however, is unchanged. Foreigners have been stoned at Chinanfu and the boycott of the Hamburg American steamship line continues.

DISSATISFIED.

ANIMOSITY TOWARD AUSTRIA IS STILL STRONG IN BELGRADE.

Serbs Plan to Send Armed Bands Into Bosnia to Incite Countrymen to Insurrection and Gain More Through Intervention Than by Conference.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BELGRADE, Oct. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Servian animosity toward Austria shows no sign of diminishing. On the contrary, while the feeling in the rest of Europe is that things are growing better, Belgrade still remains dissatisfied and the situation threatens to develop into open hostilities.

Plans are maturing to send armed bands into Bosnia to incite their fellow-Servians to insurrection, thereby provoking war. In such case the Servians hope that through the intervention of Great Britain or some other power they will gain more than by waiting passively for a conference.

PRINCESSES LEAD IN WAR DEMONSTRATION.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CETTINJE, Oct. 22.—A remarkable exposition of the depth to which the war fever has penetrated the Montenegrin people as a result of the annexation of the provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina by Austria-Hungary was witnessed in Cettinje today when the women of the capital united in a great street demonstration.

They were headed by Princesses Zenia and Perova, daughters of Prince Nicholas, who marched the streets carrying Montenegrin flags. They were followed by a great throng of women of all classes who chanted war songs, stopping from time to time to plead with the men who followed in their wake to defend the sacred rites of the nation. The two Princesses subsequently formed a committee for the enrollment of red cross nurses.

BULGARIAN ENVOYS FAIL IN TURKEY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LONDON, Oct. 22.—The Sofia correspondent of the Mail states that the Bulgarian envoys to Constantinople are returning to Sofia, their mission having failed. The government, however, is still hopeful of reaching an agreement with Turkey.

HITCH IN NEGOTIATIONS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 22.—There was a hitch in the negotiations between the Turkish government and the Bulgarian envoys owing to Turkey's insisting upon the capitalization of the Roumelian tribute to which Bulgaria declines to accede.

AUSTRIA BARS MUNITIONS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

VIENNA, Oct. 22.—The Austro-Hungarian government today published the order announced yesterday prohibiting either the export or transmission through Austro-Hungarian territory of any war material of any kind to Servia or Montenegro.

UNITED STATES CAN'T ACT IN BALKAN AFFAIR.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Not being signatory to the Berlin Treaty of 1871, the United States is not in a position to intercede with Austria in behalf of Bosnia and Herzegovina, the provinces recently annexed by Austria, which President Roosevelt has been asked to do by a mass meeting of Servians in San Francisco.

The President referred the request to the State Department, which will send a formal reply, indicating the attitude of the United States.

DENIES BREAKING OF NEGOTIATIONS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BUDAPEST, Oct. 22.—In an address today to the Foreign Affairs Committee of the Austro-Hungarian Diet, Baron Von Aehrenthal, the Foreign Minister, denied that the negotiations between Austria-Hungary and Turkey relative to the provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina and the Sanjak of Novipazar have been broken off, as reported in some newspapers.

The Baron's speech generally was hopeful. He said that Austria-Hungary in principle had no objection to an international congress, provided the programme was prearranged and in accordance with Austria-Hungary's views. He said he believed the present agitation in Servia would soon die out.

CHANGES AT VATICAN.

ROME, Oct. 12.—The Osservatore Romano, the vatican organ, publishes the appointments of the new officials of the Rome congregation, as reorganized by the Pope last June. The consistorial congregation, which replaces the congregation of the propaganda in the nomination of American bishops, and which is presided over by the Pope, will have as its secretary Cardinal De Lai.

The Rota Roma tribunal is composed of ten members, including M. Prior, rector of Beda College, for Anglo-American affa...

EARLY WINTER MOVES STOCK.

Bisbee Takes Care of Fire Victims Nobly.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX, Oct. 21.—Winter has begun already in Northern Arizona, the earliest ever known. At Flagstaff and Williams, two days ago there was a snowstorm that covered the ground to the depth of two feet. Trains were delayed. Saw mills will have to be shut down and the stock interests have been caught in bad plight. Cattlemen are now sending their horses south to the Salt River Valley for pasturage, and sheep men will start their annual pilgrimage toward the same point much earlier than ever before. The snowfall was general all over the higher parts of the Territory, every mountain range now being white-capped. The temperature has fallen throughout the south, following a cold but welcome rainstorm.

Thomas Clark, the gambler shot last night in this city by Richard Fletcher, is still alive at the Sisters' Hospital, though slight hopes are entertained for his recovery. Fletcher, widely known on the Coast as "Pompadour Dick," will be arraigned when Clark's condition more accurately indicates the gravity of the charge. There seems little doubt, however, that his plea of self-defense will be sustained, as Clark had been threatening his life and had secured a rifle with deadly intent. The fact that Clark failed to load the weapon apparently was not appreciated by either party. Clark and Fletcher had been the closest of friends and the former had been notable for good nature and kindliness when sober. Fletcher, though a saloon man, never drinks. In an ante-mortem statement this afternoon Clark said:

"I have no one to blame but myself. I got what was coming to me."

BISBEE REFUSES AID.

Bisbee has refused all offers of assistance after her late half million dollar fire and is taking care of the destitute herself. Offers of aid were telegraphed from most of the towns of Arizona and the neighboring city of Douglas made especial preparations to help. But a committee of Bisbee residents has done all that was necessary with funds and supplies locally furnished. Much of the actual work of relief was done by the Salvation Army. One Bisbee butcher offered free meat for a week to all fire sufferers, a bakery donated 500 loaves of bread, landlords gave thirty days' rental free on new quarters, while cash poured in to the amount of thousands of dollars, the subscription being headed by $500 from the Copper Queen Company. Weldon W. Whalen, P. H. Griffith and P. H. Howard, insurance adjusters from Los Angeles, are in Bisbee and will rush settlement of claims. The insurance is larger than had been expected and will approximate $200,000. It is understood that a question has arisen concerning the liability of companies for the loss of buildings dynamited before the flames reached them.

The loss of the Arizona Gypsum Company through the rerent destruction by fire of its plant at Douglas has been set at $35,000. In the same town fire destroyed the car shops of the Copper Queen smelter. The structure was a light one and the damage was not material.

Two thousand dollars damage was done in Globe by the burning of a residence owned by Louis Trajanovich. At Ash Fork the pumphouse of the Santa Fé Railroad was burned.

In Prescott, a traup who chose the boiler room of a laundry as a sleeping apartment and who built up the fire to keep himself warm, had a narrow escape from death, as the boiler had but a few inches of water and an explosion was narrowly averted by the timely appearance of Manager Harry Heap. The tramp escaped.

ENGINEERS ON SURVEY.

A party of engineers is working west from Phoenix, at the crossing of the Agua Fria River, apparently on the projected extension of the Southern Pacific from this city to Yuma. Col. Epes Randolph has stated that this line would be built just as soon as funds for its construction could be raised in the East. There appears no indication of activity, however, on the connection of the Southern Pacific line between Winkelman and San Carlos or on the Santa Fé line that is to be built from Parker westward to Bengal on the main line.

The lowest part of the Roosevelt dam now is sixty feet above low-water mark and construction is being advanced much faster than ever before. It is expected that the structure will be 100 feet in height before the winter floods come, thus assuring the storage of a material quantity of water against next summer's needs.

Among the plans of the new beet sugar company at Glendale is the colonization of a large number of German farmers, as well as the employment of several hundred Japanese laborers, brought from California to cultivate the beet crop. It is probable that much of the company's land will be leased to a Japanese contracting firm.

The Postmasters' Association of Arizona will have its second annual meeting in Phoenix, November 11. It will be addressed by Special Inspector H. G. Durand of Denver, who will speak especially on postal savings banks and the extension of the parcels service.

Tempe is excited over the organization of a "social club," and its City Council threatens to reopen the saloons on Sunday, as one way for checkmating the proposed monopoly for the sale of liquor on the Sabbath.

GOODS ROADS FOR AUTOS.

In consideration of the proposed automobile race from Los Angeles to Phoenix during fair week, much mention has been made of the terrors of desert travel in Arizona. Local motorists desire it understood that, if the journey be by way of Ehrenburg, the roads within Arizona will be found in fair shape, at least, and very good for most of the distance from the Colorado River to Phoenix. The sand is almost wholly on the California side. There need be no fear of sandstorms, as well. The late rains have eliminated even dust on the highways to be traversed.

As no new buildings can be erected this year, the Fair Association is erecting a number of large tents to house exhibits that cannot find room in the main buildings.

W. N. Tiffany has resigned as reporter in the local court and has associated himself with the Los Angeles reporting firm of Langley, Keith & Bagley. He has been succeeded by J. S. Jenckes, latterly deputy court clerk. Mrs. Tiffany, who will accompany her husband to the Coast, is gifted with a soprano voice of rare quality and already has been engaged as a member of the choir of the First Presbyterian Church at Pasadena.

SLOPE BRIEFS.

Prejudice Charged to Grand Jury.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—When the case of Frank J. Murphy and A. S. Newburgh, two of Abraham Ruef's attorneys, accused of attempting to bribe J. M. Kelly, a prospective juror, was called in Judge Murasky's court today a motion to set aside the indictment on the ground of prejudice on the part of the grand jurors, was made on behalf of the accused. Argument on the motion will be heard next Monday, until which time the trial was postponed.

Fire at Red Bluff.

RED BLUFF, Oct. 22.—The Red Bluff machine shops and foundry were completely destroyed by fire today. Loss about $10,000.

Saving City Hall Ruins.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—Opposition has developed to the razing of San Francisco's picturesque ruin of the City Hall. Frank J. Sullivan, through Harry T. Creswell, has filed an application for an injunction forbidding the Supervisors to expend any money for this purpose after the bids have been opened. The complainant questions the right of the Mayor and Supervisors to take such action. Sullivan objects on the ground of expense for the taxpayers, alleging that the structure can be rebuilt.

Runaway Cold and Hungry.

SAN JOSE, Oct. 22.—Harold Ball, 13 years old, who ran away from his home near Oakland two weeks ago, was found cold and hungry under a bridge over the Coyote Creek in this city yesterday, and he will be returned to his home this afternoon.

Quarantine Lifted.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—By direction of the surgeon-general of the Marine Hospital Service, the quarantine that has been maintained in all ports against vessels leaving San Francisco harbor has been completely removed and today the ocean-going craft will be able for the first time in fourteen months to come and go without use of rat guards, dock fenders and periodical fumigations.

Looking for Van Dyck Picture.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—In the hope of locating in this city an original painting by Van Dyck, stolen last August from the art gallery of Count von Harrach in Vienna, the Viennese police are communicating with the police of this and other coast cities, who are advised the painting, entitled, "Head of a Child," has been traced to this coast and that a reward of 1000 crowns is offered for its recovery.

Italian Stabbed to Death.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—Anton Torterollo, who is said to have been deported from Italy for murder and who was more recently a resident of Nevada, was stabbed to death by an unknown assailant just outside a saloon in the Italian quarter last night. The dead man is said to have had a quarrel with a stranger in the afternoon, and last night he left the place to renew the battle outside. A moment later he staggered into the place with a dozen wounds that quickly caused his death.

MORSE JUROR SICK.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Sudden illness of one of the jurors today resulted in a temporary halt in the trial of Charles W. Morse and A. H. Curtis. The jurors have been held under close guard.

The sick man, Gordon Wendall, was transferred from the hotel to his home, but a constant surveillance will be maintained over him.

Bryan Gets Morning, Taft Afternoon.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Chairman Hitchcock of the Republican National Committee postponed at the last moment today his departure for Chicago until tomorrow afternoon. He was detained most of the day at his hotel, where he saw a number of visitors, among them Charles P. Taft of Ohio.

Having discovered today that the schedules prepared would bring Mr. Taft and Mr. Bryan together at Port Chester, N. Y., next Monday, the Republican and Democratic National Committees, through their publicity bureaus, rearranged their dates, with the result that Mr. Bryan will speak at that place on the morning of Monday, and Mr. Taft will make his address there a 3 o'clock the same afternoon.

Chairman Hitchcock of the Republican County Committee gave out the following arrangements for the Taft and Hughes meetings, October 28:

Noon meeting: West street, at "The Farm" near the Cunard Steamship Company's pier; Lafayette Place, 27 Union Square, 743 Broadway. Both candidates will appear at these meetings, but probably not speak.

In the evening Mr. Taft leaves the Union League Club at 7 o'clock and will make a hurried dash in an automobile through the principal streets of the East Side. He will speak at the Thalia Theater, at Camp Hughes and at Camp Taft. He will then review the parade of the clubs on Fifth avenue, after which he will go to Madison Square Garden, where he will speak, following Gov. Hughes.

BRYAN INVADES WEST VIRGINIA.

WORRIED DEMOCRAT TRIES TO OFFSET TAFT'S TRIUMPH.

"Peerless One" Solemnly Warns Workmen not to Be Coerced Into Voting Against Their Will—Attempts Defense of Gompers—Fails in Effort to Answer President.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

HINTON (W. Va.) Oct. 22.—Enthusiastically received everywhere, William J. Bryan today carried his warfare into West Virginia. The line of travel took him through the Kanawha, and New River valleys, and he was afforded an opportunity to speak to many farmers and miners.

Having but four and a half hours' rest following his campaign in Ohio yesterday, he was out on the platform as early as 7 o'clock talking to farmers.

Passing on into the coal district he devoted much attention to the labor question, and while not especially referring to Mr. Roosevelt's letter entered a defense of Gompers. He repeated his warning to laboring men not to be coerced by their employers into voting against their will.

The most notable demonstration accorded him was at Charleston. He was escorted through the streets by a number of uniformed marching clubs headed by bands, while almost every building was decorated with flags and bunting.

At Thurmond, he got a rousing reception. A picturesque feature of the stop here was the erection of a grand stand up the side of a mountain, having a background of an immense banner with a portrait of the candidate over which were the words, "Shall the People Rule?"

He spoke of the fact that in most of the mining or industrial centers where he had spoken, he had noticed women standing along the street, waving their aprons.

"I am of opinion," he said, "that if I do not go in on a tidal wave this time, I surely shall go in on an apron wave."

Early this morning Mr. Bryan was handed a copy of a newspaper containing President Roosevelt's criticism of himself and Sam Gompers concerning their position with reference to the labor question. Shortly afterward he began the preparation of a reply, but his time was taken up during the day, and he found it impossible to complete it.

Mr. Bryan left here for New York at 10:35 o'clock over the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad in his special car, attached to the regular train.

VICE-PRESIDENT BROWN OF N. Y. CENTRAL QUOTED.

Believing Ohioan's Success Is Supreme Necessity If Country Is to Go Forward, Eastern Lines Are Coming to Aid of Candidate. Bryan's Election Menace.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Believing that the election of William H. Taft is a supreme necessity if the country is to go forward, eastern railroads are coming to his aid.

W. C. Brown, senior vice-president of the New York Central lines, arrived in Chicago today to take an active part in the campaign and to assure the people here that the railroads desire the election of Mr. Taft. Saturday night, Mr. Brown will make a speech in favor of Mr. Taft's election and will urge the railway employés to vote for him. The address will be given before a gathering of railway conductors who are members of the union. Mr. Brown will take for his subject "Government ownership of transportation facilities," and will answer several statements which have been made on this subject by Bryan.

Asked how he expected to treat the subject of government ownership, Mr. Brown replied: "I do not care to say but it is a subject upon which a good deal of thought is being expended just now. It is a live subject and a good deal has been said about it in this campaign. I want to see Mr. Taft elected, and so do the railroads generally, I believe, because they are of the opinion that his election would be the best thing for business.

"I am of the opinion that if Mr. Taft is elected the business of the country will pick up immediately and the railroads may then have a sufficient amount of business to obviate the necessity of increasing freight rates.

"Yes, the eastern roads are ready to increase rates if they find it is necessary after the election. The work of checking in the purposed increases has all been completed and the tariffs will be ready to file after election. We are hoping, however, that it will not prove necessary to increase rates and personally I am of the opinion that Mr. Taft's election might do away with this necessity."

TAFT'S NEW YORK TRIP.

WEEK'S ITINERARY ARRANGED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] This is the itinerary of Mr. Taft's busy week in New York, beginning next Monday, as announced by the Republican State Committee today:

Monday—Will speak in Brooklyn at meetings arranged by Kings county organization.

Tuesday—Will speak at Yonkers, Peekskill, Fishkill Landing, Poughkeepsie, Hudson, Schenectady, Cohoes and Troy.

Wednesday—Mr. Taft will be in New York City. An itinerary is being arranged by the New York county organization. This includes the big meeting in Madison Square Garden.

Thursday—Will speak at Lyons, Canandaiga, Geneva, Seneca Falls, Auburn and Syracuse.

Friday—Will speak at Oneida, Rome, Utica, Batavia and Buffalo.

Saturday ends the campaign in New York State. Will speak at Elmira, Oswego, Binghamton, Cortland, Ithaca and Rochester. He will then leave for his home in Cincinnati.

HALL IS TOO SMALL.

STRAUS, PIQUED, CUTS OUT CHICAGO SPEECH.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Oscar S. Straus, Secretary of Commerce and Labor, came to Chicago today to deliver a long and assiduously heralded campaign speech that was intended to bring into line for the Republican ticket any wavering foreign-born voters in these parts.

He went away precipitately without delivering the speech and therein lies a pathetic tale of injured pride and damaged vocal chords. Mr. Straus came from St. Louis where he spoke to 6000 people and when he arrived in Chicago it was in full expectation of facing as large an audience if not a larger one.

"Where am I to speak tonight?" casually inquired the Secretary when he reached national Republican headquarters.

"In Boulevard Hall," he was informed.

"Ah, yes, quite so," observed Mr. Straus. "Yes, good. Your coliseum is a bit too small for a Republican rally, is it not?"

Then somebody was thrust forward to break it gently, oh, so gently, to Mr. Straus, that Boulevard Hall had been known on occasion to hold as many as 650 persons before the police cleared the aisles and stairways.

The gentle dispenser of bad news was about to ease it along that Boulevard Hall is located on the southeast corner of Garfield boulevard and Halsted street, only forty-five minutes from the loop, when Mr. Straus was seized with a coughing attack.

"It's just as well," said the Secretary. "My voice is in pretty bad shape and I have been ordered to rest it a day before appearing in Louisville tomorrow night. I think I will be compelled to abide by the advice, much as I would enjoy addressing the people in the neighborhood of Boulevard Hall."

Then he hurried for a train bound for Kentucky where the halls are larger.

MONEY FOR BRYAN.

DAY'S GIFTS $ 0,000.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—Yesterday's contributions to the Democratic campaign fund made public today, aggregating $10,934, were headed by one of $4000 from Senator R. F. Pettigrew, of South Dakota.

Senator W. A. Clark, of Montana, and Tom L. Johnson, of Ohio, are credited with $1000 each. Five hundred dollar contributions came from Ben T. Cable, Ills.; W. W. Marsh, Iowa, and W. J. Bryan (Commoner.)

Twenty-two one hundred dollar contributions were made. Thomas Fox and J. Harvey McCarthy of California, each gave $100.

HOT TALK BY TAFT.

there equity says a man may have prevention rather than cure. Then he may go to court and say, 'this man is going to cut down my tree.' That tree won't grow in twenty years. It belongs to me; it is on my place and he is my tenant. He is going to injure it by wasting that tree.' He goes into court and asks the judge to issue an injunction to prevent the cutting down of the tree. Is prevention better than cure in such a case? Why then should a judge refuse to issue the injunction? That kind of remedy has been in force for 400 years and is the most remedial writ that we have. It arose to protect poor men, not to oppress them.

ORIGIN OF THE WRIT.

"For instance, the way it arose was this: A man borrowed $500 on his farm. He gave a mortgage which in form was an absolute conveyance, subject to being made void by the payment of $500, but the farm was worth $10,000. He failed to pay the $500 on the dot and in law they brought a suit in ejectment and they put the man off the $10,000 farm for $500. He went to the King in the old days and he said, 'this is a fine kind of justice that you are giving me. You allow this man to take my $10,000 farm for $500.'

"The King said to his lordkeep, who subsequently became the Lord Chancellor, 'Here, you take over this case and see whether it is justice.'

"The lordkeep was then an ecclesiast and he sent for the officer who had enforced that order, or was about to, and he said: 'This is unconstitutional; I am not going to permit you to do it. I enjoin you from prosecution in a suit.'

"That is the way the injunction came on. The Lord Chancellor said: 'I am going to enjoin you and you have got to come into court. I am going to create, and I will enjoin you until you see that the farm should be sold, that $500 shall be applied on the debt with interest, and that $9500 shall go to this man who owns the farm.'

TO PROTECT POOR.

"That is the way the injunction grew up. It grew up to protect the poor against injuries for which they could not have adequate remedy at law. It is a remedy that should be enforced against anyone who does a lawless act who cannot have adequate remedy at law, and to have it abolished merely because it has sometimes been abused and sometimes issued against laboring men, is to destroy the character of your courts, is to destroy the science of the law, and to enact class legislation, that, when you think of it, you will utterly disapprove. I am not here to apologize for what I have done in court; I am here to say that no decision of mine on such a subject has ever been reversed, and if I had not decided as I did, and if I had not enforced my injunctions when I issued them, I should not have the right to come here and stand before you and ask you to vote for me as a Presidential candidate."

Because Candidate Debs had arranged two months ago for a meeting in Evansville tonight and had rented the largest hall in the city, the parade and meetings of Judge Taft had competition.

HOT AFTER BRYAN.

Judge Taft's principal effort was made at the Grand Theater, where he addressed a meeting for men only. Previously to this he spoke to a large crowd from the steps of the State National Bank; following the meeting at the Grand, he addressed an audience which filled the People's Theater.

The principal speech of the candidate was confined to the subject of labor.

Eugene V. Debs delayed his lecture here tonight that he might attend the Taft meeting in the Grand Theater. The audience which the Socialist candidate had in Evansville Hall was entertained meanwhile by other speakers.

At Lawrenceburg, Mr. Taft had this to say of Mr. Bryan at his first stop:

"Mr. Bryan is a bit sensitive because the Republicans are prophesying, not only Republicans, but Democrats, too, in a business way, that if he is elected, it will retard business and that if the Republican ticket is elected it will improve business. He says that is offering bribery to workingmen. It is not offering bribery. It is merely stating a fact and it is a fact that workingmen ought to know as well as business men. Mr. Bryan's election would be a menace to prosperity. We may not, if he is elected, expect that business will be resumed with that flow and that current of prosperity which we have had for the past eleven years."

TO THE FARMERS.

At Aurora, Mr. Taft repeated his answer to Mr. Bryan's charge that it is bribery on the part of the Republican orators to tell workingmen that if Bryan is elected times will not be so good.

"So Long as I have lungs and a throat," declared Mr. Taft, "I propose to make that argument. It is legitimate argument, because it is a fact, and the laboring men have a right to have the truth told them."

Senator Hemenway assisted Judge Taft during the day, following the candidate in brief speeches. At Osgood, where his audience was composed mostly of farmers, Mr. Taft had this to say:

"If there is any farmer who can point out any reason why the present administration of Mr. Roosevelt for seven years and the previous administration of William McKinley for five years, ought to be changed, so far as the farming interests are concerned, I would like to have him do it.

"You cannot go back to beyond that time when the farming interests were prostrated, but during these two administrations under the Dingley Bill you had a market which kept farm prices up and also the agricultural department has been devoting its efforts to scientific agriculture and has been pointing the way how to make two blades of grass grow where one grew before. You can and you ought to feel toward the Republican administration a spirit of gratitude to continue its ministrations to the farmers of the country."

The crowds encountered were large and extremely cordial in their welcome to the candidate and applauded his utterances.

OFFICEHOLDERS TOO ACTIVE.

Civil Service Commission Suspends Two Carolinans and Discharges Californian.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—More punishment has been meted out as the result of charges of pernicious activity in the political campaign. The Civil Service Commission today announced that J. H. Fordham, a deputy collector of internal revenue at Orangeburg, S. C., had been reprimanded and suspended without pay for fifteen days, for active participation in the Republican State convention at Columbia.

Robert Stewart, temporary collector, was county chairman of the Executive Committee of Clarendon county, South Carolina, and has been reprimanded.

R. O. Pierce, an employé of the Mare Island navy yard, who announced his candidacy as supervisor in the First District, has been discharged.

Clyde Knock, a letter carrier at Independence, Kan., who became the candidate for the District Court clerkship, has resigned to avoid dismissal.

LEGISLATIVE CAMPAIGN.

FOR STANTON FOR SPEAKER.

Los Angeles Assemblyman Is Booked for Honor.

Republicans Will Carry All Nine County Districts.

Hearst and Labor Unions in Fight for Martin.

The Republicans of Los Angeles county are lining up for the last week of the campaign with an excellent prospect for electing nine Assemblymen and two Senators in addition to piling up a plurality of 20,000 votes for Taft.

Los Angeles has become to California what Pennsylvania is to the nation. That she will give the banner Republican majority for the national ticket is not questioned. Northern leaders who have toured the southern part of the State say that we shall go up to Tehachepi this fall with a clear plurality of at least 23,000.

The Democratic County Central Committee has practically given up the fight over the Presidential electors; their only hope for victory lies in making combinations with the Socialists and the Independence League and trying to scratch through in one or two little Assembly districts.

Reports from the field workers and the precinct managers all over the county show that these hopes are forlorn. Odds are offered that the Republicans will elect every legislative candidate in the county.

Zeal is added to the legislative campaign by the unofficial assurance from the northern leaders that if Los Angeles county will return a solid legislative delegation and will lead Bryan by 15,000 votes they will join in electing Phil A. Stanton Speaker of the Assembly.

This prize carries the assurance that all matters affecting Southern California will be well looked after. This session of the Legislature will be a critical one for Southern California. We are not yet clear of the woods, with the legislation necessary to enable the city to build quickly and economically the Los Angeles aqueduct. A solid Republican delegation from Los Angeles county will aid materially in the passage of such legislation.

With the perverseness of their party emblem the local Democrats have centered their opposition in the city upon Stanton's district. They appear to think that to keep Los Angeles from securing the speakership of the Assembly will be for them a glorious victory.

FUSION WITH HEARST.

The Democrats have joined the Independence League in the Seventy-first District, and are trying to elect G. C. Martin, an Independence Leaguer and Labor Union advocate. Martin owes his first allegiance to Hearst; his second to the Labor Union agitators, and last of all, to the Democrats. Martin and his sponsors have been circulating literature all over the district to the effect that Stanton is totally unfit as a legislator.

Stanton's friends have replied by producing an Archbold letter written by Martin. This letter was not stolen, neither is it likely to ever appear in the Hearst papers.

GOOD RECORD.

The charges circulated against Stanton and J. P. Transue, candidate from the Seventy-third District, appear to be answered pretty fully in the following communication from W. B. Mathews, chief counsel for the aqueduct, to Chairman Bradner W. Lee of the Republican County Central Committee:

City of Los Angeles, Department of Public Works. Los Angeles Aqueduct—Legal Department, Central Building, W. B. Mathews, Attorney; S. B. Robinson, Assistant.

LOS ANGELES (Cal.) Oct. 17, 1908.—Bradner W Lee, Chairman Republican County Central Committee—Dear Sir: It gives me great pleasure to testify to the fidelity and efficiency of P. A. Stanton and J. P. Transue in their service as members of the State Legislature.

I can speak with special emphasis from the fact that I attended the last session of the Legislature for a considerable time, for the purpose of having certain bills in which the city was interested enacted into law. I had the opportunity to observe the work of these gentlemen in legislative matters generally, and particularly in connection with measures in which Los Angeles was concerned. The city was greatly interested in having the statute, under which the Owens River bonds were to be issued, amended in certain particulars, as recommended by Dillon & Hubbard of New York, so as to enhance the attractiveness of these securities.

The city was also desirous of having a bill passed conferring upon municipalities the power to construct railroads, telephone and telegraph lines, and other works, to be used in connection with the construction of public improvements.

There was a great deal of opposition to both of these measures, particularly the latter. Messrs. Stanton and Transue gave them special attention, because the legislation was desired in furtherance of the aqueduct project, and both bills were enacted into law.

The railroad bill, so-called, undoubtedly would have been defeated had not these gentlemen, by their speeches and importunities among the members, overcome the exceedingly formidable opposition to its passage.

Messrs. Stanton and Transue also gave effective support to a bill introduced in behalf of the city, and which also passed, to give municipalities rights of way over State lands for the construction of public works.

The Council and Board of Public Works, on my report of the legislative work of Mr. Stanton and Mr. Transue, adopted resolutions expressing appreciation of their valuable services.

I know from personal observation that they have great skill, experience and influence in legislative work, and that they have been specially attentive to measures in which the city was interested.

It now appears that additional legislation will probably be needed in aid of the aqueduct project, and this fact serves to emphasize the importance of returning these gentlemen to the Legislature, as with their assistance, we may confidently expect to secure the adoption of such measures as shall be required. Very truly yours,

W. B. MATHEWS.

HEARST LITERATURE.

The aqueduct is not in politics, neither is W. B. Mathews. The facts set forth in this communication seem to establish pretty clearly that Stanton's services for Los Angeles during the last session of the Legislature should entitle him to reflection regardless of party affiliations.

The chief offense for which Stanton is indicted in the anti-Stanton literature is contained in the following extract from the Hearst campaign literature in the Seventy-first District:

ASSEMBLY BILL 967—BY STANTON.

Bill to permit the use by street-railway companies for carrying freight, proposed by Stanton.

"This is a sly bill calculated to lay the way for making the corrupt action of corporation boards, trustees and councils in granting unpopular franchises for inadequate considerations, permanent after once taken. It will be observed from reading the bill that it makes no provision for the regulation of rates. This bill was introduced in the interest of the railroad and not in the interest of the people."

ANSWERED.

The Democrats have used this argument and this bill against every Republican Assemblyman in the county who is a candidate for reelection. That it is a boomerang is shown in the following communication from City Attorney Leslie R. Hewitt which sets forth clearly how the bill originated and how Stanton came to present it.

OFFICE OF CITY ATTORNEY.

Los Angeles (Cal.) Feb. 20, 1907.

Hon. P. Stanton, Sacramento, Cal.—My Dear Stanton: At the request of the City Council I have prepared and send you herewith enclosed a proposed bill to authorize the transmission of freight by the holders of street railroad franchises under such terms and conditions as the City Council may prescribe. You are, of course, somewhat familiar with the controversy that has been going on here for a year or more with reference to the carrying of freight by the street car lines, and it is with a view of settling the controversy and putting the city in a position to regulate the carriage of freight and derive a revenue from it that the Council has caused this bill to be drawn. It has been submitted to attorneys for the street-car companies here and meets their approval.

It is agreed by all parties concerned that the Legislature is the only body that can give the necessary legal sanction to the freight-carrying privilege by street-car companies; and while they do not concede that the city has any right to interfere with them in the freight matter, they, nevertheless, are willing that this bill become a law and they will act under it.

You are at liberty to say that the City Council has approved the bill and requests its adoption. If it becomes a law, it will afford a legal means of settling a vexatious dispute between the companies and the city. You are requested to introduce it in the Assembly.

Yours very truly,

LESLIE R. HEWITT.

P. S.—I am sending a companion bill to be presented in the Senate by McCartney.

The bill was presented by Stanton just as it was received from City Attorney Hewitt, its author. It went to Stanton with the unanimous indorsement of the Council and with the approval of Mayor McAlcer. This is the bill which was introduced—"in the interest of the railroad and not in the interest of the people."

In place of exposing Stanton and the other Assemblymen, it appears to expose Mr. Martin's ignorance of city, county and State affairs and his assertive unfitness for a place in the State Assembly.

HOBSON COMING.

Apparently the Democrats are basing their hopes for success on an excursion party composed of Richard P. Hobson, James D. Phelan and Theodore Bell, which is to hit the rails on Monday and stop at all the way stations between Red Bluff and Los Angeles. They think that the combination of Phelan and Bell will so enthuse the populace that it will stand in line all night in order to vote when the polls open for the Democratic candidates.

The veteran Republican precinct managers say that as far as votes are concerned no one will ever know that this special left Southern California.

LEGISLATIVE SUMMARY.

In the Sixty-seventh Assembly District H. G. Cattell of Pasadena, the Republican nominee, appears to have little opposition. George P. Cary, his opponent, on paper, does not seem to have received notification yet of his nomination. It is only a question of Cattell's majority.

In F. Cogswell is the Republican candidate in the Sixty-eighth District. Cogswell is not able to pay much personal attention to his campaign as he had the misfortune to be drawn as a member of the grand jury. He devotes almost the whole of his time to investigating charges that emanated from the highly cultivated imagination of one Thomas Lee Woolwine. The Democrats have been attempting to create a diversion in their favor while Cogswell is outside the district, but they have made no headway. The only disaffection in the district appears to be in Pomona, and there it is not serious. Dr. J. S. Allison of Monrovia is Cogswell's opponent.

Harry Barndollar of Long Beach (Republican) appears to be the only real candidate in the Sixty-ninth District. He toured his district during the good roads campaign and is popular in every precinct. His opponents had tried to cause dissatisfaction in Long Beach over city and county consolidation, but they have not succeeded well. Frank Hilton of Alhambra was nominated by the Democrats to make the race against Barndollar. But in the district it is a current joke that Hilton isn't running for office; he is "standing" for it.

Walter Leeds (Rep.) appears to be having an easy time in the Seventieth District. The few Democrats in this district are devoting their attention chiefly to the Supervisoral campaign, and it looks like a victory for Leeds by more than a two-to-one majority. Little is known of Charles J. Cruller, his opponent, in the district.

G. C. Martin is making a strenuous but an unpopular campaign against P. A. Stanton, the Republican nominee in the Seventy-first District. Martin is the favorite of the walking delegates; he has distinguished himself chiefly by his misstatements on the platform.

J. N. O. Rech, the Republican nominee in the Seventy-second District, is a target for the mud-slinging of the walking delegates in his district. His opponent has turned his campaign over, practically, to the Hay-Fennessy outfit. Rech is a brilliant young attorney, with a clean record, and his campaign is not likely to be affected seriously by the filth scattered by the walking delegates.

J. P. Transue (Rep.) is one of the two candidates against whom the Democrats are most active. They think they have a chance in the Seventy-third District. B. F. Hard, the Democratic nominee, is popular in the Seventh Ward, but he has little strength west of Main street. During the last ten days the Republican workers have turned out strong for Transue, in order to insure a solid Republican delegation from this county. The reports of the precinct canvassers show that Transue's campaign is in first rate shape; there appears to be little defection among the Republicans. Transue will receive hundreds of votes of Democrats, who will support him in order to rebuke the silk stockings of the Democratic League.

W. J. Hanlon (Rep.) in the Seventy-fourth District is popular with his Republican neighbors, and there are enough of them to elect him with a thousand votes to spare. M. G. Yoakum, his opponent, is making just campaign enough to "satisfy his honor;" he is prepared to accept gracefully the defeat which he probably knows is inevitable.

In the Seventy-fifth District, Percy Hammon (Rep.) bids fair to be elected almost by acclamation. The Democrats admit that there is no show for their candidate, S. A. Waldron; they are keeping him in the race chiefly for the purpose of making a noise and preventing the Republican precinct workers from crossing the line into other districts.

and F. W. Owen to go to Terre Haute and open the fight against the Indiana Company. There he met the chief officers of the company.

"I told them that they had reduced the sales of our companies 50,000 to 70,000 kegs of powder in the territory they occupied," said he, "and that we could not stand for that, but would fight to regain the trade. I proposed that the Indiana company be organized with $100,000 capital, of which the Hazard Powder Company should take 51 per cent. and the other stockholders 49 per cent. But they refused to enter into any agreement with them.

"They said that they thought they had a perfect right to manufacture powder for their mines; that they wanted to be friendly with us and hoped there would not be any fight. I told them that we would put up mills near them and begin the fight by underselling them to their own trade."

WORKED UP DISSENSION.

Mr. Waddell then told of the organization of the Great Northern Supply Company to sell not only powder, but shovels, picks and supplies and to the employment of two men, named Ramsay and Backus, to go among the miners to stir up dissension between the miners and operators. The business men made speeches at the miners' meetings. The fight lasted until January, 1902, when the Indiana company went under and sold out. The Southern Powder Company was organized in Birmingham, Ala., and its business was restricted to Birmingham and vicinity.

"We fixed it so they could not get out," said Waddell.

"How did you fix it?"

"Well, we got freight rates systematized on all the railroads out of Birmingham. We fixed these rates so that powder would never be more than 70 cents a keg, or less than cost, and then awaited developments."

"How long did you have to wait?" was asked.

"It was perhaps a year before they decided," replied the witness.

He said the total sales of powder of the pool in 1892 amounted to 2,500,000 kegs, while the independents sold less than 200,000 kegs.

KNIFE CURES DEGENERACY.

Surgical Operation on Boy Causes Wonderful Change.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
MILWAUKEE (Wis.) Oct. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Relatives of the 12-year-old boy who was operated upon at Trinity Hospital last week are enthusiastic over the successful operation. The boy has been a degenerate for the past six years and it is thought that his degeneracy was due to a wound he received on the head. The operation resulted in relieving the pressure of the skull on the brain.

His relatives claim that formerly the youth's eyes were dull while now they are as bright as any youngster's of his age and he appears much more lovable to them.

CITY'S LOSS.

LAWYER MEETS DEATH HERE.

ASSISTANT TO GOV. FOLK DIES OF LUNG TROUBLES.

Fickeissen's Health Broke Down After His Arduous Work in Connection With the Famous Boodle Cases of St. Louis and He Never Regained His Full Strength.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
ST. LOUIS (Mo.) Oct. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Former Assistant Circuit Attorney George N. Fickeissen's death from pulmonary trouble was made known here today by the receipt of a telegram from his wife in Los Angeles. Death came while the attorney was at the home of Mrs. Adolph Stacklin, his wife's mother. Both women were with him. His body is being brought to St. Louis, and will probably arrive Monday. The funeral will be from the home of his parents.

Mr. Fickeissen was 36 years old, and a son of Frederick E. Fickeissen, Sr., former German Lutheran pastor in St. Charles, Mo. He married, March 10, 1896, Miss Jeanette Katz, a former school teacher.

Fickeissen's health broke down while he was assistant to Gov. Folk, when the latter was circuit attorney. The breakdown was attributed by his friends to his arduous labors in connection with the famous boodle cases.

Until a week ago Fickeissen had been in El Paso, Tex., where he went to obtain relief from his ailment. His sister, Mrs. Martha Blackshaw, No. 4154 Connecticut street, St. Louis, prepared to visit him two weeks ago in response to his telegram urging her to come, and had purchased a railroad ticket when she received another message telling her not to come. In a letter which followed, he said he thought it better than she postpone her trip until he needed her more. Although he did not mention it, Mrs. Blackshaw is under the impression that Mrs. Fickeissen was then with him.

FLOODS IN OKLAHOMA.

Heavy Rains for Three Days Continue and Rivers Threaten Towns; Farms Damaged.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]
OKLAHOMA CITY (Okla.) Oct. 22.—Serious floods threaten portions of Central and Northern Oklahoma, the result of a steady downpour of rain that has prevailed for the past three days and is still continuing.

In some portions the rainfall has amounted almost to the proportions of a cloudburst. Numerous reports of loss of life, made yesterday are unconfirmed and they are believed to be without foundation.

The heavy rainfall began Monday morning and at places rain has fallen incessantly since. It has caused the Canadian and the Arkansas rivers, two of the largest streams in the State, to overflow their banks, doing much damage to farm lands, causing washouts on the railroads, and in some instances, threatening small towns. At Tulsa and vicinity the Arkansas has risen ten feet and is still coming up. This brought the stream to within three feet of the highest stage reached in the flood last spring. Many farms around Tulsa were flooded and farmers and their families compelled to move out. The town of West Tulsa is threatened with inundation.

In the vicinity of Perry last night all streams rose suddenly and hundreds of acres of crops were flooded.

A third of the town of Pawnee, with 1500 inhabitants, is covered with six feet of water. In the valley of the Canadian, the valleys for several miles between Shawnee and McCloud are inundated and several parts of the Rock Island, Missouri, Kansas and Texas, and the Santa Fé tracks have been washed out.

In many directions telegraph service is interrupted and details are lacking.

FLASHES FROM WIRES.

Hereafter in all naval communications and orders the Mariana, or Ladron Islands, will be designated simply as the Mariana Islands, instead of the Ladrones, by which they are most popularly known. The change in designation is the result of objection said to have been made by the inhabitants of Guam, where the navy has a station, who dislike the name of Ladron.

From all parts of New York State come complaints of water shortage. So serious is the situation in many sections that extreme measures will soon be needed to prevent actual distress. In various places dairymen are compelled to drive their cows for miles to obtain water and in others it is being carried for miles to supply domestic needs.

The formation of a reserve corps of stokers for the United States navy, to be composed of gas-house firemen from all over the country, is one of the propositions which will be considered by the American Gas Institute, now in session at New York. It is probable the whole matter will be finally decided at the National Gas Association Congress to be held in Chicago, beginning Dec. 17.

California officers left Sherman, Tex., yesterday, over the St. Louis and San Francisco road for California with the man supposed to be Dunham, wanted on the charge of murder. The prisoner was chained to Deputy Sheriff Buffington. Deputy United States Marshal McAfee accompanied the party.

The one hundred and sixty-second anniversary of the founding of Princeton University was observed yesterday with appropriate exercises.

RATS GIVEN CLEAN BILL.

Wyman Ends Ship Fumigation on the Coast.

'Frisco Free of Bubonic Deaths Eight Months.

Warfare Against Rodents to Be Continued, However.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—In view of the improved conditions in San Francisco, Surgeon-General Wyman of the Public Health and Marine Hospital Service has instructed his officers to discontinue the disinfection of outgoing vessels.

For more than a year all vessels leaving San Francisco have been fumigated for the purpose of killing rats in order to prevent conveying the plague to other ports.

There has been no death from the disease in San Francisco in eight months. Although 5000 rats have been trapped, or killed, and examined each week, no infected rat has been found since June 13, except one in July and one in August.

The surgeon-general has ordered a diminution of the force at work in San Francisco by the discharge of about 100 inspectors and laborers, retaining, however, a sufficient number to continue the work so far as deemed necessary.

These orders are significant as indicating the success of the efforts for elimination of the plague, yet the surgeon-general states that the warfare against rats must continue for an indefinite period.

NEW CHIEF FOR FRANCE'S NAVY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
PARIS, Oct. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The new Minister of Marine, Alfred Picard, had been forgotten by most Parisians since the exposition of 1900, of which he was the chief commissioner. Long noted for high administrative capacity, he was, though not more than 64 years of age, generally considered to have finished his career, since he had received the highest honors due to a man of his particular talents. None of his occupations had anything to do with the sea, but he has long been known as a successful, practical railway man, as well as a writer of unusual strength on the subject of railways in general.

Because a clean sweep is wanted in the Marine Department, some of Premier Clemenceau's colleagues object to M. Picard's lack of experience in the navy, but it is almost certain that he will be accepted.

Little sympathy is expressed anywhere for M. Thomson, the retiring Minister of Marine, in spite of the extraordinary humiliation to which he has been subjected, because the continued state of neglect throughout the Naval Department has enraged as well as surprised the country and even some of the members of the Cabinet.

IN PEACE AS IN WAR.

ARMY OFFICERS PROVE HEROES.

THREE AMERICANS SAVE WHOLE FILIPINO VILLAGE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]
MANILA, Oct. 22.—Additional details of the damage wrought in the Cagayan Valley by the typhoon of October 12, indicate that loss of life in the district will reach 500. At Aparri, where a thrilling rescue of 100 natives was effected through the heroism of Lieut. Robert Clark, Lieut. Tredway and Postmaster Foss, the survivors say 300 residents of the submerged fishing village, which is located some distance below Aparri, was swept away and drowned.

The three Americans, aided by one Filipino volunteer, were informed of the danger that threatened the village and managed to reach it by boat. Approaching the shore in a series of short rushes through breakers that threatened at any moment to swamp their frail craft, the rescuers found scores of natives clinging to the poles of their wrecked habitations.

Lieuts. Clark and Tredway, carrying lines from the boat, fought their way through the breakers, and swimming from house to house in the flood waters, saved the lives of about 100 men, women and children. So thorough was their work that all but six of those living when the boat reached the village, were saved. The half dozen unfortunates were swept away by the force of the water while the Americans were striving to reach them.

Over fifty bodies were recovered in this locality alone.

It is reported many were drowned at Illagan, and that the town was almost entirely destroyed.

It is feared the storm and resulting flood has seriously damaged the tobacco crop of the islands. The principal supply and the best quality of pipe tobacco is grown in the Cagayan district, where two plantations report serious damage.

Up to the present time there has been no communication established with other sections, where the condition of the crop is of more importance.

"No two countries," said the admiral, "ever clasped hands across the sea closer than on this occasion. Both countries can rest content that intelligent, friendly sympathy has drawn the ancient friendly ties closer than ever before."

During an interlude of the magnificent theatrical entertainment, given tonight by the Bankers' Club, Rear-Admiral Sperry, the other rear-admirals and their aides appeared on the stage together, with a committee of bankers, on behalf of whom Baron Shibusawa presented the Americans with an eloquent address of welcome, which was engrossed and illuminated and enclosed in a handsome box. On receiving the address, Rear-Admiral Sperry gracefully expressed his thanks.

At Yokohama today 300 girls, all pupils of a music school, visited the flagship Connecticut and sang American national airs in English. The Japanese girls all carried American flags, and on leaving the ship in lighters sang "Hail Columbia" all the way across the bay.

TOKIO IS HOST.

Commencing at noon today, officers and men of the American battleship fleet were constantly in motion to keep pace with the rapidly succeeding features of entertainment provided in their honor. This was the day when the municipality of Tokio assumed the duties of host, and Mayor Ozaki represented the city in that capacity, performing his duties most royally. The Mayor presided at a banquet at noon, attended by Rear-Admiral Sperry, Ambassador O'Brien and many members of the diplomatic corps and half of the officers of the fleet. Half an hour later the gates of Hibiya Park were opened to 3000 American blue jackets and marines, who found every variety of entertainment provided in their honor. Altogether 5000 invitations to this function were issued.

At the same hour another luncheon was given by Prince Suyematzu on his magnificent estate in the outskirts of Tokio. Among those present were Peter C. Jay, secretary to the American embassy; members of the diplomatic corps; Marquis Oyama, the hero of Port Arthur; Count Matsukata, a former Premier; Prince Tokugawa, President of the House of Peers; Marquis Saito, Minister of Marine; and many others whose names are among the most notable in the history of Japan.

In the afternoon there was a garden party given by the British Ambassador and attended by many of the same distinguished guests.

Today began with showers of rain, but later the weather cleared and bright sunshine prevailed. The men ashore and the crowds in the streets and at the entertainments have maintained the utmost good order. The official luncheon of the Mayor was an extremely elaborate affair. In addition to Rear-Admiral Sperry and Ambassador O'Brien, the guests, numbering 230 in all, included Count Komura, Vice-Admiral Saito, Minister of Marine; Baron Kaneko, president of the America's Friends Society, and other men distinguished in official and private life.

PRESIDENT TOASTED.

Mayor Ozaki toasted the President of the United States and Ambassador O'Brien gave the health of the Emperor. The Mayor then delivered the royal address of welcome, inscribed upon a long scroll beautifully designed, which he presented, after being read, to Admiral Sperry. In his address Mayor Ozaki expressed the most sincere gratitude of the nation for America's evidence of friendly support of Japan in sending the fleet to Yokohama. He referred at length to the history of the cordial relations that have existed between the two countries, in part saying:

"As we turn our eyes toward Yokohama, where calmly anchored lies the noble fleet which fills us with wonder and admiration, fancy writes large above it the indelible words: 'Justice and Humanity.'

"This is what the great President of the United States has said your navy stands for, 'A power never used except to liberate the oppressed or assist the helpless.' The Japanese navy has fought only to save the country from aggression and possible extinction. Hence there is between us a great note of affinity.

"I may be touching a delicate subject, but I feel that I would be doing less than my duty if I failed to convey the assurance that in this welcome the real heart of the Japanese nation speaks to the heart of the great American nation. We ask you to send to your people this message:

WAR WOULD BE CRIME.

"'Japan believes that war between America and Japan would be a crime against the past, the present, and the future of both countries. Your nation has always represented the West to us and the waters of the great Pacific that separate, yet, at the same time join us, because that ocean must be guarded by our two powers. It is a matter of inspiration to us to realize that our common point of meeting lies in the Pacific. We sincerely believe that the great navy which you are so proud to possess and we are so proud to welcome, stands for those sublime principles which in supreme moments can rise above the question of race and color. We are your friends for ever.'"

The address was received with the wildest enthusiasm, as was also accorded the response of Rear-Admiral Sperry, which was couched in the terms of the most feeling appreciation, with assurance of the continued friendship of America and with thanks for the welcome, the remembrance of which would be carried back to America by fifteen thousand representatives, each a part of the bone and sinew of America, and each anxious to wipe out all possible misunderstandings of Japan's attitude of profound sincerity.

After luncheon the party went to Hibya Park, which was ablaze with color and filled with booths, Marquee, and temporary theaters. Here the Mayor addressed the sailors, his remarks being shorter, but couched in similar terms to those he previously made. At the conclusion of his address he was cheered again and again. The park literally swarmed with bluejackets, each group being accompanied with a guide and interpreter. Notwithstanding the unlimited amount of refreshments provided and the presence of hundreds of Geisha girls, not a single disturbance occurred. The American sailor boys, their arms enlinked with those of Japanese young men, sang songs and cheered the names of the heroes of Japan. It was the liveliest scene ever witnessed in Tokio. It is estimated that one hundred thousand Japanese, who were not invited, surrounded the railings of the park. The bluejackets fell in line at 5:15 in the afternoon and marched to the station, where they took trains for Yokohama. Their route to the station was lined with hundreds of thousands of people. The bluejackets, marching with steady swing, laughingly responded to the constant cheering. They were met and followed by an indescribable volume of banzais, hurrahs and the singing of "Hail Columbia." Rear-Admiral Sperry said to the Associated Press representative that it was the most remarkable exhibition of popular sentiment he had ever witnessed, and every officer and man must have been deeply impressed.

PRINCE ENTERTAINS.

While the official luncheon was proceeding another luncheon was being given by Young Prince Suyematsu at his residence. Here were gathered some of the greatest men of Japan, representing the army, navy, elder statesmen and the ministry. It was a select gathering of sixty persons intended to impress the visitors with the perfect accord of the ruling classes.

During the course of the luncheon, Marquis Matsukata, Prince Oyama and Admiral Togo speaking to the Associated Press representatives said he might say to the American people that this week the Japanese had shown their hearts as never before. They were happy to think that America now believed in the sincerity of Japan's its peaceful intentions toward the whole world.

During the luncheon Prince Suyematsu proposed the health of President Roosevelt and the officers of the fleet and Rear Admiral Emory made a happy response. The souvenirs of the occasion were solid silver bonbon boxes. At the close of the function the American naval officers gathered in the center of the lawn and gave the Annapolis Naval Academy yell for Prince Suyematsu and also for Count Oyama and Admiral Togo, the rear admirals joining in the shout. Later in the evening, Sir Claud MacDonald, the British Ambassador entertained the American officers and a number of other distinguished guests at a garden party.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—An order restraining Commissioner Shields from proceeding further with the hearing in the case of Jan Pouren, the Russian held for extradition on charges of attempted murder, robbery and arson alleged to have been committed in Russia, until the commissioner can appear before the court was handed down today by Judge Ward in the Federal Court.

The order was issued on petition of Baron Schlippenbach, Russian consul-general, who asserted that Commissioner Shields's action in reopening the case is "wholly without jurisdiction and is in violation of the rights of Russian government under the extradition treaty and contrary to the BOMBARDMENT.

HARD BATTING PLEASES FANS.

Bodie Hits Homer, Double and Three Singles.

Griffin Proves Hard Puzzle for the Locals.

San Francisco, 10; Los Angeles, 0.

The small bunch of fans that looked at the ball game yesterday at Chutes Park started in by wee ing and ended in howls of joy, for such an occasion has not been met with in many months. The Los Angeles fielders ran about forty-seven miles trying to catch the sun shower of swats that pounded a hundred holes in the outfields, but about the best they could do was to keep the Seals from making twenty or thirty runs.

Nagle started in to pitch and was real serious about it f half of the game, but he actually laughed at himself near the finish for the Seals simply pulverized him. It seemed for a time that there was hardly a spot in the yard that they did not bounce the ball off of and their record of seventeen hard pokes shows that they must have been busy the greater part of the afternoon. The Seals scored in four innings and any one of these would have been sufficient, for the locals got only one man near the plate, and that was in the third inning on three passes.

Mohler started the seventh inning with a single to left and Curtis sacrificed. Zeider scored Mohler with a hard jab to left field and then came the hard slugger Bodie who piled ...e ball over the center fence for a home run. If this was not enough, Williams followed Bodie with a single. In the eighth, with one out, Mohler tripled to the center fence and scored on a wild pitch. Curtis was an easy infield out and after him came Zeider and Bodie with doubles to center and Williams with a hit to right field, which Wheeler juggled long enough to allow Bodie to score.

These two innings are samples of the pounding given Nagle and the Seals started off the game with three singles and three runs. Mohler hit to left but was forced at second by Curtis. Zeider grounded to Nagle, who tried to catch Curtis at second, but failed. Bodie hammered out his first swat to right sending Curtis to third, and Williams drove a hot one to left center that brought in Curtis and sent Zeider to third and he scored when Beck forced Williams at second. Howard tried to double Beck at first but heaved the ball far over Dillon's head and Bodie raced to the plate. The other run came from Delmas's overthrow to first, Zeider's sacrifice, and Bodie's single to right. All this was very easy.

The locals had practically no chance for Griffin pitched fine ball all the way and was only once in danger. The Seals gave him good support. Mohler's overthrow to first on an attempted double play being the only blunder. The fielding feature was a fine running foul catch by Howard back of first base.

NELSON PROVES EASY.

BEAVERS GRAB ANOTHER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Portland tied another can to Oakland today, to the score of 4 to 1. It was a better variety of ball at that than has been displayed so far this week. Nelson stayed in the box for eight innings, and was replaced by Hogan, who, it was thought, might land on Kinsella. But Hogan was a disappointment. Not only did he fail with the stick, but when he went in to pitch the Beavers added another run.

Truesdale for Oakland reached first on an error in the opening inning, but McCay hit to Johnson for a pretty double play. It brought applause for the Portland team, and the Oaklanders came right back with a duplication. Johnson had reached third on a single, a stolen base and a sacrifice, when Ryan hit one to Duffey Lewis in deep left. It was the right kind of a throw, and Johnson was easily nailed at the plate.

The first Portland run, by Raftery, came when Tom hit over short, and was advanced to second on an out, scoring as McCay fumbled a grounder from Danzig and then made a bad throw to first base. Oakland tied it up more legitimately. Heitmuller rapped one to left field that just cut third, and was good for two bases, and scored when Eagan followed by putting the ball into center.

McCredie's men took a lead in the eighth, when Bassey walked and Frambes hit safely to left. Bassey cleverly stole third, and was scored when Kinsella got a center field hit. A scratch bunt by Casey scored Frambes, but, with Cooney out, Raftery hit into a double play. In the ninth, with Hogan pitching for Oakland, Danzig singled to the right field fence, stole second, and was scored by Ryan's two-sacker.

HAMMERING.

GOOD CARD IS OFFERED BUGS.

Webster-O'Neill Contest Looks to Be Good on Paper and Snyder and Fisher Promise Something—Maurice Sayers and Dick Cullen Are Down for the Wind-up Battle.

Local fight bugs should see a good two hours' of fighting at the weekly show of the McCarey Club at Naud Junction this evening, for the card provided seems to be up to the standard of previous preliminary shows. The four bouts promise four different fights and variety is what the ordinary pug enthusiast is looking for. O'Neill, White and Cullen are new ones here and are unknown quantities, but the other boys have performed before local crowds one or more times and have shown more or less ability.

The curtain raiser between Eddie White and Mike Dalton will be of six rounds, while the other three bouts are scheduled for ten rounds each. It is difficult to pick out the main event in these three, but the Webster-O'Neill contest appears to indicate the most speedy slugging of the night. O'Neill naturally wants to make good before the local bugs while Webster is very anxious to wipe out the stain of that Wolgast beating, and from all accounts both boys have trained faithfully for the battle tonight. It will be a boost for Webster if he can win.

Snyder and Fisher had a very hot session when they met several weeks ago and the latter won, to the surprise of the former's friends. Fisher expects to win again tonight and while he is trying the fur will certainly fly.

All of the six boys in the first three fights will weigh in at 122 pounds, while the final pair, which will be Maurice Sayers and Dick Cullen, must weigh 133 pounds this afternoon. These boys are under the required weight and are said to be in good condition.

The order of the fights will be as follows:

Eddie White and Mike Dalton, six rounds.

Danny Webster and Willie O'Neill, ten rounds.

Dick Cullen and Maurice Sayers, ten rounds.

Jim Flynn began his work yesterday at the Eastside Club for his coming match with Barry at the McCarey Club. Barry is doing his work at the Southside Club and is reported in fine condition with the exception of the soreness of one of his hands which was hurt in his bout with Battling Johnson. Barry weighs about 190 pounds and will not be below that figure when he enters the ring.

LIBERATED.

BERRY MADE PRISONER IN WISCONSIN WOODS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That Chicago's world's champions will get their spring conditioning in Shreveport, La., and the White Stockings in California again, was made practically certain today. President Murphy announced he would make a trip south right after election for the purpose of looking over the ground in Shreveport, and the return of Henry Berry and Cal. Ewing from the Wisconsin woods brought information that President Comiskey had reached a preliminary agreement regarding the California trip.

Messrs. Berry and Ewing are respective owners of the Los Angeles and started out with the Sox magnate's hunting party last Saturday, they did not intend going farther than Milwaukee. They expected to be guests for the banquet in the dining car only, but when it came time to leave the train they found themselves prisoners. They were taken to the Comiskey camp, liberated, and did not find their way back to civilization until today.

The Californians employed their captivity wisely by getting Comiskey's promise of a series of games in their cities in the spring and they said it was the "Old Roman's" idea to make a much longer stay on the Coast than last spring. In fact, he plans to do nearly all the training out there, with the problematic Honolulu trip still

HIGH PRESSURE.

SAINTS SCORE MANY POINTS.

Hempel Stirs up Sluggards Against Lawyers.

St. Vincent's Preparing for Colorado Miners.

Shute Should Add Strength to the Back Field.

St. Vincent's overwhelmed the U. S. C. Law School football team in practice yesterday at St. Vincent's, scoring twelve touchdowns in two short halves. The Saints made three tallies in the first seven minutes of play, two on forward passes and one on a plunge through center.

The Catholics have been working under high pressure this week, and the practice has been gratifying to Coach Hempel. The failure of the team to score against High School had the effect of arousing the players from a state of self-sufficiency into which they had drooped, and Hempel believes that the outcome of the game was the best thing that could have happened. The players now realize that while they are proficient they must be full of fighting spirit and "pepper," and in the big games that will soon begin the Saints should hold their own against all comers.

Colorado School of Mines will play the Saints at Fiesta Park, October 31, and thereafter big weekly games with be played until the end of the season. The Colorado team will meet the Utah "Aggies" at Salt Lake City tomorrow and will continue west at the beginning of next week, reaching this city two days in advance of the St. Vincent's game.

The Utah "Aggies" also are to appear in this city, playing the Saints November 14.

The addition of Eugene Shute, the former U. S. C. player, to the St. Vincent's squad has materially strengthened the team. Shute will be trained for the fullback berth and will supplement Stoney in that position. Stoney also is a capable lineman and in case he is needed as a substitute in the line. Shute will go in at fullback.

"Midget" Moats probably will be used regularly as quarterback and Ybarrando will be stationed at end. This arrangement worked out well in the High School game and seems to be the best way in which to use both men. Moats runs the team in a snappy manner, and is the equal of Ybarrando in every department of the game. Ybarrando is a strong defensive player and is thoroughly satisfactory in an end position.

Tortes has been out of the practice for several days on account of a sore foot, but he probably will be in the scrimmage tomorrow. Coach Hempel has been handicapped in his work by a severe cold, but has been on the field every day.

Next week the Saints will practice two times with Los Angeles High School at Fiesta Park in preparation for the game with the Colorado School of Mines. Coach Hempel is anxious to try his open formations in fast company before tackling the miners, and High School will be able to test their efficiency. The Saints will rely almost entirely on open formations, and it is expected that the open field work will make their playing interesting.

Ed Scheller, the Saints' yell leader, was appointed assistant to Student Manager Carroll yesterday. Both men are qualified for their executive duties and the student body is pleased with their selections.

DOUBLE-HEADER.

TWO STYLES OF FOOTBALL.

American and Rugby football will be played at Occidental tomorrow afternoon. The Presbyterian 'varsity is to meet Whittier College in their annual match at 3 o'clock, and Polytechnic High School will play the fifteen of Redlands High School at 1:30 o'clock.

The Presbyterians will be in good shape to meet the Quakers, although Collins, right halfback, has been out of practice several days on account of bruised legs and may not be able to play. The Presbyterians do not expect to resort to much line bucking against the heavy Quaker frontier. Gorton has been working hard to perfect open formations and Whittier will have an opportunity to show defensive ability against the open style of play.

Whittier has the strongest football team in the history of the school, and while the eleven has been handicapped by a lack of scrimmage practice, the players are full of fighting spirit and are strong individually. Coach Woodward has trained the men in effective plays, and while a defeat was suffered at the hands of U.S.C., the Quakers claim to have improved greatly this week.

Polytechnic High has been working out daily at Praeger Park and a decided improvement in playing has been made since the game with Pomona High School. The team will be in good condition for the match tomorrow and the mechanics are confident that they will take Redlands into camp. Redlands High has been playing rugby for three years and has always turned out efficient teams. The visitors will arrive in this city tomorrow morning and will return home immediately after the game.

The Presbyterian campus is large enough to accommodate a full-sized rugby field, and as the game will be the first of the English style ever played at Occidental, the Presbyterian students and supporters are arranging to turn out in large numbers to witness the double-header.

POMONA'S NEW MEN.

COMING TO LOS ANGELES.

Los Angeles High School and Pomona College will contest for football honors tomorrow afternoon at Fiesta Park. Both teams will be in excellent condition for the match, and while the High School seems to have the better chance of coming out on top, the Claremonters will be prepared to make a strong fight.

Pomona did not play in Los Angeles last year, and Coach Stanton is particularly anxious that his team should make a good showing tomorrow. The Claremonters are noted for their fighting spirit and always give a good account of themselves in athletic contests. The personnel of the Claremont team has almost been entirely changed since the team last played at Fiesta Park. The new players are successors to Metcalf, Spurgeon and the other players well known to local followers of football. The High School match will be the first big game for Pomona, and the players are anxious to mix with the blue-and-white men.

The High School players have en-

the St. Vincent's game and are playing with characteristic force and snap. The excellent showing made by the team against U. S. C. and St. Vincent's has given the players strong confidence in themselves and they are ready to tackle any sort of big game. Coach Noble has been working on the open formations and the players are improving in this department of the sport. The team will be stronger tomorrow than in any previous games. Light signal practice will be held this afternoon.

OLD ANTAGONISTS.

HOLLYWOOD AND LONG BEACH.

The football teams of Long Beach and Hollywood High Schools will play tomorrow afternoon on the Hollywood campus. Capt. Taylor of the Hollywood eleven will not be able to play, as his knees were injured during the last game.

Taylor's absence will be a big handicap for the foothill team, but he will be in condition again next week. Either Tuller or Lewis will play quarter in Taylor's place, and Knowles, one of last year's star players, who entered school too late to participate in the earlier games, will be back in his old position at full.

The game promises to be lively from start to finish. The teams are old enemies and both average about the same in weight.

GREAT SEND-OFF.

SCHOOL OF MINES TEAM.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

GOLDEN (Colo.) Oct. 22.—With great enthusiasm of the student body, the School of Mines football team left today for Logan, Utah, and thence Los Angeles, Cal.

The team is to contest the Utah Aggies at Logan on Saturday of this week, and St. Vincent's College in Los Angeles on October 31.

GONE TO NEVADA.

STANFORD TO PLAY AT RENO.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Oct. 21.—The Stanford 'varsity Rugby team will leave the campus Thursday evening for Reno, Nev., where a game is scheduled for Saturday with the fifteen from the University of Nevada. Last Saturday the sagebrushers defeated the Olympic Club team by a 3 to 0 score, so that, though a Cardinal victory is expected, the match should prove no walkover contest. The Nevada team is being coached by F. J. Mayers, wing forward on the Stanford 'varsity last year, while the training has been in the hands of C. K. Badger, Stanford '11. Twenty men will accompany Coach Presley and Manager Stewart on the trip. The return match is scheduled for one week later.

Twenty-three men have been placed on the training table, which will be run for candidates for the 'varsity football team until the game with California on November 14. Those who will eat at the table with Coach Presley are: Koerner, Terrill, Higley, McGregor, Cheda, Pemberton, Crawford, Miller, Evans, Reynolds, Heinley, MacKenzie, Erb, Elliott, Mitchell, Roth, Ganong, Cook, Scott, Holman, Cadwalader, Jordan, Brown.

Scott and Ganong were on the field tonight for the first time since receiving injuries in the Olympic game of October 7.

Nine members of the Stanford freshman squad have been requested to report out and practice with the 'varsity squad until the end of the season. These men are: Corbet, Crandall, Hubbard, Rodgers, Erb, A. Sanborn, T. Sanborn, Lundell and Brown. Of these, Erb and Brown are already on the 'varsity training table.

Bakersfield Football.

BAKERSFIELD, Oct. 22.—Saturday afternoon the High School football team will be put to the first test of the season. The Bakersfield town team will line up against the school lads. A hot game is expected. Following is the line up:

Bakersfield.		High School.
Whitaker,	C.	Baker.
Alexander,	L.G.	Weigis.
Robinson,	R.G.	Forker.
Chism,	L.T.	Rankin.
Cayins,	R.T.	Church.
Giboney,	L.E.	L. Stroud.
C. Brown,	R.E.	Stockton.
Macmurdo,	Q.	Grandy.
H. McKinley,	L.H.	B. McKinley.
W. Brown,	R.H.	J. Stroud.
English,	F.	Wieman.

Pasadena Team Coming.

Occidental Academy football team will play the Pasadena High School eleven on the Presbyterian gridiron this afternoon at 3 o'clock. The "preps" have been practicing hard for the match, as it will be their first appearance this season on the home grounds and they are anxious to make a good showing. The Pasadenans will slightly outweigh their opponents, but as both teams are lacking veteran players, it is expected that the game will be closely contested.

Only for Diversion.

The U.S.C. Law School football team is to play the Sherman Indians at Riverside today. The lawyers have been accommodating all the big elevens with practice games and have been making a fair showing against the regular teams. The law school has little opportunity for practice and as the eleven was organized for the diversion of the players, rather than to represent the school against rival institutions, the men do not closely observe training rules.

Crown Hill Winner.

The Crown Hill football team defeated the Echo Park Playgrounds eleven yesterday afternoon at Crown Hill, by the score of 6 to 5. Lund, halfback, scored the touchdown for the winners and Carrillo, fullback, kicked the goal. Johnson scored for Echo Park. Patterson played a strong game for Crown Hill.

ALL DAY LONG.

SEVEN ENTRIES FOR BIG RACE.

Saturday Night Start May Include Others.

Two Dark Horses Expected at Last Moment.

Cars and Drivers Are Best on the Coast.

Entries for the twenty-four-hour race will not close until Saturday afternoon, and the prospect is that seven cars will start Saturday evening. The track will be lighted tonight, and by that time will be in condition for fast work. At the last moment the diffident ones are waking up and the prospect is that the meet will be all that the promoters claim it will be.

Every effort is being made to provide suitable accommodations for the crowd and today the officials will be chosen and the last details for the meeting will be arranged. Though the dealers have not entered into the meet with the enthusiasm it was supposed at first they would, they are doing nothing to hinder the arrangements for the race.

Bert Dingley is expected here today with the Chalmers-Detroit, and this fast car no doubt will give a good account of itself.

On the Fresno track the "Bluebird" recently was sent against all comers. With Dingley at the helm it carried off the honors of the meet. The others must look to their laurels.

At a meeting last night of those who are in charge of the meet the final details were arranged, and it only remains for those who are pushing the affair to see a few of the dealers who are holding back. Last night it was stated that two dark horses will come in at the last moment. It is more than likely that at least one Los Angeles-made car will be seen in action.

There were more inquiries last night concerning the rules of the race than at any other time since the twenty-four-hour speed test was mentioned.

The tire men were on hand with suggestions and several different makes of tires are to be represented. The rivalry between the local agencies is keen.

Just what the Sunset car will do is problematical. The racing machine is one of the speediest cars in the West. It has flown like the wind on many tracks, and wherever it has started has given an excellent account of itself. There will be a change of drivers about every six hours on this car.

Time and again the Sunset has carried off the honors in a track meet, and it is safe to say the car will be well up toward the front at the end of the long grind. Many believe the Sunset is a sure winner, and several large wagers were made last night that the speedy machine will take first place.

IN THE RECKONING.

Ralph Hamlin in the Franklin must be reckoned with. His experience in track work will stand him in good stead at Ascot Park tomorrow night and Sunday. His car is equipped for the race and the trim roadster will be sent at top speed by Hamlin in his race for the handsome trophy. Whenever Hamlin goes after anything on a track he has had the good fortune thus for to get what he went after.

There is no more careful driver in the West than Hamlin. Recently he smashed the Los Angeles-San Diego record in one of the classiest drives in the history of the automobile game. He has a host of friends and well-wishers, and from the moment his car starts until he finishes or is obliged to give up the race, many rooters will yell for the Franklin entry.

The White Steamer is entered for the race. Capt. Ryus will drive, but will be relieved by one or two others. He will probably start and finish with the speedy machine. The steamer undoubtedly will give a good account of itself, as it is capable of doing at least sixty miles an hour. Ryus is a careful, heady driver, and his experience on the Baldy course has given him the necessary nerve for the most dangerous race.

Should Reuss arrange to start with the Pope-Hartford, this car must be reckoned with. It is one of the fastest machines built for road work and is capable of high speed on such a track as Ascot Park. Many reckon that in a race like the one to be started tomorrow night, the Pope-Hartford's chances of winning would be strong.

It is not likely that the Auburn will start. The speedy little machine has many supporters, but at the last moment it was impossible to get the car into shape for the meet. Had the race been a week hence the Auburn would have been on the track in time for the starter's gun.

Today the entrants will be allowed to speed their cars around the course. Ascot Park is not in the best shape and it is not likely that any records will be broken.

Guesses as to the amount of miles the winning car will make place the number all the way from 910 miles to 1015 miles. There are few who believe the cars will make much more than a thousand miles with the track in such condition.

That the race will be hard on tires all agree. The winning of the twenty-four-hour dash will undoubtedly depend on careful driving and the man who saves his car at the turns, watches his tires like a hawk, and only speeds on the stretches, will probably win.

Athletics at Y.M.C.A.

Indoor athletics will be held at the Y.M.C.A. tomorrow night, and it is the intention of Physical Director Price to hold games every Saturday night throughout the winter. The events tomorrow night will include high and broad jumping, shot-putting, and sprinting on the indoor track, and will be held primarily for the purpose of getting a line on the new material. Later in the year a large indoor athletic meet is to be held.

Bimini Water Sports.

The Bimini first and second water polo teams are to play at Bimini Baths tonight. The Bimini juvenile water basketball team will play the McKinley School team. Holborow and Abbeg are to meet in two swimming races.

New Bowling Records.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 22.—Two world's bowling records were broken last night by the Schneidt team of the St. Louis Ten Pin League, according to figures announced today. The team totaled 3306 pins for three games, an average of 1102. The high game was 1133. Three of the players averaged above 241.

Monte Attell Winner.

RENO (Nev.) Oct. 22.—Monte Attell of San Francisco knocked out Bob Johnson, also of San Francisco, in the middle of the second round tonight at the Wheelman Hall. Johnson was the aggressor until a blow on the jaw finished him.

All-Stars and Olympias.

The All-Stars and the Olympia colored baseball teams are to play at Joy Park tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Batteries: All-Stars, Ybarrando and Whaling; Olympias, Price, McClain and Slater.

WISE TALKS
BY THE "OFFICE BOY"

I was up in an artist's studio the other day, and he said: "Here's a picture of 'The Old Man,' his wife is having made. What do you think I ought to get for it?" I told him "I didn't know exactly, but I thought about six months." Lots of lots of stores buy goods on when they get them in they clerks together and say: "Here's a lot of goods (say 10 neckties) that were bought to sell at 50c, but some of the patterns are better than others. Let us divide them into three lots and sell them for 50c, 75c and $1.00; the buying public will never know the difference." The old man wouldn't stand for a thing of that sort, not for one minute. His instructions are: "Give the public values. Yes, give them more value for their money than they can possibly get elsewhere. Then treat them politely and the whole secret of success is solved." Every time I pass by a store and see how exactly like our $3 hats displayed and marked in plain figures $3.50 or $4, or see hats marked 75c and $1.00 that are the same exactly as we sell at 50c, I feel like saying to myself, "What's the use?" Still, when I come back and tell the old man about it, he says, "Cheer up, we serve every man's patronage and keep right on playing the business game fair, I have no fear of the results because if you honestly deserve a thing you get it, although it may take longer than you think it should.

FOR SALE—AT INVOICE, I WILL SELL you a neat, clean little business at invoice price of stock, as I must leave shortly for New York. It is a first-class money-maker, requiring little time and just the thing for a real estate man. It is unique in character, being a New York idea, and I am the only man who has ever carried it out in Los Angeles. If an income of $250 per month will satisfy you, that is what it is capable of producing if properly managed. Certainly it ought to be an acceptable addition to any real estate or other business man's line. I have 12 offices, completely furnished, and 35 additional that can be likewise furnished and rented at a profit of from $5 to $15 a month each. If interested, call and let me show them to you and explain the proposition fully. E. W. PECK, 321 San Fernando Bldg., S.E. corner Fourth and Main sts.

TIMES COOK BOOK NO. 2 READY TODAY, and while the edition is enormous, it is placed on sale the largest, most elaborate and comprehensive cook book of the series issued by The Times.
The 328 recipes for hot Spanish and Mexican dishes and the hygienic department are big features of the publication. The recipes, brought out by The Times Cooking Expert, two are generally in Southern California housewives and noted chefs. Price 25c; by mail 5c additional. Address THE TIMES, Los Angeles.

BUSINESS CHANCES—
Miscellaneous.

I OWN A LARGE, BEAUTIFUL, HIGH, sightly and commanding site for a national hospital, hotel and health resort. This site comprises about 2 acres joining a beautiful city park of 1200 acres; walks, drives, flowers, shrubbery, etc., in Los Angeles city, within 3 minutes' ride by electric cars from the business center of Los Angeles.
My property is the only private property joining this park and connecting with it.
I want to build a national hospital, hotel and health resort on this property, equipped with modern, up-to-date surgical, operating-room and hotel accommodations for invalids and the latest discoveries in curing diseases, comprising electric and solar baths, harmonic, magnetic vibrations and the great salt water sub-cutaneous injection treatment now in successful use in France by Dr. Quinton, and in England under the patronage of the Duchess of Sutherland.
The leading physicians and surgeons of the United States can be interested in the enterprise. The banks, leading brokers, railroads, civic and military orders will negotiate the bonds of this enterprise, which will pay from 20 per cent. to 50 per cent. profit on the investment.
In Europe there are many national hospital hotels and are none on the Pacific Coast, and Los Angeles is the Mecca to which the invalids of the United States are looking.
I want to borrow $10,000 to promote this great humanitarian enterprise, and will give a first mortgage or trust deed on my property as security and pay 10 per cent. interest, and give a bonus of 1-4 interest in the enterprise. Worth a fortune.
I will furnish bank reference of my ability to promote this enterprise successfully and my property considered solely as city lot is good security for the money.
If you want to promote or finance this proposition to the benefit of yourself and mankind, address

"OWNER,"
Los Angeles, Cal.

The Question of the Day.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Extra Large Mail.

There will be a heavy delivery of mail today, owing to the receipt last night of a great quantity delayed in transit over the Santa Fé line.

More Money Circulates.

Money order transactions in Los Angeles, for the quarter ending September 30, were 169,993, amounting to $2,833,265.30, an increase of about 10 per cent. over the previous quarter.

Fire from Oil Stove.

An explosion of a coal oil stove caused a fire that destroyed the home of W. B. Baffinger, No. 826 East Thirty-seventh street, yesterday morning. The loss, according to Baffinger, is $1700.

Challenges Hammon.

S. A. Waldron, Democratic candidate for the Assembly, has challenged his Republican opponent in the Seventy-fifth district to defend his legislative record, at the Democrats' wigwam next Tuesday evening.

Dinner for McCabe.

Dixon to Stockade.

Lieut. Charles E. Dixon has been detailed to take charge of the new workhouse in the river bed. Patrolman John Shand will be jailer. Lieut. Dixon will have under his charge the officers working on the East Side and all prisoners sentenced to the chain gang.

Negro's Leg Stops Bullet.

While playing with a loaded revolver, yesterday, Mrs. Sue Roundtree, colored, shot her husband, Henry, in the right leg. The shooting occurred in front of their home at No. 222 East Seventh street. Both are detained by the police, who are not quite satisfied with the explanations made by the pair.

Electric Wire Expensive.

A fire, caused by an exposed electric wire, resulted in $500 damages to the contents of A. B. Cohn & Bros.' jewelry store at Third and Main streets, about 8 o'clock last night. The building was only slightly damaged. The flames were discovered in the rear rooms by one of the clerks, where electricians had been at work all day. The damage was mostly to leather goods.

Ready for Tree Planting.

R. H. Chariton, supervisor of the Angelus Forest Reserve, returned to Los Angeles, yesterday, after making an extended trip through his district. He states that the forestry service will soon begin the planting of trees in Mill Creek and Banning Cañons. He found plenty of snow in Bear Valley and passed through several storms that reminded him of eastern weather.

Luncheon for Collins.

The society of the Colonial Wars and Sons of the Revolution will tender a luncheon to Col. Holdridge Ozro Collins, at the Hollenbeck Hotel tomorrow noon. The occasion will be utilized to present to Collins the engrossed resolutions, adopted by each society at its general meeting. This is the first opportunity which has presented itself for the presentation of the resolutions, as Col. Collins has been absent for a year in Europe.

Two Playlets.

The Alliance Francaise presented a varied and delightful entertainment at Cumnock Hall last evening, at which two excellently performed one-act playlets amused the large audience. These were "Chez l'Avocate," in which Mme. J. Auclair, E. J. Christopher and J. Auclair took part, and "Le Billet Rose," the parts being taken by Mlle. Louise Blondeau, Emile and Henri Christopher. Gen. F. C. Prescott made an address, and there was an excellent programme of music and recitations.

Y.M.C.A. Stag Socials.

The first of a series of stag socials to be held every Saturday night during the winter by the Y.M.C.A. will be held tomorrow night at its new building. The socials will be for all men over 18 years of age, whether members or non-members, and a musical and elocutionary programme will be rendered. The programme for tomorrow night includes readings by Miss Lydia Bell, with music accompaniment by Miss Artelia Bell; a piano duet by J. E. Webb and P. Z. B. Swan, and gymnastic games.

Chautauquans Eat Fish.

Sixty former residents of Chautauqua county, N. Y., went to Long Beach yesterday on the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Hall of that place, who served a fish dinner to their guests in the basement of the Auditorium on the beach. Mr. Hall is a Chautauquan and delights to entertain his former friends and neighbors in this hospitable fashion, having twice extended a similar courtesy to the members of the society. After dinner a number of speeches were made, comparing Chautauqua climate and experiences with those of Southern California, and not a person in the crowd expressed a desire to return to the land of snowbanks and icicles. The Chautauqua county society holds its regular annual meeting on the first Saturday in February each year at Eastlake Park.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to the Rebeccas, relatives and friends, for their kindness, sympathy and floral offerings in our late bereavement of our dear wife, mother and sister.

TOO MUCH HORN.

Seamen Sentenced to Chain Gang, but Afterward Released and Told to Get Out—Most Interesting Part of Story Is in Odd List of Names, Mostly of North Men.

As a result of the mutiny on board the American ship Aryan at the Salt Lake wharf, West Long Beach, Wednesday evening, the sixteen members of the crew were arrested yesterday by Chief Williams and his officers and taken before Justice Hart at Long Beach for trial.

The men pleaded guilty to charges of disturbing the peace and were fined $2 each and sentenced to spend thirty days on the chain gang. This sentence was later suspended upon the promise of the sailors to behave. The men will be paid off and given clearance papers. The mutiny has passed into history and Capt. Whittier of the Aryan will engage a less warlike crew for his next voyage.

Mate Lund, who was attacked and badly beaten by the sailors during the mutiny, is in a fair way to recover and will not file further charges against the sailors.

Yesterday morning the motley crew of Portuguese, Scandinavians, Swedes and others with strange names, and of wilder appearance were taken in tow by the Long Beach officers.

They, who had been so ready to attempt violence on the high seas, were as meek as lambs when the Chief of Police and his men bearing the warrants came upon them. They offered no resistance but sullenly accompanied the arresting officers to the City Hall.

It required some time to register the men. They gave their names as follows: Axel Wyuuvidequiest, August Christianson, Andrew Peterson, Robert Hubert, Manfour Belgief, Wilhelm Suje, Fred Keil, Julius Carlsen, John Lundgreen, Fred Hummell, Fred Amacher, Harry Rutter, Charles Hull, S. Prazack, Eughery Clipper and Paul Silver.

The Aryan, a coal ship, left Baltimore more than 175 days ago on its long trip around the Horn. Calms, bad weather and an evident determination on the part of the sailors to work only when and how they pleased caused considerable delay.

The true story of what occurred on that long voyage may never be known. Several officers of the ship deny that there was any particular difficulty with the crew. Nevertheless when the ship reached San Pedro and a sailor went under the influence of liquor came back to his berth, Wednesday evening and began to beat the mate, there was not a hand lifted in defense of the officer.

The sailors had signed a contract to serve two years. They were to be paid upon the option of the master of the ship. When the Aryan reached Long Beach the men demanded half their pay and their clearance papers. When the captain refused these demands they grasped the long-sought opportunity and mutinied.

The Metal Action
Farrand-Cecilian Interior Player Piano
Not Leaking or Warping—Fundamentally Perfect
In every other inside Player Piano the valves are of wood or leather. With every day's use they are harder to pump, the action becoming porous because of climatic influences. The Farrand-Cecilian pumps as easily after five years as when new, this because the action is not affected by climatic changes. The Farrand-Cecilian is made with double tracker board for playing any kind of music rolls. You are invited to inspect this—the greatest of all Interior Player Pianos.

Mr. A. Lowinsky will again be the soloist at this afternoon's free Cecilian recital. We invite Mr. Lowinsky's many admirers to be here this afternoon to hear him. Recital at 2 o'clock. Take elevator to fifth floor.

SLEUTHS THAT SLEUTH THE SLEUTHING SLEUTH

Four Sets of Detectives Shadowing Citizens of High Degree—Not in the "Who's Who" Unless Three Sherlock Holmeses Are on Your Trail.

If you wish to find out whether some Los Angeles man really "belongs," count the number of sleuths who are now soft-footing it along his trail.

All illustrious men like the District Attorney, the Mayor and the late T. Woolwine are shadowed every day by three or four diqerent sets of detectives.

One set belongs to the Tenderloin crowd; it is rather raw and is distinguished by a small irrigation system whereby tobacco juice trickles down the human chin.

Another set belongs to the Earl brothers, (E. Tobias and Earl Rogers,) and is mainly red-headed and mysterious.

Something Dropping.

Since his remarkable exposé of what he didn't know about the Red-Light district, scores of young Los Angeles men have been building up reputations in the Sherlock Holmes business.

When Dist.-Atty. Fredericks starts for home at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, it almost amounts to a ceremony.

WHAT IT IS.

As he goes out the front door, the Young Man Who Sits in the Lobby rises, as though he had just happened to think of something, and hurriedly follows after.

This young man always sits portentously in the lobby. A very mysterious person. He is so crafty and adroit that very few blind persons could see that he is a detective.

When anybody asks him what he wants, he says guilefully, "Jus' waitin' here for a fren'," which of course throws every one off guard at once. There are very few as cunning and subtile as this sleuth.

Whenever the door of the District Attorney's private office opens, the sleuth gives a dark look. Oh, it must be great to be a detective, and have a hat pulled low over your eyes.

When the District Attorney starts for home, the Young Man follows stealthily, skulking along from doorway to doorway with a mysterious and cat-like tread in order that no one shall suspect him.

When they have a good start down the street, another sleuth emerges from a dark doorway and follows the sleuth that follows the District Attorney.

Further down the way, another sleuth skulks out from the shelter of a corner, shifts his tobacco quid to the other side of his face in order to appear disguised, and follows the sleuth that follows the sleuth that follows the District Attorney.

As a usual thing, a fourth sleuth hooks onto the procession, the sleuth, he follows the sleuth who follows the sleuth who follows the sleuth who follows the District Attorney.

Another set of sleuths hangs around the entrance to the grand-jury room. These are among the most mysterious and talented.

Whenever the doorkeeper opens the sacred portal and yells, in a fog-horn voice, "Mr. Nathan Cole is wanted," there is an instant scattering of sleuths. With almost occult shrewdness they hurry around the nearest corner and write down, "Naythun Coal" in the mystic little book they all carry—always.

Then they return and stroll in an elaborately unconscious manner among the bevy of waiting witnesses. They have a listening tread and crafty looks. They listen to conversations. At intervals, they break away and rush around the corner and write down items of cabalistic interest to be "reported," such as: "At too pea m. the mayr sed it looks like rane."

AND CORNERS!

The meaning of these little books used by the "shadows" is enough to stump an ordinary person of less perspicacity, but they all have them and each sleuth does a great deal of writing around corners.

This is another obscure point; no self-respecting detective writes anything except around a corner. If there weren't any corners, there wouldn't be any detectives. There's nothing to it; a detective without a corner would be as Samson after his hair-cut.

However, we cannot afford to dispute their method. They do great work; great work. At the end of the day each sleuth hangs around THE corner (not just any corner this time—but THE corner,) and there meets his boss—the head sleuth. In bated breath and out of the larboard corner of his face, he hoarsely tells the names, from his little book, of those who have testified during the day.

And the wary boss knows whether or not they are playing him false or whether they are true and faithful sleuths, because the same list is in all the evening papers.

You would naturally expect a man to feel rather swelled up by being the object of all this shadowing—just imagine sailing by your worst enemy with four bad-looking sleuths on your track when he has nothing but one fair-haired runt from a correspondence school.

Maybe, the Mayor's secretary didn't like the young man's face; perhaps he was offended by the fact that the Mayor has four and he but one—and that one a young man who sniffles.

Just after testifying, Mr. Kennedy became aware of the fact that he was being followed. He turned around and glared a few times; the sniffling young man always ducked into a doorway. To a detective a doorway is almost as important as a corner. Finally Kennedy went back and belligerently demanded, "What you want?"

"Jus' waitin' fer a fren," muttered the sniffling young man, thus deceiving the wary secretary. A lie, but necessary!

GUN TALK.

But the sniffling young man shrank back into the doorway, and began wildly scribbling in his little book.

Try as he might, Kennedy could not shake the detective. The next morning, he came to work with a look of determination and a large vicious-looking shotgun. The sniffling young man took one wild look at him and fled.

There's a correspondence school library for sale on sleuths and sleuthing if anybody knows where to go. The sniffling young man has yoomped the yob.

Every noon, certain officials and newspaper men have been accustomed for a long time to take their luncheons together at a big round table at a Broadway café.

This is where the most talented detectives in the whole service are detailed.

Going south, the shadower observes with his penetrating glance that the Mayor has just ordered limburger; and an item goes down in the little book; on the return or north trip past the windows, the sleuth-hound observes that the Mayor is now sitting all alone.

The sleuth described is not the only one who watches at the café luncheon of the celebrities. The Earl brothers have one who seems to be a winner with tough waitresses—to judge from his written descriptions. T. Woolwine also has a shadower. Woolwine's are perhaps the most "classiful" of all.

They adopt the cunning device of pretending to read a newspaper. One of Woolwine's detectives has been known to follow a man on a dead run for eight blocks, to climb through two ice wagons, under an automobile and over a trolley car, while shadowing a man, and never lower the paper he is pretending to read.

If you see a young man following you, the while reading a paper and casting occasional piercing glances above or below the sheet, you can know you've one of Woolwine's men on your trail.

Of course, many people who claim to be shadowed, aren't really. So many are always trying to butt into the upper circles. No one's social prestige should be admitted unless they really show a sleuth with a little red book and a corner. This business of hiring a tobacco-stained boy to follow you in a skulking manner, in order to appear to be in the swim should not be countenanced at all in the best circles.

NEXT.

But on dit—you know old On Dit—that one result of all this sleuthing is to be a resurrection of a job lot of old scandals for the benefit of the grand jury. City officials are not the only meat to be passed up to the jury, no! Several other prominent citizens with prominent pasts are under fire. Damage suits are still talked of—more of them. One target is said to be a prominent backer of the Municipal League, who has always cleverly managed to keep off the firing line and to direct the stink-pot batteries from a supposedly safe colgn of vantage. It is averred by wicked men who drink cocktails that he has repeated libelous charges and is at last to be brought to the front where bombs and things go off and folks get hurt.

All in all, Los Angeles is promised the dirtiest washing of soiled linen for the edification of other cities and towns that ever Mrs. Grundy hung on the local line.

Shadows Thickly Fall.

Getting an Understanding.

GOVERNOR ON JUMP TODAY.

Lunch and Reception, Trip to Beaches, Big Night Meeting in Los Angeles.

Gov. Gillett's final tour of Los Angeles county for Taft and the Republican ticket will be made today, and will end in a big night meeting at Simpson Auditorium at 8 o'clock.

The day will begin with a reception at the Union League Club from 11:30 to 12 o'clock; luncheon to the Governor and John L. McNab. At 12:30 the Governor and party will leave Hill-street station in a special car for Redondo, arriving there at 1:30. At 1:45, leave for Ocean Park, stopping at Pier avenue at 2:20, where the Governor will speak. Leaving at 2:30, reach Santa Monica 2:40, stay ten minutes, then leave for Sawtelle. The Governor will speak at all stops.

Leave Sawtelle 3 o'clock, arrive Memorial Hall, Soldiers' Home, 3:30 o'clock. The Governor will speak, followed by Mr. McNab. Leave the Home at 5 o'clock for Los Angeles.

In the evening the Governor and Mr. McNab will leave the Alexandria at 7:45, escorted by the Army and Navy League, and others, and will march west on Fourth street to Broadway, thence south to Seventh street, west on Seventh street to Hope, and thence to Simpson Auditorium.

NEW BELL FOR OLD MISSION.

PRESENTATION CEREMONY WILL CLOSE FIESTA.

Note Will Call Faithful to Worship at San Gabriel—Superior of Order of Immaculate Heart of Mexico on Extended Tour, Visits Ancient Church.

El Camino Real Association of Los Angeles has arranged for the presentation of an official bell to the San Gabriel Mission, Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, as a fitting climax to the festival which has been in celebration this week.

The exercises will open with a religious procession after which the presentation address will be delivered by Dr. O. Shepard Barnum, president of the association. Father Felix, Franciscan pastor of the mission, will give a response in Spanish and will bless the gift.

The address of the day will be delivered by former Senator R. F. Del Valle, who will tell of the significance of the gift and the good accomplished by the association. Mrs. A. S. C. Forbes, secretary and chairman of the Bell Committee, has charge of the preliminary arrangements. The bell is to be erected at the door of the mission.

The association has erected eighty-five bells, of which fifty are in Los Angeles county.

PROMINENT PRIEST PRESENT.

An interested spectator at yesterday's festivities of the fiesta at the old San Gabriel Mission, was Rev. Father Ramon Prat, Superior of the Order of the Immaculate Heart, at Mexico City. The father is on a tour of the churches under the charge of priests of his order, throughout Old Mexico, Texas and Southern California. He has, he says, a total enrollment of nearly 1000 priests, the majority being in Old Mexico. He will remain throughout the fiesta and will return home next Monday.

He expressed himself as highly pleased with the recent improvements at San Gabriel Mission and declared that the building and restoration fund is worthy of the charitable donations of all Catholics, and generally of that part of the public which appreciates the true historical spirit and is happy to help perpetuate the ancient landmarks.

Hereafter in connection with San Gabriel Mission, a handsome chapel will be thrown open to the general public. It has not yet been dedicated, and is, in the meantime, used for part of the present garden party and fiesta. The chapel resounded last night with merry Spanish songs, and pretty girls in the vivid colors lent gayety to the scene.

The entertainment has many picturesque features, not the least of which are the charming Spanish dances by young misses of the parish dressed in the national Spanish colors, red and yellow. These pretty young girls, with their bright smiles, their happy voices and their clashing tambourines, made the attraction of the night.

In the evening, huge bonfires were kindled, here and there throughout the spacious grounds, and types of early Mexicans, resplendent in bright sashes and serapes, wandered about, surrounded by tourists.

Father Felix Zumarraga, the resident priest, with five assistants, is receiving the congratulations of visitors on the fine pastor's residence, now nearing completion. The new structure is in the Spanish type, with miniature bell towers, graceful arched verandas, and pleasing lines. The building, with other improvements, carried out durin~ the past summer, will cost the parish $15,000. The bazaar is for the purpose of raising funds to meet the cost.

GLITTERING COLORS.

On the wide piazzas of the new parochial residence, the various booths have been grouped. Here bevies of pretty girls, the coming and going of the merry crowds, and the brave stir incident to a festival, show kaleidoscopic color effects.

A special street car service makes it easy for town folk to take a spin out there, in the early evening, see the booths and enjoy the laughter and spirit of the occasion.

The minstrel troupe of the Knights of Columbus, Los Angeles Council, gave a special entertainment last night. The endmen were: Charles

New Men on Wagons of Ice and Cold Storage Company Giving Best of Service.

Patrons of the Los Angeles Ice and Cold Storage Company are now served with ice by new men on nearly all the wagons, and the service is prompt and satisfactory.

Manager McKinney said last night that there is no evidence whatever about the establishment that there has been a strike, and that their customers are being cared for as well as they ever were by the labor-union strikers. All the wagons are in service as usual and the strike is a forgotten incident.

Several days ago there was a disposition on the part of the strikers to interfere with the new men, but they have given that up. As one of the wagons stopped in front of a saloon to deliver ice, two strikers rushed out of the door and approached the wagon, but, discovering one of Paul Blair's detectives on the seat, hastily disappeared in the saloon, like whipped curs. Detectives were on a number of the wagons and there were several incidents of this kind, but the strikers now realise that their cause is lost and their jobs as well.

MEDICAL BOARD ON THE TROT!

TOMORROW'S MEETING AUGURS WELL FOR STUDENTS.

Applicants Who Were Turned Down at Former Examination May Get Chance to Try Again—Indications That Pressure from Various Sources Will Cause Change.

Medical circles of California are looking this way on account of the meeting of the State Board of Medical Examiners here tomorrow to deal with the charges of "flunking" applicants for medical licenses in August at the San Francisco examination. The outcome is interesting to every doctor in California.

The meeting was called by President Dougall, of this city, and Secretary Tisdale of Alameda, and it is understood that about thirty graduates, four-fifths from the schools of Southern California, will make application to have the board review their markings by the examiners. Of these, it is believed, about a score have hope of success.

The hopeful class includes a large number whose aggregate marking was 59, which left them just one point under the passing aggregate, 60, and which is taken to mean an intended "flunking" for the purpose of aggrandizing Cooper Medical College, San Francisco, as has been alleged by those demanding review by the board.

That the grants will be made without a furore is believed to be due to the investigation of individual members of the board since the original revolt against Cooper College's alleged domination of the examinations.

In this, too, the aggressiveness of Guy Barham, of Los Angeles, whose brother, Frank Barham, was among those "flunked" on unimportant questions at the San Francisco examination, has a great deal of influence. Barham, it is understood, has accumulated many affidavits that support the applicants for reinstatement for examination. It is said he has threatened, if the board does not surrender, to take the fight to the Legislature and seek the repeal of the present law creating the medical board and regulating licensing.

Even if Barham does not appeal to the solons at Sacramento, there are others ready to do so, and Earl Rogers, who has been retained by many of those who were "flunked," says he will prepare a new law meeting broader ideas of control, no matter how the present situation resolves itself.

The meeting of the board will be held at the Normal School.

LITTLE MIX-UP IN COMMONERS OF AMERICA.

Oakland Agent Attaches Money in Bank and Officers of Order Have Warrant Issued for His Arrest on Charge of Embezzlement—Organization Is Prosperous.

Dispatches from San Francisco state that W. W. Babcock, agent for the Commoners of America, a Los Angeles fraternal insurance organization, has attached the funds of the organization at San Francisco for $400. He is quoted as saying that the organization is in financial difficulties. Babcock alleges that the Commoners owe him $150 for a month's salary.

The Commoners have headquarters in the Delta building, and J. Allison Galbraith is Supreme President, and Thomas Wilkes is Secretary. The directorate includes several wealthy men of this city and San Francisco, and one of them, R. F. Burnham of Los Angeles, is Treasurer.

Mr. Wilkes said last night that Babcock had attached the office in San Francisco, but that the attachment had been released. In addition, he said a warrant had been issued in Oakland yesterday for Babcock's arrest for embezzlement, and that word was received last night that he had been arrested.

"In September," said Mr. Wilkes, "we discovered that Babcock, who was the agent at Oakland, had misused some of the funds collected by him. September 15 I dismissed him, but he refused to accept dismissal until it was pronounced by Mr. Galbraith, who returned from the East only a short time ago. His attachment was to get salary amounting to $150 for the month succeeding his dismissal.

"We have been investigating his business, and find that he is over $300 short in his accounts. We did not cause his arrest until we were sure of our facts, and the investigation was slow.

"The organization is in excellent financial condition, and will not be affected by Babcock's action at all. It is about 2 years old, has 8000 members, and is in a highly prosperous condition."

Babcock asserts that the organization has been guilty of frauds, but Secretary Wilkes denies this, and says such accusations only carry out threats Babcock made in letters to him. He says the case against Babcock will be pressed.

BOGUS CUPIDS UNDER A BAN.

False God Must Stop Nipping Luckless Lovers.

Case of a "Lonely Blonde" Gets Into Court.

Federal Authorities After Heart Smashers.

Marriage bureaus in Los Angeles and elsewhere in this district are under the ban of the Federal authorities and an investigation of so-called matrimonial clubs is under way. It is expected that evidence will develop at the trial of Mrs. Margaret Reholt in the United States District Court, November 8, that will furnish a basis for further prosecutions.

The woman is charged with using the mails for fraudulent purposes and, though she was arrested at Fresno while about to cleverly hook a victim, her operations extended as far south as San Diego and north to Portland, Or., it is asserted.

The investigation made in this district by postal inspectors is in line with the recent policy of the Department of Justice to get after the swindlers who play upon the passions and credulity of men and women by means of cleverly worded matrimonial advertisements.

GUILELESS RANCHER STUNG.

The principal witness against Mrs. Reholt is W. H. Hiber, a guileless sugar beet grower of Laurel, Mont. He not only wrote her numerous love letters, but, it is asserted, sent her $75 to pay her fare to Laurel. He supposed her to be single, and many letters addressed to her under her assumed name of Miss Margaret Walder were confiscated by the postal authorities, following the woman's arrest at Fresno.

According to the evidence of the government, Mrs. Reholt placed an attractively-worded advertisement in several matrimonial papers and had her mail addressed to various cities in this vicinity.

She described herself as "a warm-hearted, slender blonde, lonely and eager to meet an honest man who would take good care of her." In return for the gift of his name, she promised "a life-long devotion and affection that would brighten the home of bachelor or widower and make him bless the day he met her."

Soon "Miss Margaret Walder" was swamped with correspondence and scores of bashful young men and elderly widowers poured their inmost feelings to this supposedly lonely little girl in the Far West.

It is the theory of the prosecution that the astute young woman carefully sifted the correspondence and only replied to those "meaning business." It is apparent from many of the replies, it is claimed, that she suggested they send her enough money with which to purchase a modest bridal trousseau and procure a railroad ticket to the home of the expectant groom-elect.

MANY LOST ARDOR.

At the trial, it is probable it will develop that most of the correspondents lost their ardor when they learned that it would cost approximately $100 to get their darling within reach of their yearning arms.

But Hiber, owner of a fine Montana ranch, was made of sterner stuff, and he never "welched" when the demand came for money. According to the story told Sheriff Chittenden of Fresno, this swain forwarded $115 by money order at various times and in varying amounts. Then he sat down and waited for her appearance at Laurel.

After many east-bound trains had come and gone, the rancher lost patience and sent her a curt letter in which he demanded that either she take the next train or send back his money.

SWAIN SAVED BY LUCK.

While the authorities are ignoring a part of the woman's case for lack of sufficient evidence, it is understood that the "break" which finally tripped up the fair schemer occurred in Fresno last September.

Sheriff Chittenden was notified of the fact that a check for $13,000, given by "W. R. Johnson," of Guthrie City, Okla., in payment for a ranch, had been returned as fraudulent. The Oklahoma bank stated that, while it had an account in the name of "W. R. Johnson, Jr.," it had none for the Johnson without the "Jr." The investigation which followed disclosed the probable scheme of the woman, and showed "Johnson" to be straight, though slightly credulous. He had forgotten to sign his full name to his check and saved $13,000.

When arrested, it is stated that the fair prisoner asserted she was about to journey eastward, but as she is a married woman, the postal authorities believe they have a clear case of using the mails fraudulently, as she could not complete her part of the bargain without committing bigamy.

OTHERS THREATENED.

As most of the business of matrimonial agencies is conducted through correspondence, the inspectors expect to put a decided damper on the operations of all such swindling concerns in this district. And all who advertise in matrimonial papers with the evident purpose of victimizing their prospective life partners can be arrested, whenever a complaint is made by one of the "suckers." So far as known, there are no matrimonial papers published in this city, but it is believed that many female sharpers are plying their illegal business in Los Angeles and other cities in this part of the State.

SAFE PROVES SAFE.

Robbers Fail to Get into Strong Box. Petty Thieves Make Small Haul.

An unsuccessful attempt at safe-cracking and two small thefts were reported to the police yesterday. The Sanitary Container Company's office at No. 865 Alameda street were entered Tuesday night, and the combination of the safe was broken off. An attempt to punch the combination failed, nothing was taken.

H. A. Bingham, No. 501 East Seventh street, reported that a thief had broken his desk and stolen 25 cents and a few small articles.

Wong Ching, No. 248 West Eighteenth street, reported the loss of a watch and $1 from his pockets.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

More petitions have been filed with the City Council for amendments to the city charter and for ordinances, and the petition craze may develop into a continuous performance.

A charge of threats to kill, preferred by Mrs. Frances Baird against her husband, Dr. A. P. Baird, was dismissed by Justice Summerfield after he had examined Baird yesterday.

Fred J. Hinchliff was granted $150 judgment by Judge Monroe yesterday, in Hinchliffe's suit against Gambill and Brown, Vernon, for $451 alleged due for services.

On grounds of desertion, Judge Conrey yesterday granted Mrs. Louise Platt a divorce from Francis Platt.

AT THE CITY HALL.

PETITION FLOOD AT HIGH MARK.

ORDINANCES AND AMENDMENTS TO CITY CHARTER.

Reformers Busy and Council Will Soon Have to Decide About Special or Regular Elections—Signatures Are Many and May Roll in as a Continuous Performance.

At the rate petitions are being filed by the Municipal League to amend its original petition for the submission of charter amendments, enough names will be added by tomorrow noon to insure 15 per cent. valid signatures of the voters of Los Angeles. Already twenty-three supplementary petitions, each containing fifty names, have been filed with the City Clerk, and others are to be filed today or tomorrow. As the original petition was deficient only 1112 names the new names already filed exceed the number required by the Constitution, but it is understood twice the number needed will be filed.

And if a new verification fails to show enough valid signatures there is nothing, according to the reformers, to prevent a continuance of the effort to get new names and eventually bind the Council to either call a special election at once or defer action to a regular city election. For the reformers seem to know that the City Attorney will hold that the power to amend a defective petition is continuous and unlimited because the Constitution says "whenever 15 per cent. of the voters" submit a petition, etc.

So any old time the reformers get an equivalent in names to 15 per cent. they will be complying with the Constitution, and will obligate the taxpayers to bear the expense of a special election, if this is deemed necessary by the Council. The tactics are showing the wonderful elasticity of the referendum provision. Incidentally, the reformers seem to enjoy the confidence of the City Attorney, though he has not yet intimated what his answer to the Council will be to the question: "May a petition filed under the Constitution be amended?" As he is in Washington and may not be home for ten days or more the Council will probably be the last to learn of the answer.

"Whenever" as used in the Constitution is taken to mean a continuous performance permit.

The dance-hall referendum is also ready for the Council on Monday next, as the City Clerk has certified. The referendum petition has enough valid signatures, he finds, and the dance-hall ordinance must be repealed, a special election ordered, or action deferred to a regular election. In either case the ordinance would be suspended. On the action taken by the Council will depend the fate of an initiative petition, for Rev. W. F. Inland, who is leading the opposition to the dance-hall interests, says the Council will be asked to repeal the existing ordinance. Then, in case the Council repeals, an initiative petition for a new drastic measure will be submitted to the Council, which will be in force pending another special election.

Fire Force Changes.

The Board of Fire Commissioners yesterday declined to accept the resignation of Hoseman L. F. Coleman, which was presented, after Coleman had been cited for infractions of the rules. Because he refused to answer the citation on charges the board dismissed him. Howard H. Bell, who was appointed a week ago, did not report for work and his place was filled by the appointment of Archie J. Gamble.

New Dog Provisions.

A meeting of the special committee of the Council, composed of Councilmen Lyon, Blanchard and Dromgold, to consider a new wdog ordinance, will probably be held today to receive a proposal from the Los Angeles Humane Society. This society is expected to offer to handle the entire dog-catching proposition from a humane standpoint under a contract with the city, and the committee intends to give serious consideration to the offer before making a report to the Council. Some report, however, will be made at Monday's meeting.

SUPREME COURT BUSY.

Railway Franchise Nullifies Appeal Case—Important Decision in Irrigation Case Looked for.

A number of cases were submitted in Department One yesterday in the State Supreme Court and an early adjournment was taken until this morning. The appeal in the case of the city of Los Angeles as inst the Los Angeles-Pacific Railway Company, was dismissed on motion of Attorney Pope, counsel for the railroad. The case concerned the controversy over the laying of the third rail on Hill and Sixteenth streets. As the railroad has, since the filing of the suit, secured a franchise, the appeal was without force.

The case of N. P. Stowell, a Los Angeles capitalist, against the Rialto Irrigation Company, was submitted on briefs. The plaintiff lost his suit in the Superior Court of San Bernardino county, but hopes to win in the higher tribunal. He sought to recover compensation for building a series of canals for the old Semi-Tropic Land and Water Company. According to his contract he received coupons of the irrigation district bonds as pay, but was unable to collect on them, it being held that an irrigation district cannot pay for labor in its bonds.

The plaintiff, however, maintains that as he turned over completed sections of the canals to the company, that it would come under the head of labor performed. It is stated that the Supreme Court will be called upon to decide some new phases of the irrigation law and the Wright act.

TROUBLE FOR HOTEL MAN.

Arthur Jenner, proprietor of Hotel Eureka, No. 242½ South Main street, was arrested yesterday on the charge of failing to keep his register in a proper manner. Oker and Barlow, the arresting officers stated that he neglected to place the room number opposite the names of occupants.

CHASED HUBBY WITH HAMMER.

DR. BAIRD TELLS COURT OF HIS DOMESTIC TROUBLES.

"Wife Needed a Spanking Weekly," Says Physician Arrested by His Better Half—Wife Asserts That Husband Threatened to Kill Her and Wants Court Protection.

Dr. A. P. Baird's firm convictions on the proper education of a wife by spanking her weekly, and Mrs. Frances Baird's frank opinion of her husband's unworthiness, as told him through a closed door of her Compton home on the evening of October 15, were repeated before a large audience in Justice Summerfield's court yesterday. Baird was being examined on a charge of threats to kill made by his wife.

Baird, who is a physician in the International Bank Building, produced a large glass vase, and a cobblestone as evidence of Mrs. Baird's prowess before he separated from her last March after twenty-one years of married life.

"She began quarreling with me three days after our marriage," he said, "and I can produce witnesses to prove that she has always been on such bad terms with our neighbors wherever we have lived that we have never been able to live in the same house more than three months at the longest. When I left her I gave her everything that I had, and she promised me that she would trouble me no longer. She drove my nurses away from the house, threatened to kill me, and chased me with this vase, a hammer and a stone, until I had to thrust her out doors and lock myself in.

"Even after I had left her all I had to avoid publicity and trouble, she followed me up with a suit for maintenance. In response to a letter from her lawyer asking for money for her support, I called to see her that evening. I made my voice as near as I could to that of a woman friend of hers, but she detected it through the door, jumped out of bed, ordered me away and wouldn't talk to me.

WANTED TO SPANK HER.

"Then I told her she was a spoiled child. I thought she had been improperly brought up by her parents. The one thing I regretted was that while I was living with her I had not corrected the defects in her education by licking her weekly until she had learned to live properly with her neighbors. I told her that my brother is a better Christian than I am, and if she had only married him she would never have had to be licked by him more than once.

CALLED HIM "DIRTY SCOT."

"She told me I was a dirty Scotchman and that I could never get a chance to live with her again, and that she would not let me in the house. She would not have a peaceable talk about our affairs so I left. I never threatened to kill her, but I am sorry that while we lived together I did not give her a weekly licking to correct the faults of her early education."

"He talked like a woman, but he didn't deceive, for I knew his voice," said Mrs. Baird. "All that I earned from dressmaking for years went to his medical education. He did threaten to kill me and said he thought there was a man in the house. He wanted to come in, but I wouldn't let him in. I will never let him in. And I will never live with him again."

On the motion of Deputy District-Attorney McCartney, Justice Summerfield dismissed the charge against Baird, as both he and his wife promised that in future they will hold their conversations over a telephone.

SLEPT TOO WELL.

CARTER WAS CHASED AWAY.

Problems in swill hauling, duck farming, hog raising, contracts and sleeping over time, veiled in a gauzy network of profanity and hard feeling, occupied Judge Monroe's attention all day yesterday at the trial of Fred J. Hinchliffe's suit against Gambill and Brown, Vernon hog farmers and duck raisers, for $451 alleged due for services as their man of all work.

"I went to work for them in October, 1906, for board, lodging, some clothing, $5 a month, and a third interest in 125 ducks," said Hinchliffe. "I was going to leave in October, 1907, but they promised me $450 if I would stay on till last June. But in February, Brown chased me off the place with a stick and I got nothing. They found fault sometimes, because I didn't get up just when they called me for my meals or to hitch up my team at night."

"He was in debt to us after we cleaned up on the duck deal," testified Brown. "He was morose, sullen, impudent, didn't come promptly to meals, let me do part of his work and slept overtime when he ought to have been on his way to Los Angeles for swill. My partner, Miss Gambill, was greatly vexed by the way he kept meals waiting, and his lack of respect for her. I chased him away because he slept too much and called me vile names when I woke him up."

The plaintiff was awarded $150 by the court.

On grounds of desertion in October, 1905, Mrs. Louisa Platt, for twenty-two years a Los Angeles resident, was granted a divorce by Judge Conrey yesterday from Francis Platt, a Civil War veteran, whom she married in Utica, N. Y., in 1872.

"For over a year before he left me, he threatened to go to the desert, where he said he intended to live alone," said Mrs. Platt. "During the last ten years of our life together he drank up all we had, interesting himself in various mining propositions that brought in nothing. Finally one day he said he was going and he went. He said I would never hear from him again and that he was going into the desert and live by himself, as he liked solitude. I suspect, however, that he is now an inmate of the Soldiers' Home at Sawtelle."

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

WANTS HEAVY DAMAGES. J. Garfield Clarke yesterday filed three individual suits for $10,000 damages each, against Constable Frank P. Cochran, Justice H. C. Rogers of Balboa township, and A. R. Merriman, alleging false imprisonment at their hands. The plaintiff asserts that he was imprisoned one day as the result of a complaint issued by Rogers and sworn to by Merriman, charging him falsely with having mortgaged to Merriman the furnishings of the Hotel de Novo, Venice, when I did not own them. He states that at his examination on this felony charge, he was exonerated and the complaint dismissed.

FALSE IMPRISONMENT. Austin Lane yesterday filed in the Superior Court a $10,000 damage suit for alleged false imprisonment against Policemen W. W. Glenn and W. L. Stevens, whom he charges with having without right imprisoned him one day in the City Jail on October 16.

WORTHLESS CHECK. A complaint charging A. M. Beardsley with having issued a worthless $25 check on the Bank of Hollywood was issued by the District Attorney yesterday on complaint of G. W. Van Ache of the Occidental Hotel.

MISDEMEANORS. Vest Thompson gave $25 bail in Justice Summerfield's court yesterday for appearance Saturday to answer to E. W. Van Horne's charge that, during an altercation at Hollywood, October 16, Thompson struck him over the head with a lantern, necessitating six stitches in the gash.

ASSAULT. John Gates, a negro who pleaded guilty to assault with a deadly weapon on Charles Johnson, another negro, August 4, during a drunken fight, was admitted to three years' parole by Judge Jamison yesterday on the District Attorney's recomendation.

EMBEZZLEMENT. George Olds, charged jointly with Will Boydston, with the embezzlement of a horse from Boydston's father, T. A. Boydston, gave $1000 bail in Justice Summerfield's court yesterday, pending his examination, to be set later. Olds asserts that Boydston asked him to help sell the horse to Frank Johnson, the complainant, and he did so, being informed that the transaction was with the consent of the elder Boydston.

FELONY. W. E. Shaughnessy, accused of felonious assault on Lena Moot at Long Beach last August, will be tried again on this charge in Judge Wilbur's court, November 22, as the jury in his case was unable to agree.

CHARGE DISMISSED. For want of evidence, Justice Summerfield, at the District Attorney's request, yesterday dismissed a felony charge of unlawful cohabitation lodged against George De Troost by his wife, Mrs. G. De Troost of San Francisco.

ASSAULT. As the result of a fight, yesterday noon, between Charles S. Hunter, a plumber's apprentice, and Joseph R. Scott, a negro foreman, engaged on the Federal building, Scott was arrested and examined by Justice Summerfield on a charge of assault, as it was shown that he had cut a gash in Hunter's scalp with a shovel. The court dismissed the charge. The testimony of both men showed that they became involved in a quarrel over the use of cement on the fourth floor of the building. While Scott raised a shovel, Hunter armed himself with a hammer and the men rushed at each other before they could be separated by fellow workmen.

DOUBLE TROUBLE.

Druggist to Be Tried for Disturbing Peace and for Carrying Concealed Weapons.

William J. Lalonde, a druggist, was arraigned before Justice Austin yesterday for disturbing the peace and for carrying concealed weapons. He will be tried today. The complaining witness in the peace disturbance case is A. R. Dorr, who married the divorced wife of Lalonde. On Tuesday last Lalonde quarreled with Mrs. Dorr and her husband, and was arrested late in the evening. He was released on depositing $25 bail.

Before midnight, Lalonde was arrested again on the charge of being drunk. When he was searched, a revolver was found on him and a charge of carrying concealed weapons was made. According to the officers Lalonde said he bought the gun to use on Dorr.

Woman's Heavy Sentence.

Lizzie Williams was sentenced to 100 days in the City Jail on a charge of vagrancy, by Justice Austin yesterday. This is the heaviest sentence for this offense opposed in Police Court for some time. The woman is said to have stolen a scarf pin from a partially intoxicated man.

CHURCHLY HELP.

CLERGYMEN ARE ASKED TO AID.

TO BOOM "HOME PRODUCTS SUNDAY," LATEST MOVE.

Chamber of Commerce Has Now Called on Ministers, Actors and Native Sons and Daughters to Get in the Game and Help Boost "Prosperity Week."

"Home Products Sunday" in the churches is the latest preliminary step of the Chamber of Commerce toward making "Prosperity Week" a record-breaking beneficense for Southern California.

The Executive Committee of "Prosperity Week" yesterday voted unanimously to send a letter to every clergyman in Los Angeles asking them to observe "Home Products Sunday" by speaking of the vital importance to the well-being of the people of this movement.

In addition to this, a letter was sent to every one of the political candidates and speakers now touring Southern California and speaking to crowds nightly, asking him in the name of the Chamber of Commerce and of "Prosperity" to forget partisan politics long enough to mention "home products" and urge their importance to the people of all classes. Actors at various theaters likewise have been invited to "get in the game" and tell their hearers to "buy and boost home products."

The Native Sons and Native Daughters of the Golden West are expected to do valiant service in the cause of "passing the word along" and booming native goods. Secretary Wiggins yesterday addressed a letter to every parlor of Native Sons and Native Daughters in Southern California, asking their aid in the project.

TWO MILES OF FLOATS.

The Executive Committee, by unanimous vote, approved the report and rules of the Parade Committee, of which F. J. Zeehandelaar is chairman, setting the date for the great "Industrial Pageant" for Wednesday, November 18. The final date for entries to the "Home Products Parade" is November 5, but Mr. Zeehandelaar stated that it will greatly facilitate the preparations if manufacturers will notify him at once regarding their intended participation and the character of their exhibits.

"Even if the parade is made compact as possible, a comprehensive showing of our manufacturers cannot be made with less than two miles of floats and wagons, which would take an hour to pass a given point," said Chairman Zeehandelaar. "We therefor desire that the exhibitors make their entries 'quality' rather than 'quantity' so that the public may not be wearied and the parade may be kept intact."

The parade will assemble in the north end of the city and the line of march probably will exclude Main street entirely, because of the congestion of street cars. The route is not yet decided upon, but it is proposed that it extend into the residence section, traversing Spring street from the Plaza to Tenth street, hence west to Figueroa street, back to Broadway on Seventh street, and on Broadway from Seventh to First street. There will be a dozen divisions, each showing a distinct classification of "home products," and a band for each division.

PARADE RULES.

Here are the most important rules adopted:

All participants will be allowed to distribute packages of samples of their manufactured articles, but no literature will be permitted to be distributed.

Participants will be allowed to attach to their display, banners or advertising matter stating the scope and extent of the articles manufactured by each exhibitor.

On the day of the parade, all entries are requested to be on hand at the time and place designated. Failures to report promptly to the Master of Entries will be considered sufficient to place the exhibitor at the rear of the parade.

The committees shall have the right to reject exhibits, whenever in their opinion, these do not come within the scope of the "Made in Southern California" product.

It is the desire of the Parade Committee to regulate, as far as possible, the use of automobiles and auto-trucks in the parade, for the reason that the automobile division will lead the entire parade, and the vehicles drawn by horses will be unable to keep up.

BUTTONS FOR ALL.

The buttons having the official slogan "Buy and Boost Home Products," will be distributed to the public on Monday, November 16, from a score of mercantile establishments throughout the city. It is possible that arrangements may be made for the giving of one button to every school boy and girl in Los Angeles. In all, 100,000 buttons will be issued.

The school children may be given an opportunity to join in the parade. One teacher yesterday notified Secretary Wiggins that a company of little girls desire to march in the parade, attired in white and taking the formation of the word "Boost." It was suggested that other companies be formed into the other words and make the slogan, "Buy and Boost Home Products," in living letters of school children a city block long.

"The people should understand, and particularly the manufacturers, that this 'Prosperity Week,' is for their benefit, and not for the Chamber of Commerce," declared Secretary Wiggins. "It is a case of 'help yourself.' Nobody need waste our time and theirs by sending long-winded excuses for not participating. We are simply putting it up to the people to do themselves and the whole community good."

HONORS FORMER JUDGE.

In honor of his uncle, former Superior Court Judge Y. Sepulveda of Mexico City, Deputy Sheriff Bert Rico last evening gave a formal Spanish dinner at his residence, No. 1385 East Forty-seventh street. Among the guests present were Deputy District Attorney G. Ray Horton, Sheriff Hammel, Dr. F. G. Shurlieff, Police Captain Bradish and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Rico. During dinner the guests were serenaded, after the Spanish custom, by Misses Rosita and Louisa Villa and Hernando and Noah Villa. Old Spanish songs familiar to former Judge Sepulveda during his residence in Los Angeles twenty-five years ago, were especially selected in his honor. He returns to Mexico City next Saturday.

Cudahy Ranch

Seven Months' Progress

It was only seven months ago when the Cudahy Ranch was first offered to home seekers. The pumping plant had just been completed, the water mains were not in, the streets had not been made, no homes started. But to those who knew good soil and who appreciated the conditions prevailing there, the Cudahy Ranch was the best proposition of its kind on the market.

Today the Ranch is a compact colony of country home places, with oiled streets, telephones and many other conveniences. Three hundred and twenty-eight acres have been sold to about one hundred and twenty buyers. Over forty houses have been completed. Fully ninety per cent. of the buyers have purchased with the idea of making the Cudahy Ranch their home.

You can make money on the Cudahy Ranch raising Fruit, Garden Truck, Poultry, etc. Buy an acre or more now at from $400 to $500 an acre. The water goes with the land. Whittier cars run every half hour morning and evening and hourly during the day. Go down and see the Ranch. It is only twenty minutes away. Call at my office for free transportation.

GOLD DUST goes after dirt with a "big stick" and does all cleaning quicker and more thoroughly than soap or any other cleanser

GOLD DUST is more than soap—does more than soap. Soap merely cleans, GOLD DUST gets under the surface, kills every germ, washes out every impurity and sterilizes everything it touches. It is a sanitary cleanser and saves the housewife the toil of rubbing and scrubbing.

Other cleansers make you show what you're made of.

GOLD DUST shows what it's made of.

TAFT AND SHERMAN.

For President. For Vice-President.

Editorial Pen Points

The world has grown so cynical that it no longer believes a man is wise just because he looks that way.

It will be a whole lot better for the peace of Europe when there is an end to these balks in the Balkans.

We take it, of course, that Senator Knox was violating no confidence in giving the letter out for publication.

That's a cheery note that comes from No. 26 Broadway, in regard to the pending dividends, isn't it?

The correspondence feature of the campaign having been again resumed, the battle will smoke up once more.

It will now be in order for Mr. Bryan to write a letter to Gumshoe Bill Stone or some other Democratic Senator.

After this thing is over, Br'er Bryan will likely think up some real enemy and present him with the Democratic party.

Just to prove that the fight is still on, the dispatches state that an effort is being made to blow up the powder trust.

It is getting to be that when the Evening Express appears on the streets the public holds its nose in order to shut out the stench.

As a warning to bachelors, it may be stated that only one man who remained a bachelor ever became President of the United States.

There is now every indication that about two-thirds of the people of the United States are prepared to throw Sinbad Bryan off.

If Gov. Johnson can't win this time he is out of the race for the Presidency. He is running against a man who eats pie with a knife.

The surprise is that King Peter's throne has lasted as long as it has, with the blood of Draga crying from her grave for vengeance.

We suppose Col. Roosevelt thought that Senator Knox might as well be the medium for handing out the latest batch of knocks as any other man.

The Duke of the Abruzzi is reported en route for America, traveling incognito. Just as though he won't be spotted the first rattle out of the box!

It would really pay Sam Gompers to sit down and think a little before he answers the Roosevelt-Knox letter, but it isn't likely that he will do so.

A Montana man who was warming himself at a stove forgot that he had a stick of dynamite in his pocket. That's all; there is no more to the story.

A correspondent asks us to give the name of the man who is the candidate against Uncle Joe Cannon. Never mind; in a few days it will not matter.

One of the happy fictions of the present campaign is that the people of one State are led to think that ginger is plentiful in all the other States.

A traveler states that the Balkans abound in snakes eight feet long. It is evidently a country that offers a large field for the prohibition movement.

It ought to be enough for the decent men of the State of New York to know that Thomas F. Ryan and all the lower-down gamblers are against Gov. Hughes.

One of the pleasantest sights of the autumn in California of the South is a wagonload of purple grapes pursuing its odorous way from the suburbs into town.

Ginger tea with a dash of brandy in it is now a favorite drink with tired society women. It looks to us like a combination that ought to at least revive the conversation.

Being a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, Mr. Roosevelt doubtless feels that he has a right to throw a few chunks into a walking delegate if he cares to do so.

The little brown man is certainly holding out the glad hand. He acts as though he means it, and why should any one outside of Hobson and "Red" Hayes say to the contrary?

The Ohio River is so shrunken that a man can wade across it into Kentucky. In doing so, however, he probably takes the same risk that he took when he had to row across in a boat.

New York City tobacconists report a daily increase of 5000 boxes in the sale of cigars. That's something like a campaign. Out here there might as well be nobody running for office.

San Salvador is reported prosperous under President Figueroa. San Salvador showed good judgment in choosing for President a man named after one of the handsomest streets in Los Angeles.

It will not be a question of where John D. Rockefeller, Jr., got it, but the question will be what in the world can he do with so much of it after he falls heir and the stuff still keeps piling up on him?

ROOSEVELT'S WHACK AT GOMPERS.

It is inspiriting to those who have fought the battles of industrial freedom to see a President of the United States get out in the open and deal a giant's blows at the monstrous doctrines of destructive labor-unionism—the doctrines of the boycott and class legislation—as Mr. Roosevelt has done in his notable thumping of sore-headed Sam Gompers.

The whole philosophy of fair play and equal rights in business is summed up in this characterization of the unholy alliance of Gompers and Bryan for the encouragement of turmoil and lawlessness—this, by the President:

"Mr. Gompers, now Mr. Bryan's open and avowed ally, has, in the matter quoted, attacked the Federal courts in unmeasured terms of reproach because, by a long line of decisions, the equity courts have refused to make an outlaw of the business man; because his right to carry on a lawful business under the peace of the law has been protected by the process of injunction; because, in a word, one of the most vital and most fundamental rights of the business world, the right of a business man to carry on his business, has been sustained and not denied by the processes of the courts of equity. This sweeping attack of Mr. Gompers upon the judiciary has been made in a frank and open effort to secure votes for Mr. Bryan."

The President shows in his vigorous letter—the best of his stirring series in this campaign—that Gompers does not want equality, does not want a square deal, does not want even-handed justice for high and low, rich and poor. What he demands, and what Bryan is virtually pledged to concede to him, is the exemption of labor-union boycotters and ruffians from the operation of the laws regulating other combinations; the nullification of the power of the courts to preserve peace when Gompers's blood-stained gang would break it; and the practical surrender of the reins of government to a secret organization of vicious conspirators, who would destroy business and fatten upon the spoils.

How can any level-headed business man, be his business large or small, be he the owner of a great factory or the proprietor of a cobbler's stall, vote for Bryan with Gompers's mortgage upon him? Let Bryan answer this question by the President of the United States before he asks any lover of liberty to vote for him—this question put by the keen and fearless Roosevelt:

"Does Mr. Bryan agree with Mr. Gompers that all existing legal restraint on the enforcement of every degree of the boycott should be withdrawn; that the industrial excommunication of the innocent merchant who refuses to render unquestioned obedience to the orders of Mr. Gompers, should be legalized and encouraged?"

THE WEST!

The title "The West" is an expansive term. Seventy-five years ago it meant all west of the Alleghanies; fifty years ago all west of Lake Erie. Now it means all west of the Mississippi River. Two weeks ago about 1000 business men from more than twenty States and two Territories met in San Francisco to discuss the varied interests of this vast expanse of country. Delegates were there, too, from Alaska, and even from the Hawaiian Islands and the Philippines. The Times gave its readers very full reports of what was done in the Trans-Mississippi Commercial Congress. Those who read carefully the reports must have received information—and inspiration.

The region west of the Mississippi embraces broadly half the territory of the United States. To get a line which would divide the country equally in population, we would be obliged to go far east of the river, and the line which would divide the country equally as to wealth would take us still farther to the East. Massachusetts is a close network of railroads; her cities and towns crowd closely upon one another. Nevada has two lines of railroad in the State, and only as many towns of any note. In all the trans-Mississippi country, railrads are far between, and only half a dozen large cities exist.

To put it differently, the country east of the Mississippi is well developed, that west only slightly developed. East, every avenue of enterprise is crowded with competition; West, there is limitless elbow-room and a multitude of untrod avenues for enterprise. Farms east of the river must be bought at high prices; west are millions of acres of raw lands to be had at a few "quarters" per acre. Banks, factories, stores of all grades and kinds fill all the cities of the East; in the West capital is needed, brains are at a premium, and brawn is never idle excepting when it is lazy. A single example: Millions, hundreds of millions of dollars of risks in life insurance are written in the West and the premiums paid yearly are enormous. Of this business, 98 per cent. is done by eastern companies, organized with eastern money. Only 2 per cent. is done by western companies organized with western capital. It is true the eastern companies loan the money they receive here, or invest it largely. But this only makes the West more deeply indebted to the East.

In the West is where all the metallic wealth of the country is produced. Here the meats which feed our people grow; here the great grain farmers produce the bread of the country. In this great West progress must be continuous and rapid. The railroads must be extended, new lines built, more equipment provided, more operators hired and paid. Here the government is spending millions reclaiming the arid lands, and here the surplus wealth of the East is seeking opportunities to be invested. In this western country new banks must be opened, new mines worked, new towns built, new places of business organized. Into this great West must flow surplus population, swelling the volume of business in all lines.

Into this new country, where elbow-room is so wide and opportunities are so many, is the place for young men of enterprise and ability to come and "grow up with the country." That was Horace Greeley's advice to young men half a century ago. Then the West meant Chicago, and those who followed the advice became statesmen, great business men, bankers, manufacturers, millionaires and men of note in many ways. Those who now hear the call of the West will be the great men of twenty-five years hence. Whatever may take place east of the Mississippi, there must be progress west of the stream. The movement will be rapid. The West has never been held back, never will be. Business has grown faster than the railroads. Building more railroads will open up more territory and create more business. The progress of the West is an endless chain. Think of the growth of the United States since the twentieth century opened. It is a mere index of what the whole century is to witness. The men who are here now will have opportunity to grow; those who come will have plenty of room. When the first quarter of the century shall come to an end, the West will be a different thing from what it is today; and when the middle of the century shall arrive, the West will dominate the East.

Come West to the big, broad, progressive, growing West, and partake of its breadth, progress and growth!

TWO WORDS TO THE UNWISE.

We find here and there voters who, mistaking quietness for apathy on the part of their neighbors, think there is nothing at stake in the national election. You hear these citizens say: "Bryan has pluck. He has been persistent. Give him a 'try.'" You hear them say: "It will not make a bit of difference to you or me who is elected." They say: "Mr. Bryan cannot destroy this country, Mr. Taft cannot make it great." Or they say: "There is no issue, nothing at stake; both parties stand for about the same things, and the candidates are both good men." If a contrast is made between Mr. Taft, the great executive man of affairs, and Mr. Bryan, the eloquent formulator of phrases, the objection is raised that Mr. Lincoln was as much lacking in experience as Mr. Bryan.

Let us take these propositions in reverse order.

Abraham Lincoln was not elected because he had no experience. The election of 1860 turned on principles, not men. No citizen in America could have had experience in the unheard-of situation which Mr. Lincoln had to face. Finally, Mr. Lincoln was born with a genius for such an emergency, or was filled with the spirit of the Almighty Ruler of nations, as you may look at it.

Both parties do not stand for the same things. The Republican party stands for a safe, tried, well-thought-out policy in regard to the currency and to banking laws. Mr. Bryan is as unsound, as visionary, as much at sea in finance today as he was twelve years ago. Both parties stand for tariff revision. But the Republicans will revise the tariff and not destroy the protective features thereof. The Democratic party will revise it so as to destroy this feature. They will demand a "horizontal decrease" after the uneconomic views of the late Mr. Morrison of Illinois, or as absolute an approach to free trade as possible if Mr. Bryan's views prevail. The Republican party stands for a free, untrammeled judiciary. The Democratic party would put the shackles upon the courts.

Here are three fundamental propositions, the most important to the country, to every citizen in the country, on which the parties differ in a radical way.

It may be true that both candidates are men of conscience and integrity. So far as known or believed, Mr. Bryan never cheated a man out of a dollar. But while he could not destroy this country, he could and would, if elected, greatly retard its material progress. With Mr. Bryan in the Presidency, his followers in the House and the Senate (many of them men of the least possible experience in business, and with the wildest, crudest notions upon business affairs) will keep up an incessant din, crusade and agitation for wild schemes which they call reforms. The Senate will block dangerous legislation, it is true, but legislative stagnation and turmoil in the legislative branches of the government would mark the four years of Democratic ascendency.

Mr. Taft cannot make this country great, it is true. God has done that, and His handiwork stands sure. But Mr. Taft, with a Republican Congress, can pass a new tariff law in sixty days, can bring about necessary legislation for waterways, harbors, public buildings, and all the great multitude of matters which make for prosperity.

Give Mr. Bryan a "try" because he has shown inordinate ambition to be President? Do you mean that? Eugene Debs has been as persistent. We have just one thought for you to consider. Besides the reflection that such a view is taking too great a risk for too small a reason, remember that the next President will fix for years to come the temperament and largely the decisions of the Supreme Court. He will appoint a Chief Justice and four associates. Think of Mr. Bryan's following, of the temper and character of his advisers. Reflect on the power Samuel Gompers would bring to bear on him.

With these possibilities in view, vote your convictions, take no chances, do not permit indifference to guide your hand. There have not been two elections in our history when more was at stake than there is today.

SLOW TO WAKE UP.

Some newspapers are slow to wake up. It took about ten libel suits to start them at the work of exposure and purification begun by The Times early in the present year—as agreeably demonstrated by recently published facsimiles from the Times' pages. With the zeal of new converts these amateurs are now nauseating the public by overdoing the thing. For years The Times, with due regard for the facts and the proprieties, has presented the actual conditions as to violations of law and of Police Commission rules, not vaporing with hearsay and generalities, but giving time, place, date and circumstance, street, number, building, floor and room. Now, after they have been prodded into it, little imitators are reveling in daily doses of "tenderloin." Too late and too much! The grand jury is attending to the matter now, and there is no need of further exhibit of our municipal sores to jealous outsiders, of needlessly befouling our own nest. The time for talk passed long ago. Action is what the public wants—and what it will get from Dist.-Atty Fredericks and the grand jury. These gentlemen will do their duty; and if we mistake not, there will be a day of reckoning for faithless officials, if the evidence pins aught of offense upon them. Let nobody be damned by "woolly" clamor alone—but let no really guilty man escape.

"WHEN AN IRRESISTIBLE IMPULSE STRIKES AN IMMOVABLE OBSTACLE---WHAT?"

HEARST FOR ANARCHY IN NEVADA.

At the risk of treating the Hearst joke party too seriously, attention should be directed to its shameless stand for anarchy in Nevada. The horrors of the days when the infamous I.W.W. ruled are still green in the memory of every one. That there was no such thing as protection of life, property or the natural rights of man when either that vile organization or the equally criminal Western Federation of Miners chose to take action against any one objectionable to them, Hearst and his party associates know well. They know well how the horrors of Cripple Creek were spared Goldfield only by the President sending Federal troops there and forcing the State authorities to create an efficient police force.

From day to day the local organ of anarchy, conducted by Hearst, is publishing attacks upon the State of Nevada for having at last shown some sense of decency and a desire to maintain a civilized government. Repeal of the police law, restoration of the awful conditions that prevailed prior to its enactment is the principal plank of the so-called Independence League in Nevada. It has gathered under its banner the vile outcasts who preyed upon society, the creatures like Preston, the condemned murderer, nominated for the Presidency by another party a little lower, perhaps, in the scale than Hearst's aggregation. Such people do not want a State police, or any police, Sheriff or constable whom they are not sure they can control, or who will not connive at their crimes. The inmates of San Quentin and Folsom and of any other penitentiary will, no doubt, indorse the Hearst platform, too.

Lest some good but misguided people be led astray, Hearst's vile policies should be placed before the public in their hideousness, not because there is a remote chance that he will elect his fake ticket in the nation, but it will be a shame and scandal if he elects so much as a constable.

BUSINESS WAITS ON VOTERS.

Mr. Bryan is naturally but illogically indignant because business men are free in their statements that they are waiting until after election before they decide what their course will be. It is a disagreeable thing for a candidate to find himself regarded in such a light. But he is not justified in an ill-tempered tirade in which he compares business men who hold such views with horse thieves and malefactors of all classes.

It is a fact that Mr. Bryan is looked upon as a grave menace to business. He and his followers are welcome to think otherwise. He and they may sincerely think free trade would help our industrial conditions. It is their privilege so to think. But they must accord the rest of us the privilege to do our own thinking in the premises and steer our political and business craft accordingly. To fly off the handle and scold about it is to do a childish act, and to tell us we are mistaken is begging the question.

Herein lies the whole crux of the campaign. It is not the moral law that is at stake. Mr. Bryan thinks (or says he thinks) free trade will make more for our prosperity than tariff protection. Republicans think otherwise. Note that not a Democrat in all California will dare say Mr. Bryan is right when he calls tariff protection highway robbery. Not one of them will dare say he would if elected vote to remove or even lower the duty on any product of California.

If we think free trade would do to our industries in 1910 what it did in 1894, why should we not move with due caution until we are sure Mr. Bryan will not be entrusted with the reins of government? We do think so, and thinking so, we are waiting. Go where you will, you hear men say they will not do anything in the way of new undertakings until after the election. Architects have plans in their offices ready to submit for bids the day Judge Taft's election is assured, but to be laid upon the shelf if Mr. Bryan wins the fight. Builders have contracts made out ready to sign on the same conditions, or to be torn up. Railroads are waiting to order new rolling stock or motive power, to start new lines, to resume work on rehabilitating old lines.

So long as we differ so widely in our views such hesitancy is inevitable.

Look at it from another standpoint. It is true that all those who thus hesitate are against Mr. Bryan. Their action will be as they say. Would any man abstain from gainful pursuits for a whim or prejudice? No. This is honest, deep-seated conviction. It is true no Democrats say they will draw back from any undertaking if Mr. Taft wins. Think of that. Is it not significant that Mr. Bryan's followers entertain no such misgivings as to Republican government as Republicans do as to Democratic domination?

Read what Samuel Gompers says as to the election of Mr. Bryan. Remember a President will fix the Supreme Court for years. Will any one say it makes no difference? Place before you the men who stand for Mr. Bryan: Charles Murphy, Patrick McCarren, Haskell, and all the visionary, revolutionary element of the country. Do you wish to have Sam Gompers's influence felt in the naming of a majority of the Supreme Court? You are a member of some organization. Honest! Do you wish to see laws passed and courts so constituted that the turbulent spirits of your own organization can get out of the reach of law when they wish to plunge into a strike, into arson and murder? Is not that? Do you think such unjust conditions will prevail and the industries in which you are interested living go on? Do you not know that such a course? Will not your employers close their establishments and leave you idle and in want?

Business is waiting on the election, and rightly. It is natural and rational that it should be. Mr. Bryan's election and the putting into effect of his policies will not affect business in the slightest. Republicans are wrong, are incapable of managing children and fools.

HOROSCOPE.

Friday, October 23, 1908
BY ZOROTTA.

Against disputes the ominous planets rule. Hot power comes now to the disputants.

The sun enters the sign of Scorpio this day.

The 28-day-old moon is in conjunction with Venus is in sextile with Neptune. The moon opposes Saturn and is in square with Jupiter.

An evil aspect looms over disputes, showing that even slight misunderstandings may grow into fierce and long quarrels.

Shopping, especially for articles of personal or domestic use, is under a good sign.

Those who are born between this date and the end of the month are under the sign of Scorpio, ruled by Mars. These signs govern those of producing determined and commanding nature, inclined to sternness and impatient of check. Scorpio-born generally are restless and energetic, pushing on to new ambitious projects and into new hazards of fortune. They are usually powerful and dare attempt anything to accomplish the plan.

Women with this birthdate will do well to avoid a vexatious and acrimonious social quarrel.

Legal disputes or entanglements in which suits threaten men with this birthdate should submit their judgment to be overcome by considerations.

The sign over children born today is one of various designs and hot, wayward minds. They will be likely to fret under the restraints of the conventions of life. Boys will probably be headstrong whatever they undertake.

MUSIC AND THE STAGE.

Hazel Kopta, Bohemian violinist, was heard in recital last evening at the Auditorium, and presented a programme that was greatly appreciated by a fair-sized audience.

Assisting Mr. Kopta were two artists of exceptional ability—Mrs. Nuncie Bittman, a contralto possessing a voice of much dramatic power and quality, combined with an interpretation that left little to be desired, and shared the honors of the evening with Mrs. Kopta. Mrs. M. Hennion Robinson at the piano was also a delight, and gave excellent satisfaction both in ensemble numbers in which she appeared with Mr. Kopta and in her accompaniment of Mrs. Bittman.

Mr. Kopta's playing was a delight, the first number "Suite for Violin and Piano" by Sinding, in three movements: (a) presto; (b) adagio; (c) allegro, displaying his perfect mastery of the most intricate passages in pure tone, perfect technique and interpretation were certainly that of a virtuoso. He was also heard in a group of six solos by various composers: Beethoven's Adante con Variazioni from "The Kreutzer Sonata," Wieniawski, and Paganini's "Second Concerto." As encores Kopta rendered Dvorak's from "Hongrois Cardas," by Schubert and Schumann's "Evening Star."

Mrs. Bittman's numbers were "Lend Me Your Aid," from "Samson and Delilah," and Allitsen's "King Dunstan's Daughters." She also rendered delightfully "Tears at the Spring," Lohr's "Since We Parted," (Allitsen) and "Thy Beaming Eyes," by MacFadyen.

It seems quite probable that on his next eastern trip David Warfield will produce an elaborate revival of "The Music Master."

Manager Stoltz said last night that Leo Klein, author of "The Music Master," is now quietly at work revising the character actor's earlier success, and that when he has finished it will be a piece of comedy-drama to rank with Warfield's air-ship in more recent years.

Despite his entire western tour there were repeated demands for "The Music Master," not from persons accustomed to a low-comedy form of entertainment, but from the best class of theatergoers. Mr. Warfield hopes to return to the West some time next season, and it may be expected that the character of "Auctioneer" will hold an important place in his repertoire.

The last performance of "The Music Master" was given last night at the Belasco Theater. Tonight the Warfield company will present "A Grand Army Man," which will remain the bill for the concluding performances of the engagement, today and tomorrow.

This afternoon, commencing promptly at 2 o'clock, the Theatrical Mechanical association will present its annual benefit performance. The affair will take place at the Auditorium, and the programme is a variety show of one hour long, embracing turns, vaudeville specialties or excerpts of acts from every theater in the city. The benefit is for the relief fund of the association, and, as usual, it is expected that there will be large patronage.

The Jinx Club gave its regular Friday dinner and musicale Wednesday evening, and a representative gathering of the musical fraternity enjoyed the banquet and programme.

RAILROAD NOTES.

The Southern Pacific is making a change in the telephone system of handling and dispatching trains with a view to adopting it. During the past year over 6000 miles of railroad have been placed under telephone operation, nearly all of which is on single tracks, both single and double, and it has been concluded that the movements have been expedited and the train dispatcher's duties lessened.

Frank Brits of Washington, a son-in-law of Luther M. Fairbanks, brother of ex-President Fairbanks, and formerly private secretary of William J. Bryan, has, during a visit to this city, concluded arrangements for the construction of a railroad 200 miles long in the republic. Mr. Brits is acting for Luther Fairbanks, who has a railroad, mineral, banking and other concessions in Honduras from President Miguel Davila, who will place the matter before Congress for ratification.

The Arizona & Southern Railway Company is the only road of any size in the whole country that made a decrease in net earnings from July 1, 1907, to October, 1908. The statement issued covers the period of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1908, and from that date the weekly and monthly reports show the same ratio of decrease over a similar period last year. The Southern Pacific, after years of trial, the cafe dining car has become a permanent institution. At present there are 83 cafe cars in use in the service of the steam and electric lines of the United States, and this number will from now on be increased. The Pennsylvania Railroad has 175 cars, the New York Central Lines, 135; the Chicago & Northwestern, 3; Illinois Central, 12; Southern Pacific, 12; New York, New Haven & Hartford, 11; Pullman Company, 1; Wagner Palace Car Company, 50; New York Central, 40; Metropolitan Railway of Chicago, 1; Philadelphia & Reading, 8, and Boston Elevated, 4.

The Santa Fe Central Railroad has placed orders for a million dollars' worth of freight cars in order to handle the business when it gets started in the South.

The Southern Pacific is soon to provide the Overland Limited, with Pullman sleeping cars, with a dining car, to carry professors and specialists from the University of California and Stanford University to deliver lectures to the fruit growers, orchardists and vineyardists. Similar successful trips have been made in Nebraska and elsewhere by the railroad lines. The idea is to educate producers to greater ASK BAIL FOR TSCHAIKOVSKY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 22.—An appeal has been issued to the sympathizers of Nicholas Tschaikovsky in England and America by those who signed the petition for his release to Premier Stolypin, asking them to assist in raising the bail of $25,000 demanded by the authorities and which the family has been unable to furnish, unassisted. Tschaikovsky has been in confinement in this city for nearly one year, and he will be returned to the fortress tomorrow unless this bail is deposited. His friends fear the effect of this disappointment upon the aged prisoner, who has been led to expect his immediate release.

Aristocratic Neckwear

Real lace is immensely popular this fall, and nothing gives such a note of elegance to a gown as a bit of it.

We've an exceptionally good showing here of real lace neckwear; and the Irish crochet is the real imported Irish lace, not the American-made knitted lace, which tries to imitate the Irish, but which cannot approach its delicate beauty of mesh nor richness of design.
Irish lace collars, Directoire ties, jabots, stocks and sets; Cluny laces in like articles; all in the fashionable new shapes.
The famous Keiser tailored neckwear we carry in wide diversity.
Among ruchings, the new made-up Queen Anne ruches, $1.50 to $5, in pink, light blue, cream, white, brown and black, are exceedingly smart; Directoire collars, in double ruch style, at 50c to $2, are likewise very good, and inexpensive.
Elaborate affairs of gold and silver, forming Directoire necklaces; gold, jet, steel and combination beads in gold and colors; braids, cords, etc., are 75c to $3.50.

Lounging and Bath Robes and House Coats for Men

It is to our common advantage to have you select your Christmas gifts as early as possible. To that end we have succeeded in getting in stock already practically the whole of our holiday assortments of men's lounging, bath and house robes.

And though there are literally dozens and dozens of patterns, there are only three garments of any one pattern, which insures exclusiveness and also high quality. Smoking jackets, lounging robes, bath robes and house coats are here in all sizes, and in neat, quiet patterns which will meet with the approval of men of critical tastes; from $3.50 to $35 each.

Long Black Broadcloth Coats $25.00

Tapestry Pillow Tops 50c

If we had paid full price for these pretty tapestry pillow tops, we couldn't sell them for less than seventy-five cents; but they came to us under value, and we give you the benefit of the purchase:

Tapestry Pillow tops, in rich patterns at..... 50c

Drawnwork Linens Lowered

Little you care that we haven't every size in these very good linen drawn-work pieces, if you can find something that pleases you; but that is the only reason why they should be re-priced today:

EVENTS IN LOCAL SOCIETY.

THE beautiful home of Mrs. J. Ross Clark of No. 710 West Adams street, was a mass of bright blossoms yesterday afternoon. The occasion was a large and fashionable tea with which Mrs. Clark and her daughter, Mrs. Henry Carlton Lee, entertained in compliment to Mrs. W. A. Clark, Jr. The reception-room, which is furnished in Louis XIV style, was made most attractive with large clusters of pink roses. In the hall a profusion of yellow chrysanthemums were used. The dining-room was especially artistic. A handsome lace cloth over green satin adorned the table in the center of which rested a large silver basket filled with American beauty roses. Silver candlesticks, with silver and green shades, completed the pretty effect. The breakfast-room was also a work of art. Here a Venetian lace cloth over pink satin covered the table, and for the centerpiece a basket of Cecil Brunner roses was chosen. Four candlesticks, with pink flower shades, brightened the room. American Beauty roses arranged in tall vases decorated the library, and pink and white cosmos were banked in the den.

Mrs. Clark and her daughter were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Adna R. Chaffee, Mrs. Stephen C. Hubbell, Mrs. M. A. Briggs. Among those who graced the occasion were Mrs. Dan McFarland, Mrs. William E. Ramsey, Mrs. Edward Kellam, Mrs. Cameron E. Thom, Mrs. Michael J. Connell, Mrs. Milo M. Potter, Mrs. Frederick Wann, Mrs. Hugh Livingston Macneil, Mrs. Louis Ramsey, Mrs. Charles C. Carpenter, Mrs. Leo Chandler, Mrs. Earnest A. Bryant, Mrs. Robert A. Rowan, Miss Elizabeth Wolters, Miss Helen Chaffee, Miss Molly Adelia Brown, Miss Louise Burke, Miss Lucy Clark, Miss Clara Carpenter, Miss Jane Campbell, Miss Anita Abascal, Mrs. William S. Quietly Wedded.

Miss Rose Neahr, daughter of Mrs. Harriette Neahr of No. 6425 Ruby street, was quietly married last evening to George Rice, Jr., a prominent business man of this city. The service was read in the presence of relatives only at the home of the young couple, No. 329 South Second street, Alhambra, Rev. Montgomery of the Congregational Church, of that city, officiating. The bride who was attended by Miss Dimple Brown, wore a gown of soft white silk, lace trimmed, and carried white chrysanthemums. I. H. Rice assisted as best man. The home was fragrant with shell pink carnations which were mingled with yellow chrysanthemums. No cards were issued for the affair.

Church Wedding Ornate.

Wednesday evening in The Church of the Good Shepherd, Ocean Park, occurred an interesting wedding. Miss Mary Speer Ruff of Ocean Park was united in marriage with Harold Gustave Feraud, purchasing agent of the Los Angeles-Pacific Company. The ceremony was performed by the rector, Rev. Alfred R. Taylor, in the presence of about 200 guests. The church was canopied with smilax and white carnations, from which peeped numerous tiny electric bulbs. At each pew was fastened a bouquet of bride roses. The chancel was a mass of greenery and at each end large palms and other potted plants were placed. Mrs. Robert G. Loucks of this city, attired in a gown of dotted white directoire satin and carrying a bouquet of pink roses, assisted as matron. George Hollis Clark of Los Angeles, was best man. The bride wore a handsome gown of white satin, elaborately trimmed with point lace. Her veil was fastened with orange blossoms and she carried a shower of lilies of the valley and maiden-hair fern.

A special musical programme was presented by friends of the bride and groom. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Kathryn G. Ruff. After the service supper was served to relatives Charlotte Leland, Miss Helen Stewart and Miss Bertha Taylor.

BRIGHT WOMAN WANTED.

"Sunset Magazine" Will Send One Who Can Talk Well to the Inauguration.

A bright young woman who can talk intelligently about the many advantages of this State can have a free trip to Washington, D. C., and return for the asking. Secretary F. J. Zeehandelaar of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association received a communication from Sunset Magazine, yesterday, asking him to recommend some young lady of his acquaintance who would care to take the trip. Any one interested can obtain all details from him and file her application for a reservation.

A special train under the direction of the Southern Pacific Company will leave this city the latter part of February over the Sunset route to New Orleans. After visiting points of interest there, the journey will be continued to the capital, arriving there in season for the inauguration. The return trip will include visits at Philadelphia, Niagara Falls and other points.

The railroad will furnish free transportation, berths in the standard Pullmans, hotel bills and dining-car meals. Those taking the trip will only have to pay their personal expenses. An experienced chaperon will accompany the party. And the principal requisite, according to Secretary Zeehandelaar, is that the young woman be able to talk fluently!

ALLEE SAME CHICAGO FIRE.

The winery and barn of Albert Rambard at No. 2225 Medford street were destroyed last night by fire, resulting from the explosion of a lantern, which was overturned accidentally. The loss on the building is estimated at $1000, while the damage to the contents was placed at $500. The property was insured.

The fire started in the barn, where an employé was feeding several head of horses. The hay was ignited by the explosion, and it was with some difficulty that the animals were saved. The flames spread to the winery, resulting in its destruction.

MESSAGE FROM KING.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Congratulations by cable from King Edward added distinction to the bicentennial of St. Andrew's Protestant Episcopal Church of Richmond, Staten Island. The telegram read:

"To the Bishop of New York: I am commanded by the King, to express his gratification for the tribute you are paying to his ancestor, Queen Anne, and the hope that the same Providence that has followed St. Andrew's Church

Letters from President Roosevelt and the presiding bishop, expressing regret at the inability of the writers to be present, and containing prayers for the future welfare of St. Andrews, were read.

The church was chartered by Queen Anne of England, in 1708, having been established for six years prior to this as a missionary church. The original communion service, altar cloth and Bible, installed in the church at its organization, are still used in the service.

Following an address by Bishop Greer, two tablets in honor of Queen Anne and the original twelve founders of the church were unveiled.

everyone can find time to find fault, and, paradoxical as it may seem, it is possible to find fault where there is no fault to be found. It would be a paradoxical effort, for example, to find fault with Christopher's candies, and yet no doubt there are people who will find fault with their harps and halos. I do not profess to have any monopoly of candy wisdom. I am not a professional judge of good candy, but I know bad candy when I run across it. One thing I can say of the Christopher's sweetmeats bazaar is that I never ran across anything there that aroused even a slight suspicion of its quality. To think of Christopher's is to think of purity in sweets.

I am getting to be a regular slave to those toasted marshmallows.

Priests will conduct services before the altar, where sit the most sacred images of the gods. Prayers will be offered up three times a day. There will be much feasting and singing. The instruments of the Chinese orchestras will whine and shriek through the narrow little streets, and the rumble and roar of the tomtoms, gongs and cocoanut drums will mingle with the shrill cries of the happy feasters.

Feuds, tong wars, private arguments and business difficulties will be put aside during the observance of the feast. Great gods of paper have been constructed, and guard the entrance to the temple on North Los Angeles street. Visitors are not welcome at this temple, and the Chinese will have guards to keep white people out. On the third day of the feast the priests, dressed in their gayest costumes, will go to one of the local parks and there strew money and sweet cakes upon the waters of the lake as an offering to the great spirits, while doves will be released as an offering to the lords of the air.

It is the belief of the Chinese that once every three years the spirits of those who have recently died pass on from the graves to the gates of the first of the seven heavens.

The released spirit is besieged by the thousands of evil spirits and devils who try to prevent its entry, and only the good will of the clean spirits will insure the safe arrival of the newcomers. To that end the good spirits must be wooed and won, and prayer papers will be burned by the thousands, while the punk sticks perfume the air, and the solemn chant of the priests will come from the altar rugs within the temples.

"You'd find me rather tough," said the old lady, laboriously beginning to ascend the stairs. "You'd better have a slice off Miss Forde, who is young and tender; but she is starving, too! She threw all her lunch out of the window to some dogs!"

"Come, I'll show you your rooms," said Doña Luisa, preceding Hester with the activity of a girl of 20. "Laura, you are in your old quarters. Miss Forde, you are in here," and, opening a tall door off a corridor on the first gallery, she ushered her guest into a large and lofty chamber, furnished like a drawing-room. Here were thick carpets and curtains, sofas, a great chandelier suspended over a central table, armchairs, mirrors, pictures; behind a screen was a piled-up pillowed bed and an immense armoir, and on a little table that English welcome, a vase of fresh flowers.

Hester felt almost lost in the great apartment; the distances were vast; it was a walk from the wardrobe to the door, from the window to the dressing table. When she had made a hurried toilet, she opened the door into the gallery, and, leaning over the marble balustrades, looked up at the stars above, then down on the patio below, where, reflected in the water, they twinkled like diamonds. The court, with its marble pavement and fountain, palms, climbing jessadine, and sweet orange flowers, seemed like the interior of some fairy palace.

"Come along, come along!" said Mrs. Tudor, suddenly joining her and taking her arm. "It's fine, is it not? This was once the old palace of the Arevalos. Now, mind you don't let me fall on the marble! Supper is downstairs."

Supper proved a pleasant meal, well served and well cooked. To Hester the only strange dish was a delicious "Dulce de Azahar," a sweetmeat made of orange flowers; it seemed almost profane to taste it! The long, low room was paneled with gloomy portraits of bearded dark men, and undressed and overjeweled ladies, who had departed this life within the last three centuries.

Doña Luisa had much to say, and more to hear. Capt. Tudor, a tanned little officer, with wide-apart blue eyes and a fair moustache, exerted himself to entertain his aunt's guest. He looked at the heiress with critical attention. She was decidedly good-looking, and had even an air of distinction, now that she was set off by self-confidence and smart clothes, but, although totally unaffected, she seemed to tired and out of spirits. He wondered if she realized, if she even knew, that it was he who had set her life moving—he, Freddy Tudor, who had discovered her wealth to an amazed and incredulous community.

Yes, Hester was aware that she was dull; they talked of Shalesmoor and of the Colsons, and then she really could not think of any other topic. During painful gaps in the conversation, the fountain sounded like falling rain; she could see the palms through the open door, and the stars shining down into the courtyard. It was all so strange, so foreign, and so enchanting.

After supper, coffee and cigarettes were served in the patio. Mrs. Tudor kept Doña Luisa in countenance, and, to Hester's amazement, smoked three cigarettes; and shortly afterward the travelers retired.

The following morning Mrs. Tudor, pleading age and fatigue, dispatched Hester in charge of her nephew to stroll about Cordova and explore the town.

Indeed, Miss Forde was rather glad of the new escort, for he would probably suffer her to loiter and examine things she wished to see, instead of being compelled to stare at objects that had no interest for her, but for her chaperon; and being ruthlessly driven along precisely as Mrs. Tudor pleased, for she was a peremptory and tyrannical cicerone. Besides, the little she had seen of Capt. Tudor she liked; he was agreeable, and very English, the only person she had met abroad that knew Shalesmoor and her surroundings. Not that she loved either, but still it constituted a tie, and she was neither shy nor frightened, but felt at ease in his company.

When the young people had departed on foot the two elders sat themselves down to discuss comfortably the most recent family news, and other engrossing topics—such as wills, money, and marriages.

"And so you have taken this girl under your wing, Laura?" said her sister-in-law. "She seems ladylike, and is striking-looking—but is she not a terrible responsibility?"

"Not at all," replied Mrs. Tudor sharply. "She never gives an atom of trouble or uneasiness."

"I mean her money," rejoined Doña Luisa. "So many thousands—what a fortune for some needy foreigner! Is she impressionable? For here we have several handsome young caballeros of very old family, but without a peseta."

"Oh, well as to that," responded Mrs. Tudor, "there were plenty of poor caballeros in Biarritz! She could have married almost any one, but the girl has set her heart on a most hopeless part—such a handsome, faithless fellow. I name no names."

"No!" exclaimed Doña Luisa, and there was a note of disappointment in her voice. "And why not? To me, at least?"

"Maybe I shall tell you some day! He has behaved abominably, oh, shockingly! And I have just taken this little jaunt to see you for one thing, and to endeavor to put him out of the girl's mind for another."

"Easier said than done, if he is, as you say, so handsome," remarked wise Doña Luisa.

"Her pride is touched," replied Mrs. Tudor; "and though I firmly believe she cares for him, she will never forgive him—never!"

"Laura, my dear," and Doña Luisa suddenly put her fat little beringed hand on her knee, and looked into her eyes—"what a chance for Freddy! It really seems as if Providence had arranged it." A pause. "Freddy will have it all his own way," she resumed. "Such a magnificent opportunity."

"Yes, that is true," assented Mrs. Tudor, after a moment's reflection. "And it is only human nature that you should like to see that quarter of a million in the Tudor family, but I declare to you, Luisa, I never thought of it before. However, Hester Forde is a curious, tenacious sort of girl—she is reserved in some ways, and I dare say is capable of an immortal constancy. I believe it will take her a long time to forget the other—if she ever does!"

"Oh, there is no fear of that!" said Doña Luisa, with conviction, and she suddenly lighted a cigarette. "Freddy"—puff—"is not exactly"—puff—"handsome—but he is well set-up, young, and agreeable. He will be a baronet some day; the title wants money sadly. Laura, you and I must help him. Come, do be sympathetic, and you can do much—you are so clever."

"Cordova in April, with a full moon, has its possibilities," she said; "and a girl is often caught at the rebound; you know that!"

"Yes, indeed, Laura, and I sincerely hope that Freddy will catch Miss Forde."

"It is possible; but if she dreamt for one second that you and I were laying our heads together like this, she would be off tomorrow morning!"

Breathe Hyomei and Kill the Loathsome Catarrh Germs.

Just as long as you have catarrh your nose will itch, your breath will be foul, you will hawk and spit, and you will do other disgusting things because you can't help yourself. The germs of catarrh have got you in their power; they are continually and persistently digging into and irritating the mucous membrane of your nose and throat. They are now making your life miserable; in time they will sap your entire system of its energy, its strength, its vigor and vitality.

If you do not kill the loathsome germs of catarrh, their desperate assaults will in time undermine your reason, rob your brain of its brilliancy and activity, and leave you not only a physical but a mental wreck.

This picture is not overdrawn; the writer has seen thousands of just such cases. He has personally experienced the demoralizing results that come from the ravishing attacks of the horrible catarrh germs, the greatest pest of civilized nations.

But there is one remedy that will kill the germs and cure catarrh, and that is Hyomei, the Australian dry air treatment. There may be other remedies, but they are not guaranteed as the leading druggists will guarantee Hyomei to cure catarrh, or money back. Don't delay this pleasant antiseptic treatment. Every day you allow these germs to exist in your system brings you nearer to complete demoralization. Your druggist will sell you a complete Hyomei outfit for only $1.00. Ask him about it. It is also guaranteed to cure bronchitis, asthma, coughs, colds and hay fever.

Manco Salmon

THE SUPREME FISH FOOD

If you want to know how really delightful "Manco" Salmon is, try a salmon turbot for dinner today—here's the recipe:

One can "Manco" Salmon picked fine, half cup flour mixed to a paste with cold milk; stir one pint of hot milk into flour, add two well beaten eggs, season with salt and cayenne pepper. Put salmon in well buttered dish with lump of butter size of walnut. Bake forty-five minutes in hot oven. Serve with baked potatoes.

This makes a very dainty and substantial relish. Other recipes will be offered from time to time.

But be sure you always use "Manco." It's a rich red salmon, the choicest of all Alaska's pack.

If your grocer hasn't it, he can get it for you. Three sizes—15c or 2 for 25c, 15c straight and 20c cans.

PASADENA.

CHRYSANTHEMUM NOW REIGNS.

QUEENS IT OVER ALL FLOWERS AT CROWN CITY SHOW.

"Common People" Have Their Say as to Why the Tournament of Roses Is not a Success—Presbyterian Synod Reviews Reports for California and Nevada.

Office of The Times, No. 28 S. Raymond Ave.

PASADENA, Oct. 22.—The largest and best flower show ever given by the Pasadena Gardeners' Association was opened in the big garage building at No. 161 West Colorado street yesterday afternoon. The judges did their work before the general public was admitted and there was not a decision that was considered unfair.

Chrysanthemums are the reigning flower of the show as is easily seen when one enters the big inclosure. There are huge blossoms of beautiful formation which measure ten and eleven inches in diameter. Great curly flowers, long wavy petals almost six inches in length and both bright and dull-hued blossoms. Such a splendid and varied assortment of chrysanthemums has never been gathered under one roof in this city before. A. Urquhart has the best display and easily took first in all classes of this exhibit. His great bunch of light cream chrysanthemums was the talk of the show. He is gardener for D. R. Cameron, and each year takes a great interest in the show.

F. S. Allen of Altadena, with a group of twelve "Pink Choets" rose blossoms, took the first honors in roses. The "Tournament of Roses," one of the most novel exhibits of the show, is a grafted stalk on which are seven different varieties of the flower. It is exhibited by Louis Fried, gardener for Clayton G. Garvey.

H. E. Huntington, represented by William Hertrich, his gardener, has a splendid display of water lilies, including the famous Victoria Regina, the largest and most unique of all. This exhibit occupies the central position in the big showroom and is very striking.

A fine collection of plumed cockscomb plants is shown by Rev. W. H. Vornett of Oak Knoll.

H. C. Hurd, represented by his gardener, H. F. Hartman, is well to the front in the dahlia classes and the exhibit is a splendid collection.

In vegetables the chief prize was taken by James MacGillivray, gardener for R. R. Blacker.

TOURNAMENT TATTLE.

Is the Tournament of Roses on New Year's Day for the people of the city or by the people of the city? This question and the way the people answered it had much to do with the recent defeat of the $50,000 bond issue for the improvement of Tournament Park. The common people of the city are dissatisfied with the general tendency of the Tournament of Roses Association to make the fete one to be seen only by the rich and to advertise the city. The voices of the opposition are heard through a communication received from Elizabeth Grinnell, one of the most respected women of the city. She stamps the present association as looking too much toward the financial side of the tournament and not making it a parade for the people. She says in part:

"It is a common saying that our New Year tournament has drifted into the hands and hearts of the rich, who can send far and near for decorators and flowers and think nothing of the bills. There is little evidence of personal taste and talent in the flower decorations. This seems all right from the standpoint of the rich, for they tell us that the whole is 'a means of education to the common people.' Education along the lines of artistic skill in decorations. True, but tournament day is good for a time and not a school day. The old-time, original genius in flower decoration has a charm of its own without a tint of envy, or the shame of comparisons that come with the new day.

"Some one says: 'Why, the common people ought to be glad to have the opportunity given them to see what money and professional skill can do. Let them stand along the gutters and in the upstairs windows and witness the parade.' Oh, friends, the common people want to be in it, not outside it! The pageant passes along. It is true, but the best is reserved for the park and the doors are shut. The common people walk listlessly home and wonder why they couldn't 'get in' with at least 50 cents, all they have left."

Mrs. Grinnell asks how much chance a poor man with a family of six has of seeing the great fete.

THE DIRECTORS' REPLY.

Directors of the Tournament of Roses Association look upon the matter in another light. When they offered the park to the city recently, they saw the opportunity of providing seats for the "common" people which could be purchased at a reasonable rate, the present seating capacity being so small that large prices have to be charged to pay expenses of the day. One of them said recently:

"Truly, the Tournament of Roses is not a parade of sparsely-decorated vehicles of the citizens. It has outgrown that and, with the city, it has builded up a metropolitan atmosphere. Prizes of such size as secure the best decoration possible are offered and this brings in the skill of the decorator and his wonderful harmonious colorings. The parade does more to advertise Pasadena than anything that the city may claim. Other towns have beautiful homes, but they do not put on their streets a rose carnival in midwinter.

"We try to help out the poor people by allowing all the school children who take part in the parade to enter the park free. Any one entering the parade with a creditable entry will be allowed entrance to the park. This gives every one a chance. The Tournament of Roses is for the visitors to California, in the first place, and we gain much by bringing visitors early to this city. In the recent bond election we wished to secure funds by which the park may be improved so that the poor people will have the opportunity of purchasing admission and with it a seat and not be forced to stand in the enclosure and see nothing, as they did last year."

UNIONITES BREAK IN.

Although the directors of the Tournament of Roses refuse to refer to it on account of causing ill-feeling, they have been "advised" by Clarence W. Dean, former president of the Union Labor Day Association, that any improvements that are made to the park "had best be done" by union carpenters and that the printing of the association "had best be done" in local offices which are all under the union rule.

This is one of the reasons, it is believed, that Dean was so anxious to force himself on Frank V. Rider's committee in the campaign for funds for the Tournament Park improvement.

Secretary Johnson has always advertised for bids for the work of the tournament. Last year the local Franklins of the various print shops, worked so well together that local bids were far above those of outside competitors. The directors, wishing to save money, sent the work outside.

This act is one of the reasons why there have been so many "Woolwine murmurings" here about graft in the Tournament of Roses Association.

SHOWS MUCH WORK.

Reports were received at the sessions of the Presbyterian Synod yesterday which spoke well for the work of that body in California and Nevada during the past year. Rev. W. S. Young, in making the treasurer's report, gave the total receipts for the year as $3920.48, while the disbursements were $2712.57, leaving a balance on hand of $1207.91.

Last evening the delegates present, about four hundred in number, were received by the Ladies' Aid Society of the church after an organ recital.

REST FOR TIRED FOLK.

Hush of Peace Will Brood Over the City of Sierra Madre.

SIERRA MADRE, Oct. 22.—This city some time ago passed an ordinance suppressing the noises occasioned by exhausts on pumping plants. It was effective and considerable benefit derived therefrom. It is reported that the city will now go a step further and follow in the wake of eastern cities and European hamlets, which have created committees on useless noises; endeavoring to suppress church bells, venders' gongs, hucksters' cries and the like.

Whether midnight phonographs, moonlight roosters, and Indian yells of mountain climbers will be catalogued in the list of "useless noises" many seekers of rest and quiet would like to know. A request from the city officials some time ago suppressed the tooting of the whistles on the electric cars while passing through the city streets.

BEAUTIES.

Whittier's First Festival Proves so Great a Success That It Has Been Decided to Make It Annual Event. Floral Juvenile Parade Will Be Today's Feature.

WHITTIER, Oct. 22.—Whittier's first flower festival was opened today, and has already proved so great a success that it has practically been decided to make it an annual event. The festival is to last until Saturday night, and while originally planned as only a local affair, it has attracted big crowds. It is given by the Woman's Club. The 120 members of this organization have been working like beavers for the past two months and are naturally more than pleased at the success of their efforts to increase their clubhouse fund.

The skating rink, on North Greenleaf avenue, was ablaze with lights tonight, and every available foot of its wall space was filled with exhibits. Among the classes for which handsome prizes were offered were chrysanthemums, roses and carnations, ferns and potted plants, citrus and nursery stock of various kinds, fruits and vegetables and canned fruit and jellies. There was keen rivalry in many of these classes, and many fine exhibits were made. Especially is this true of chrysanthemums, which are entered in many colors and varieties.

Among the special exhibitors whose entries have attracted attention, that of the State School easily leads. Fine, big cases displaying the work of the pupils in all the departments are seen, one of beautiful needlework, by the inmates of the girls' department, being especially worthy. Other cases of work from the printing office and the tailor, carpenter and blacksmith shops, the bakery, and the farm of the institution are shown.

BABY QUEEN.

Tomorrow, which is to be the big day of the festival, will have as its principal feature a baby show, with a floral juvenile parade. This will be presided over by little Lillian Crossen of East Whittier, who was chosen "Queen of the Baby Show" by a popular voting contest. The little queen will be surrounded by a court of pretty little girls, and beside presiding over the parade, will distribute the handsome prizes which are offered in the baby show.

Among the prize-winning entries today were magnificent "Good Gracious" chrysanthemums, by Mrs. Chapman of Rivera. A "comparative" exhibit of the same blossoms showing them "as they were" in the old days, small and ragged; "as they are" in many gardens today, handsome and of good size; and "as they can be," mammoth and perfect from the fanciers' point of view, was included in the exhibit of Capt. Carl E. Artwedson, florist at the State School. This exhibitor showed hundreds of magnificent blooms, many of which would be prize winners in a city flower show. They are not entered for competition, but to increase the interest in this magnificent blossom.

At the rear of the hall the club women have fitted up a little restaurant with many of the aspects of a Japanese tea garden, and dispense light refreshments to a goodly number. A fortune-telling booth, a home-made candy department and a big assortment of jellies and canned goods are also attractive departments. The work of the festival is in charge of the Ways and Means Committee of the club, headed by Mrs. L. J. Stanley, and the baby show is under the guidance of Mrs. Harry Webster.

GUESSING.

BLAME IS PUT UPON COCHRANE.

LONG BEACH POLICE THINK HE LURED GOLD SEEKERS.

Man Whose Companion Reported Him Drowned in Surf Is Believed to Be Mysterious Dupont—Official of Big Steel Corporation Investigates Conditions.

LONG BEACH, Oct. 22.—The police believe that the mysterious Dupont, who lured a treasure party down into the wilds of Honduras some weeks ago, was none other than Emmet Cochrane, who disappeared September 13, and whose companion, Charles Williams, reported him drowned in the surf. Subsequent developments indicated that Cochrane had an object in disappearing, and was in reality connected with smuggling Chinese and opium into this country. It is known that Cochrane was at the Hollenbeck Hotel during July and August, and that he received mail from Central America. Clough and Rockwell, two of the treasure-hunters formerly lived here.

STEEL MAN INVESTIGATES.

For several days an official of a big steel corporation in the East has been in the city investigating conditions, chiefly the facilities for electric power and supplies. Upon his report is said to depend the purchase of a site on the inner harbor and the erection of a big steel plant, employing nearly 1000 men.

EEL SCRAPES PAINT OFF.

When Capt. Billy Graves pulled up his lobster traps this morning, and among its contents emptied out a five-foot lamprey eel, he at once had trouble on his hands. The eel threshed about furiously in the bottom of the boat, scarring the timbers. Graves attempted to gaff it and the eel tried to bite him. It wrapped itself about a lobster and crushed it to pulp. Finally it was stunned by a well directed blow, but was still alive when brought to the wharf.

Downey High School has refused to submit any new subjects for the approaching debate with Long Beach and the local debaters are up against two hard subjects. One of the questions submitted bears upon the employment of women in shops, displacing men, and the other is as to whether the Southern States were justified in secession.

GET CAKE AND CIGARS.

Burglars broke into the Eastwood grocery at Seventh street and Alamitos avenue last night by cutting open a screen. They stole several hundred cigars and some package cakes. The police think it the work of small boys.

One hundred and twenty-five former residents of Chautauqua county, N. Y., were the guests today of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Hall, at a picnic dinner served on the lower deck of the auditorium. After the dinner, speeches were made by President Hoag, and Secretary Langdon of Los Angeles.

QUIZ POSTPONED.

The meeting of the Board of Education called for this morning to consider charges preferred against Prof. Abbott of unwarranted abuse of two boys, was not attended by all the members and adjournment was taken until Saturday. J. C. Kintzler, father of the boys, sought to have a warrant issued for Abbott's arrest this afternoon, but was not successful.

UP-TO-DATE.

POMONA TO GET NEW APPARATUS.

FIRE DEPARTMENT WILL HAVE AUTOMOBILE ENGINE.

Trustees Authorize City Clerk to Call for Bids—Plans for New City Stables Also Adopted—Hotel Will Carry Liquor License Case to the Supreme Court.

POMONA, Oct. 22. — The Trustees have instructed City Clerk Trotter to advertise for bids on an automobile truck with fifty-horse-power engine, 120-inch wheel base, thirty-six-inch wheels and capable of carrying a weight of 3000 pounds at a speed of thirty-five miles per hour, for the use of the local fire department. This action is the result of a report of the Board of Fire Wardens recommending such a purchase. The bids must be submitted within thirty days. The truck will be a combination chemical engine and hose automobile, and it will be put to use here as soon as possible. Plans for new city stables prepared by Architect Davis have been adopted by the Trustees. The plans provide for a building well suited to the needs of the city team department, and call for an expenditure of approximately $5800.

STATE STUDY.

The landmarks section of the Pomona Ebell Club, which has commenced the season's sessions, will confine its study to California throughout the year. Mmes. F. H. Hyatt, H. K. White and F. D. Crank of the Program Committee have arranged an attractive series, taking up a study of the California Indians, their history, arts and crafts, myths, songs and dances and customs; a consideration of old California forts and noted California peaks; a study of the cañons and islands of the State, and its flora and fauna. A considerable time will be spent upon San Francisco and environs, and there will be a study of Bret Harte.

FINE BUILDING SITE.

Mrs. Nancy A. Varner has purchased the lot at the northwest corner of Laurel avenue and Huntington boulevard, in the Ganesha Park tract, for $1000, through the J. A. Fitch agency. This is a fine building site.

DENIES APPLICATION.

The action of the Trustees in denying a license to M. Brock, of the Pacific, now the New Commercial Hotel, to serve malt and vinous liquors with meals at his hotel, under the provisions of ordinance No. 216, is sustained by Judge Rordwell of the Superior Court, who has denied the application of Mr. Brock, made through his attorney, W. L. Hamlin, for an order demanding that the Trustees grant the license.

The hotel people have been given the right to appeal and the right to amend the petition for the writ of mandate. The case will probably be carried to the Supreme Court.

Mrs. E. E. Armour of North Main street is entertaining Mrs. Geraldine E. Frisbie of Palo Alto, counselor of the W.R.C., who is making a tour of inspection and instruction among the various corps in this locality. Mrs. Armour is president of the local corps.

Dr. and Mrs. J. Edwin MacGowan left yesterday for a two weeks' outing at Elsinore and Warner Springs, going there in their automobile.

E. R. Ford, who has come here from Fullerton to reside, has bought a lot from James Harker on East Chicago avenue, and will build a house there at once.

BUYS ORANGE GROVE.

Mrs. Mary L. Schmidt has sold her three-acre orange grove, with house and barn, on Olive avenue, in the Kingsley tract, to A. G. Ball for a reported consideration of $5500, through the agency of E. E. Gillen & Co. Mr. Ball will make his home on the property.

A pleasant reception was given at Trinity Methodist Church last evening by the members of the congregation in honor of the new pastor, Rev. Dr. A. W. Lamport, and his family, who have come here from Pasadena.

Mrs. J. C. Clancy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Hawkins, has gone to Tucson, Ariz., for a visit of several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Griffin, son and daughter, have arrived from Decatur, Ill., to make their home here. Mrs. Griffin is a sister of Mrs. A. E. Dennis.

ON PLEASURE TRIP.

Mrs. J. F. Watson is entertaining her sister, Mrs. A. J. Hancock, of Sweetwater, Tex., who is in Southern California with her husband on a pleasure trip.

The wedding of Miss Grace Link, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Link, of South Whote avenue occurred yesterday at the family home, the groom being John A. Naftel, and the officiating clergyman Rev. L. D. Van Arman of the First Methodist Church. Mr. and Mrs. Naftel have gone on a honeymoon trip to the beaches, and upon their return will make their home on North San Antonio avenue.

Oscar L. Overholtzer has bought twenty acres of vacant orange land on East Holt avenue, near the Monte vista school, through the agency of Crabb & Co.

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Paige of Billings, Mont., are expected to arrive here soon to spend the winter with their son, J. M. Paige.

Mrs. Jane Stormont of Salem, Ill., is the guest of her cousin, Mrs. J. C. Stormont, of No. 1005 West Fifth avenue.

ATTEND RECEPTION.

Mrs. Henry Greenwood Tinsley attended the reception tendered by the women of the Friday Morning Club to David Warfield at the Women's Club House, Los Angeles, yesterday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Walcott and family are home from a trip to Missouri. While away, Mr. Walcott attended the conference of California Fruit Exchange agents at Kansas City.

VENICE DAMAGE SUITS.

VENICE, Oct. 22.—The recent Hotel de Novo trouble, which has kept the courts busy for several days, has resulted in the bringing of three damage suits, wherein Garfield Clarke, proprietor of the erstwhile hostelry, seeks to have his injuries salved to the extent of a trifle more than $30,000. One suit, for $10,000, is brought against A. R. Merriman, upon whose complaint Clarke was originally arrested for the alleged mortgaging of property not owned by him. Clarke was acquitted on this charge. Another suit for $10,250 is against Justice of the Peace Rogers, for false imprisonment. Rogers issued the warrant upon which Clarke was arrested. The third suit for $10,000 is against Constable Cochrane of Los Angeles and his deputy, Ed Ingram, who made the arrest. The charge in this case is for false arrest.

IT MAY SURPRISE SOME DYSPEPTICS

To Learn That Over-Drugging Often Delays a Cure.

Proper Diet, Plenty of Time for Eating and Rest Will Cure Most Cases Unless the Blood-Supply Is Deficient.

The adage "One man's meat is another man's poison" is scientifically true and to a certain extent dyspeptics should allow their desires to dictate their diet, always omitting articles found to cause distress. The adage holds true with drugs. Medicine that will relieve one case of indigestion will aggravate another.

Drugs play very little part in the modern treatment of dyspepsia. From a list of articles easily digested the patient selects those that most appeal to the appetite, avoids hasty eating and rests after each meal by lying down for a time if circumstances permit. Then, unless the supply of blood to the stomach is deficient, nature works the cure.

The importance of healthy well-oxidized blood is shown by the fact that the stomach demands about nine times more blood during digestion than when it is empty. In fact, healthy blood is necessary to the normal activity of the stomach, and when it is lacking nothing will more promptly restore the digestion than building up the blood. Pallor and weakness, gas on the stomach, sour risings in the throat, dizziness and shortness of breath when appearing in cases of dyspepsia, point to a deficiency in the blood supply. Such a case was that of Miss Margaret Reilly of No. 55 Thirty-seventh street, Milwaukee, Wis.

"I had a weak stomach for a number of years," she says, "and although I was careful in what I ate, it kept growing weaker. I suffered intense pain if I ate a hearty meal. Gas formed on my stomach and caused me to be dizzy. My stomach was generally sour. I was short of breath, had a sallow complexion and felt dull all of the time. At times I was confined to bed for a day or so.

"I was treated by a doctor at Anoka, Minn., and for a time I thought he was helping me, but when I stopped taking his medicine I became worse again. After I had been sick for a year I began to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I gave them a good trial, for I soon saw they were helping me, and was cured. I am in good health now and so can heartily recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

A great many people who are suffering from indigestion are suffering unnecessarily. They can be cured. The first step is to send to the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., for a copy of their diet book, "What to Eat and How to Eat." It is free on request.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

JOINS LARGER ARMY.

As "Taps" Sounds Veteran at Soldiers' Home Expires—Had Just Returned from Political Meet.

SOLDIERS' HOME, Oct. 22.—While "taps" were sounding at 9 o'clock last evening, William Cox, a veteran employé in the commissary department, fell over on his bed in barrack G and instantly expired. He had just returned from attendance at a political meeting in Sawtelle; had disrobed and was about to lie down when he fell forward. When comrades reached his bedside life was extinct. He had up to that moment given no indication of suffering, nor had he uttered a warning sound. As he had been occasionally treated for heart disease, the surgeon concluded his death was attributable to that. There will be no inquest.

Cox served during the Civil War in Co. E, Nineteth Illinois Infantry, was a native of Ohio, admitted in 1904 from Cottonwood, Idaho, and aged 71. The funeral will take place tomorrow under the auspices of Uncle Sam Post No. 177, G. A. R., of which he was a member.

HOT POLITICS.

The political pot is boiling at the Home. Tomorrow afternoon the big Republican rally will take place; on the next Thursday the Prohibition party will have its afternoon at the Home, and on Saturday afternoon the Democrat party will have its gabfest in Memorial Hall. The Independence League will also have one day next week.

The regular free concert by the Home orchestra will take place tomorrow evening in connection with a programme of moving pictures. This character of entertainment seems to suit the old veterans exactly, and the Home officers are pleased with the result of efforts in this direction.

STRAW VOTE.

The result of a straw vote in a group of thirty-two veterans today, Taft received thirty, Bryan one, and one had not yet decided. On the question of Supervisor, the vote was unanimous in favor of the Home's favorite Son of a Veteran, C. J. Nellis.

REDONDO.

REDONDO, Oct. 22.—The California Ornamental Brick Company has filed three bids for the pump to be used in connection with the new sewage disposal plant. Each is for a different pump. Bid No. 1 provides for a Platt No. 5, two-storage turbine pump, at $2300; No. 2, a Jackson horizontal two-stage turbine pump, at $2086; No. 3, a Eclipse three-step centrifugal pump, $2162. This is to provide a pump in place of the triplex, which was to cost $3025. The same company offers a 440-volt electric motor at $440. The Trustees will accept a bid Monday evening.

Both local Republicans and Democrats expect to hold early political meetings, the former tomorrow, when Gov. Gillett and other prominent Republicans will be here, and the Democrats next Tuesday evening, when Judson R. Rush will speak under the auspices of the Bryan and Kern Club.

WOMAN BY FAST RUN STOPS KIDNAPPING.

REDONDO, Oct. 22.—An alleged attempt on the part of George Louden, formerly a saloonkeeper in this city, now a resident of Coalinga, to kidnap Ethel Burlingame, the adopted daughter of Mrs. George Brown, was frustrated this morning by the watchfulness and determination of the latter. The girl, who is about 15 years of age, was on her way to school when Louden met her and engaged her in conversation. Fortunately the place of meeting was within about a block of Mrs. Brown's residence on Emerald street. Mrs. Brown saw the girl stop and saw a portion of a man's body behind a street obstruction. She recognized Louden, who has been trying to get possession of the girl for some time. She ran at once toward the pair. They saw her and began to run, but soon found they could not distance her, and stopped. After a few moments, the girl walked on and the man and Mrs. Brown engaged in conversation until the latter knew that her adopted daughter was safe in school.

An interesting story is behind this morning's escapade. Ethel Burlingame was born nearly fifteen years ago in Dr. Cowles's sanatorium in Pasadena. Her mother is said to have been a young woman, who afterward became the wife of a well-known business man of Los Angeles, and is now the mother of two other children. Ethel, at the age of five weeks, was adopted by Mrs. Brown, then Mrs. Burlingame. The latter has cared for her as her own child and has spared no pains or expense in giving her every advantage that other children of well-to-do parents have. Three years ago Louden "discovered" her, and claimed to be her father, by the bar sinister, and has been trying to get possession of her ever since. Some weeks ago, he got her to go to Los Angeles with him, and while in a law office there she was persuaded to sign certain papers by which she acknowledged Louden to be her father, giving her mother's name. It is hardly to be presumed that she really knew of her own knowledge who her mother was, since she was an infant a few weeks old when her mother deserted her, and certainly she could not her father, who had never before made himself known to her. Since signing the paper Louden has made several efforts to get possession of her. He is said to be an unmarried man.

Mrs. Brown states positively that the woman named in the girl's affidavit and in Louden's is not the child's true mother, as Dr. Cowles's record shows. She also states that she has information that Louden has acknowledged that he wants the girl for a wife when she arrives at the age of 18.

The girl, herself, filled with romantic notions about her putative parents, is said to be perfectly willing and desirous of going with Louden.

HURRICANE CARRIES HOUSE FIFTY FEET.

Woman and Several Children Hurt When Their Home in Cajon Pass Is Dashed to Pieces—Heroic Mother Saves Baby.

SAN BERNARDINO, Oct. 22.—A Mexican woman named Lujia, was severely injured and a number of children slightly hurt in the destruction of their home on the Verdemont ranch, in Cajon Pass this morning, by a cyclone. The wind, which had been blowing steadily all night, reached cyclonic proportions shortly after 6 o'clock today.

The house, a portable structure, was completely lifted from its foundations, whirled into the air, being dashed to pieces fifty feet away. The woman was struck by the breaking timbers, receiving numerous lacerations on the body and head, sustained a fractured ribs and internal injuries of a grave nature. All the children were more or less injured, except the infant two months of age, which escaped without a scratch, through the devotion of the mother.

The little family had gathered in the center room of the house, thoroughly scared, as gust after gust struck the structure, making the timbers creak, and swaying the dwelling as though on the billows of the ocean, when suddenly the building was torn completely away. The woman seized her infant in her arms, and seated on the floor bent over it, thus completely shielding the child from harm.

A telegraphic call for doctors and nurses was sent to town shortly before 10 o'clock, section hands having found the injured family huddled together in the ruins of their home. Dr. Mills made a hurried run to the place in the automobile of John Anderson, Jr., reaching this city with the injured at 3:30.

They state that the wind has completely covered hundreds of trays of raisins with sand, and the vineyards are also completely smothered. Lujia, the woman's husband, had his wrist broken.

MAN TAKES HIS FOURTH WIFE

AT THE SAME TIME HE DRAWS UP HIS WILL.

Bequeaths Bride All His Property—Rollin Grannis and Mrs. Camilla Cain of Alhambra Go to San Bernardino Where They Are Quietly Wedded.

SAN BERNARDINO, Oct. 22.—Rollin Willis Grannis, 73 years old, took his fourth wife today in the person of Mrs. Camilla R. Cain. Both are of Alhambra. The ceremony was performed by Justice of the Peace Thomas, who, two years ago, tied the third knot for Grannis. While the justice was perusing the license Grannis was hastily filling out a printed form of a will, by which he hoped to bequeath his bride all his property. The justice was handed this document, after the ceremony, to indorse, but explained to the aged benedict that if he wrote his will entirely with his own hand aplaced his signature to it he would require no witnesses, and his will would then be in such form that no attorney in the land could break it. Acting upon this advice, the old man made an olographic will.

WILD HORSE HUNT.

George Bray, a Silverlake mining man, left for Los Angeles this morning, to interest a number of friends in a wild-horse hunt in the Toyabe National Park, Nevada. He states that his party will be permitted to trap the animals, which have proved very destructive. There are between 15,000 and 30,000 wild horses roaming the reserve. Recently Superintendent Bennett secured the sanction of the Forestry Department to permit the regular army to shoot the horses sixty days out of the year as part of their skirmish drills, but the War Department refused sanction on the ground that such work might pile up personal claims against the government. Bray has been all over the park, and is confident he will be able to capture hundreds of head of the fiery little animals.

REMARKABLE OPERATION.

Eugene Brown, the clever little horse thief, has undergone an operation, the officers and surgeons believing that by this means he can be saved from his criminal tendencies, and made over into a bright, trustworthy lad. For months the boy has had a gang organized, which had looted stores and stolen horses. The operation has kept the youth in bed for several days, but his parents declare that already he is showing a tendency for higher ideals, and has actually shown an interest in religious matters, which heretofore he regarded as only good for girls and "sissy boys."

SEEKS HIS CHILDREN.

A man named Chanler, residing at Tropico, applied to Probation Officer W. H. Baldwin this afternoon, to aid him in securing his two little children, who have been left with his wife's mother, a resident of this city. The man claims his wife deserted him, taking the children to Chicago, and then sent them home with the grandparent. Chanler claims that his first knowledge of the children's whereabouts came in the form of a demand from the grandmother here for money to pay their expenses.

CORONA.

CORONA, Oct. 22.—Dr. W. H. Chapman, a recent arrival here, met with an accident on the street this morning that resulted in a sudden change of clothing, and also a narrow escape from serious injury. The doctor was walking on Main street, carrying a bottle of nitric acid. A sudden gust of wind blew off his hat, and in trying to catch it the cork was knocked out of the bottle, and the nitric acid spilled on the doctor's hand and trousers. Suffering with pain, his clothing in flames, the physician rushed into a near-by drug store, where the flames were extinguished and the burns dressed. A messenger hastened to the Chapman home to bring the doctor some whole garments.

ORANGE, Oct. 22.—The Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Church of the San Diego district held an enjoyable and profitable convention here today and yesterday. Twenty-eight visiting delegates were present, besides a good attendance from this vicinity. Interesting addresses were given by Rev. Embree of Fullerton, Rev. Mr. Ashleigh of Garden Grove, Rev. A. J. McKenzie of Wintersburg, besides many papers on missionary topics by ladies of the convention. Luncheon was served each day in the church parlors, and the delegates were given an auto ride about town yesterday afternoon.

CURIOUS ELECTROCUTION ON VENTURA RANCH.

Portuguese Comes to His Death When Trying to Liberate Animal Caught in Dangling Live Wire. Mound Farmers Find That It Pays to Irrigate.

VENTURA, Oct. 22.—Manuel Frates, working on the Patterson ranch, met death there yesterday by electrocution. A live wire, which had blown from a pole of the Ventura County Power Company dangled on the ground, and caught round a calf. Frates came along on his way to attend to some work and espied the calf. He attempted to liberate it and was himself killed. When found both the man and the calf were entwined in the deadly wire, the bodies of both being nearly consumed. For some distance the grass was burned off. Deceased was a Portuguese, 35 years of age and leaves a son and daughter, who arrived from the East today, only to find their father dead.

IRRIGATION PAYS.

The farmers of the Mound district are convinced that it pays to irrigate beans. Limas have generally been grown in this county without irrigation, but of late years much bean land has been put under ditch and experimenting in irrigation has been going on. A half-dozen Mound farmers irrigated this year, and their output, as compared with a half-dozen other fields, shows that irrigated lands produced twenty-eight sacks per acre as against twenty and four-fifth sacks on unirrigated lands.

Samuel Shortridge made a good address here last night to a big Republican audience. Addresses were also made by L. H. Roseberry, Dr. Mott of Santa Paula, and Assemblyman Sackett.

WAYWARD BOYS.

Clarence Carpenter has been sent to the Ione Industrial School, while J. K. Byers has been sent home on probation. The two were wayward Santa Paula boys who a few days ago were arrested for stealing a team, with which they drove off, overhauling an old man, whom they held up.

ANNUAL BAZAR.

The Native Daughters of this city will hold their annual bazar here tomorrow and Saturday. The proceeds will be devoted to beautifying Thompson boulevard, which enters this city on the east. The Native Daughters have already planted palms along two of the chief thoroughfares of the city and have expended much time and money in other civic improvements.

COMPANY WINS IN FRUIT CASE.

RIVERSIDE LAWSUIT DECIDED AGAINST MANAGER.

Popular Methodist Couple Married Under Branches of Great Date Palm in Presence of Several Hundred Guests — Pioneer Woman Called by Death.

RIVERSIDE, Oct. 22.—In a decision given by Judge Densmore in the Superior Court last evening, the Gregory Fruit Company won in the suit for $10,000 damages brought against the firm by Joseph Wallace for alleged breach of agreement. Wallace alleged that in 1906 the company agreed to employ him for a year as manager of the fruit cannery at San Jacinto, and the fruit was to be canned under his trademarks and labels. A few months later he was discharged. He claimed that his reputation was injured by reason of the inferior manner in which the fruit was canned under his labels, by his successor. He was given nothing, by the decision of the court, and the defendant company was awarded costs.

PRETTY FALL WEDDING.

The marriage of Miss Ida E. Gardner and E. Wallace Kirkpatrick, both popular in young people'scircles of the First Methodist Church, took place last evening at the church. It was one of the prettiest of the fall weddings and was attended by several hundred friends. Rev. Robert S. Fisher, pastor of the church, was the officiating clergyman. The church was elaborately decorated in pink and white chrysanthemums, roses and cosmos, with quantities of date palms.

The bridesmaids were Misses Lylah Palmer and Helen Mauzy, who were gowned alike in pink silk mull and carried pink carnations and ferns in their arms. Little Florence Miller assisted as flower girl, scattering rose petals in the pathway of the bride. The best man was Dwight Velsy, the groomsman was Luther Cell, the ring bearer was Master Phillips and the ushers were Clarence Beard, John Burrows, Pearl Bollean, C. O. Kiplinger, Harry Courtney and Ross Huber.

The bride was gowned in white silk mull, trimmed with lace. She wore a long tulle veil fastened in her hair with bride's roses and maidenhair ferns, and her bouquet was white carnations and ferns. Preceding the ceremony Clarence Prior sang "Because." The wedding music was played by Miss Eva Spaulding. An informal reception was held, the bride and groom standing under the branches of a great date palm tree which occupied the center of the platform. Upon their return from their honeymoon trip they will be at home at the new Mission residence built by the groom on East Eighth street.

FUNERAL OF PIONEER.

The funeral of Mrs. Martha G. Davis, who died Monday, will be held tomorrow afternoon at the home of her brother, R. F. Cunningham, at No. 444 Sixth street. Mrs. Davis was one of the pioneer women of Riverside and had large property interests in the city. The W.C.T.U., of which she was the first Riverside county president, will atend the service in a body.

If You Will But Equip Your Stomach With the Right Means to Handle the Food.

If you go into a restaurant, cafe or hotel, where all your environments, the lights, dazzling linen, silver, cut glass, music, chatting and laughing women, seem to foretell of a pleasant meal, your stomach should not revolt when you read the menu card.

Heavy steaks, soups, oysters, entrees, salads, etc., should hold no terrors for the healthy stomach and they do not.

A tablet taken a few moments after a copious meal will remove any ill effects of food from your stomach and you may eat as generously as those about you.

One of these little tablets will of itself settle all questions of indigestion for that meal and will place your stomach and digestive organs in a better condition for the next.

Your blood will be enriched, and the depleted gastric fluids will be rebuilt.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are natural, active, digestive agents who give to the gastric juices the elements they lack, which ease the stomach, remove irritation and enrich and stimulate the blood.

All of these statements may be verified if you will take but a little of your time to prove them.

Every druggist carries Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in stock and will tell you of their merit. These tablets sell for 50c per box, or send us your name and address and we will send you at once by mail a trial package free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

San Diego Judge Allows Number of Los Angeles Demands Against Estate of Miss Forster—Roosevelt Notified of Birth of Twins, Both Heavy—Murphy's Success.

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 22.—Because of the mental incapability of Miss Charlotte Forster, the maiden lady, who created a sensation by jumping from a window of the Angelus Hotel in Los Angeles several weeks ago, Judge Lewis of the Superior Court has taken charge of the expenditure of her money. Yesterday he issued an order directing guardians of Miss Forster to pay certain claims and accounts, which creditors have been clamoring for. Among the bills allowed is one of $56 to the Angelus Hotel Company for board for Miss Forster and maid at the rate of [illegible] day. Money was allowed Dr. Woodward of Los Angeles for medical [illegible]. A local dentist was allowed $4 for doing dental work for Bergit Olsen, the Swedish maid of Miss Forster, and another $11 for treating the nerve of a tooth of Ramson N. Harvey, Miss Forster's chauffeur. Miss Forster is now located in a private residence in this city, under the care of nurses and physicians. Her guardians reported to the court that she has $6219.85 on deposit in a San Diego bank. None of her relatives, who reside in Maine, have come here to see her since the attack of dementia.

TWO, AND BOTH HEAVY.

Mr. and Mrs. Naah Rodigues of No. 468 Eighth street have communicated the news to President Roosevelt that they are the parents of twin daughters, born Tuesday. One weighs nine and the other seven pounds. Both babes are healthy, and there is joy in the house of Rodigues, who is a prominent building contractor.

SAYS REPORTS ARE FAKES.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Ross are now at Yosemite and from there will go to San Francisco to sail for Honolulu, where they will spend a month in the hope of benefiting Mrs. Ross's health. John J. Hernan, who is manager of Hotel del Coronado during the absence of Mr. Ross, states that there is absolutely no truth in any report to the effect that Mr. Ross will assume the management or even take an interest in a hotel at Honolulu. Mr. Hernan, who is closely allied with the Spreckels's interests, also states that reports to the effect that an English syndicate is to buy the hotel at Monterey originated in the mind of a promoter, whose talk is hot air.

MURPHY MEETINGS CLOSE.

With William Murphy, father of "Tom," as the principal speaker, the Murphy temperance meetings closed in this city with a rousing gathering at a local theater last night. At all these meetings the presiding officer has been G. Aubrey Davidson, president of the Southern Savings and Trust Company, who financed the movement to bring the Murphys here. In eleven meetings Tom Murphy has addressed not less than 15,000 persons. He has secured 1028 signers to the pledge, and leaves behind a local organization to be known as the Murphy Temperance League, with Mr. Davidson as its president.

LABORITES PLAN MEETING.

Alleging that the meeting is ordered by Sam Gompers, the Federated Trades of this city has arranged for a meeting tomorrow night, at which the speakers will be Stanley Wilson and "Red" Fennessey of Los Angeles. Democrats have called a meeting for the same night at the same place.

ENCOUNTERS ROUGH WEATHER.

After a stormy trip of 167 days, the British ship Neotafield, Capt. Evans, arrived in the local harbor last night. Evans reports the trip around the Horn as most severe. Heavy gales prevailed, huge seas washed over the decks, and the vessel was frequently driven from its course. The ship also encountered rough weather up the west coast of South America. Coal and coke are being unloaded here, and upon completion the ship will proceed to Portland.

MAJ. GATCHELL WALKS.

Maj. George W. Gatchell, commander of Fort Rosecrans, returned this morning from San Francisco, where he took the endurance test for walking as prescribed by the War Department. The test was made at the Presidio and Maj. Gatchell, in company with another post commander, covered fifty miles in sixteen hours. They were allowed rests at intervals. Maj. Gatchell returned with a good record. He has not yet been ordered to take the riding test.

OFFERS TO BUILD.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 22.—A proposition has been submitted to the Huntington Beach Company by the Rev. R. R. Raymond of Wintersburg, just appointed as agent of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, by Bishop James Adkins of Nashville, Tenn., agreeing, for the church board of education, to erect here a Methodist college, to cost with its equipment, not less than $100,000. The church asks certain grants of land from the company as a site for the college buildings and grounds, and the proposition is now under consideration by the officers and directors.

The plan of the southern church board of education is to receive subscriptions from leading members of the church in Southern California to provide an endowment fund for the new institution of learning and to sell a part of the ground to be donated by the Huntington Beach Company for residence lots, and use the proceeds of the sale toward defraying the cost of erection of the college buildings.

The bishop and the secretary of the church board of education have given their assurance that the college will be placed here if the local company will comply with their requirements in the matter, and it seems probable this will be done.

ELSINORE.

ELSINORE, Oct. 22.—An interesting mothers' meeting was held Tuesday afternoon in the Bank Hall. The subject discussed was "Preparation for Parenthood." The meeting was opened with the reading of Robert Louis Stevenson's prayer. Miss Sadie Alvey gave a piano solo; Mrs. Edna H. McCoy read an original paper on "The Accepted, and the Ideal Preparation for Marriage;" Mrs. Perry Graham read a humorous story entitled "A Parental Failing;" Mrs. Frank Bennet gave a piano solo. Mrs. Perry Graham, superintendent of the meetings, tendered her resignation. The matter of forming a mother's library was discussed and some donations and contributions received.

A business meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the M. E. Church was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. N. Endicott on Riley street. The following officers were elected for the year: President, Mrs. J. T. Kuhns; vice-president, Mrs. Maurice Walton; secretary, Mrs. Wert Kirtpatrick; treasurer, Mrs. Lucinda P. Strang.

COLTON.

COLTON, Oct. 22.—The "Boosters" met in the Operahouse last evening to attempt to reach some decision whereby this town might be brought before the public. Wilson Hays was appointed chairman and M. O. Hert secretary. Addresses were made by City Attorney M. O. Hert, Wilson Hays, J. B. Hanna, F. A. White, R. R. Sutherland, William Anderson, Dan Johnston, C. B. Fuller and Rev. Homer King. J. D. Knox, Max Zempleburg, Ernest King and R. R. Sutherland were appointed a committee on finance. A large and enthusiastic crowd greeted Gov. Gillett in front of the Anderson Hotel this evening. The Colton Citizens Band rendered several selections and all the school children were present. Gov. Gillett made a short address from his automobile.

THE MARKETS.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKETS.

Tropical fruits are beginning to attract attention on the local markets, now that the season for peaches, plums, pears and other deciduous and citrus fruit is well spent. Among the best arrivals are pineapples. They are shipped here from Hawaii, via San Francisco. The freight charges from the northern city in the iced cars is considerable and it is expected that pineapples in large quantities will be landed at San Pedro before this season is over, thus making a reduction possible. At present the best pineapples are selling at 5 cents, while the average price prevailing is 10 cent lower. The banana market is showing scarcely any change, with a tendency to even lower prices than the extremely low ones existing. There were offerings of ripe fruit yesterday morning as low as 2 cents a pound, and even at that figure they moved slowly, dealers on the outside being so well stocked, all the time that they can handle only a small amount of new stock a day.

On the Produce Exchange there was some active trading. One of the largest egg deals of the week was put through with the sale of a car of April selected storage eggs at current quotations. Now that the local egg supply is short, prices have advanced 4 cents a dozen, and holders of storage eggs are dumping them on the market as rapidly as possible without flooding it, thus they receive most possible prices. Receipts yesterday were 47 cases and 5 of these were sold at 61½, the new price on peddlers' counts. Ranch candled stock went to a range of 46 to 48 cents, the highest price this year.

There was little doing in butter; creamery extras and firsts were the only varieties offered. Receipts were light, 12,800 pounds.

Cheese receipts were only 230 pounds. Offerings were lighter than usual and prices were firm.

Only 100 sacks of potatoes were reported in. Despite the smallness of arrivals, offerings were heavy and a car of choice Highlands was sold. Two other cars were offered. Prices were the same.

Onion arrivals were 90 sacks. There were no changes in values and Yellow Danvers were featured by a sale of 10 sacks.

Bean arrivals were 160 sacks. Limas were in good demand and 2000 pounds of seconds were sold on 'Change. Other varieties were fairly well offered.

Only 5 sacks of sweet potatoes were reported in and naturally the weak market showed a much better tone.

Apple arrivals were 1947 boxes. Among these was landed another car of Colorado Jonathans. This fruit moved very slowly and without feature of any kind.

For the first time in two weeks, fish were really scarce. A good demand cleaned up the market early and none had been received at noon. Only a few small fish, mostly sardines, were obtainable. Crawfish were also a trifle scarce.

LOS ANGELES STOCK EXCHANGE.

LOCAL STOCK MARKET FIRM.

PRICES WELL MAINTAINED AND TRADING ACTIVE.

Home Preferred Takes Upward Turn Indicative of Definite Information Regarding Payment of the November Dividend—Bears Apparently Finished Cleaning up.

Taken as a whole, the investment market on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday was very firm, with a strong undertone, and a good deal of trading in the regular lines. Business transacted on the floor of the stock exchange also amounted to a considerable volume, with prices fairly well maintained to the close.

As predicted in this column yesterday, Home preferred took a slight upturn on Thursday's market, selling at the prices mentioned in the latter dealing with the stock. Sales totaled fifty shares, opening at 47.75 and selling up to 48.00, closing firm, and in big demand at that level. The closing quotations were 47.75@48.25, up 1-8 in the bid, and off 1 2-4 in the asking price. The market, however, on the curb was said to be slightly above the latter figure, and a rise is predicted for today.

This increased interest in Home Telephone preferred, with the demand of the preceding day, seems to indicate that there is definite information that the November first dividend will be paid as usual, at the rate of 5 per cent. a year, or 2½ per cent. for the November disbursement. The recent bearish element in this stock seems to have been created for the purpose of cleaning up the market of all floating lots. Now that the time for the dividend is near it is raising the price to get in what little remains on the market. The insiders at work will probably bull the stock now to get it considerably higher, and then unload after the dividend payment—another well played stock market game.

Associated Oil, as the result of the news published here yesterday of insiders selling, was considerably lower, selling from 34.62½ to 34.75 to the extent of eighty shares. The closing quotations were 34.75@35.00, off 2-8 and 1-4, respectively. There is just a possibility that the sale of the 300-share certificate of new stock in the name of W. S. Porter, president of the company, on Tuesday, was carried out for the purpose of bearing the stock. The fact that insiders were dumping at the high prices would easily induce a slump.

There was considerable trading in Elk Consolidated Oil. A total of 5000 shares sold at 6c@6 2-4, with the close later at 6@6 1-4. The asked price shows a decline of 2 1-4, compared with Wednesday's close.

There was a demand for Amalgamated. This stock closed with a bid at 65.00, and an asked price of 84.00. The latter was 4 points above Wednesday's market.

Union Oil was quiet and unchanged, closing at 83.50@84.50, up 1-4 in the bid, but with no change in the quotations on Union Provident and United Petroleum remained the same. The bid for Western Union remained at 60.00.

Aside from a few minor changes among the bonds there was no other points of interest about yesterday's market, the issues remaining inactive as to trading. There is considerable activity among the latter on the curb, however, changes in the quotations are sometimes quite sharp on the quotation sheet.

No action was taken by the committee, appointed to consider a change in the by-laws making it possible to force all trading by members to take place on the stock exchange floor. The committee, composed of John Earle Jardine, of William R. Staats & Co.; Joseph Ball, O. H. Burbridge and D. A. McGilvray, met in Mr. Ball's office in the Security Building yesterday afternoon, but the question is too complicated, when considered on all sides, that it may be ready to act on the floor has been a point of discussion off and on throughout the summer. Drastic action was planned by part of the members favoring exclusive exchange trading, but this was overruled, other traders asserting that under present conditions such a thing as forcing a trader to do all his business on the floor was impracticable. Those in favor cited the rule in force on the New York Stock Exchange, which prohibits a member of that association doing any business outside the exchange. Others stated this rule was the growth of years and the result of the education of the buying public to use the exchange for all purchases. The latter method is much cheaper for the investor, and easier for the trader quite often. A buyer quite often thinks he will not have to pay the usual commission by going to broker's office, when usually it is another way of securing the stock cheap, as it often is high, whereas if the trade was executed on the floor the price would be the very lowest possible to obtain in the market, and the trifling ¼ of one per cent. commission would not amount to much in the cost.

BOOM BURSTS FOR MINES.

Rosy Hue of Wednesday's Closing Hidden Behind Blackness of Decline of Yesterday.

The usual thing happened in the mining market yesterday. Instead of continuing in its sky-rocketlike flight the market came down almost all along the line; general profit-taking, and a dearth of buying orders from San Francisco over the entire assets in the slump. The market to the North was also off, and the resignation of low quotations had a depressing effect usually as was natural.

Combination Fraction was handled strangely during the early call on the Los Angeles-Nevada Exchange, selling to the extent of 500 shares at 1.25@1.27½. On the afternoon call the stock slumped to sales at 1.22@1.25, and closed at 1.23@1.25.

Consolidated closed stronger than on Wednesday, and was quoted at 6.6@6.15, up 5 points in each quotation at the close. None was sold on the floor during either call.

Daisy closed at 96@98, after sales of 200 at 1.10 on the morning session. This was a net decline of 4 and 6 points, respectively. Florence was quiet, closing at 3.80 bid, showing a 5-point drop. There was no trading.

Minor trading in California Hills at 4. Consolidated Mines at 2¾@3. Eureka at 1½, and Johnnie Con. at 1¾, and Tramp Con. at 4¾, quarter-thirty, completed the business of the curb call. On the informal Florence-Wheeler call at 4½, Daisy advanced at 7½. California Hills at 4, and Consolidated Mines at 2¾.

WHEAT MARKET OPENS STRONG.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—The wheat market was strong all day, although sentiment in the pit was less bullish during the final hour. At the opening the market was influenced by an advance of ⅝ to ¾ cents in Liverpool, which it was said was due to the lighter offerings from Argentina and to late dispatches from Rosario that claimed the damage by frost to the Argentine crop would probably reach as high as 10 per cent. of the yield. The market here was also affected by an estimate made by an European crop statistician on the amount of wheat to be shipped from Argentina this week, this authority claiming that the exports this week would be much less than were indicated by previous advices. An active demand for cash wheat in the Northwest and southwest also tended to strengthen the market here. The weather conditions in this country, which apparently has little effect early in the day, caused some selling late in the session. Rain was again predicted in sections of the winter wheat belt which, if it materializes, will promote fall plowing. The market reacted about ½ cent from the high point during the last hour, but closed firm, with December at 99⅞ and May at 1.06@1.06⅛.

The corn market made little response to the bulge in wheat and became weak late in the session, the closing being at the bottom point on nearly all deliveries. Prices at the close were ⅛@¼ to ⅜ below the previous close, with final quotations on December at 63¼ and May at 67⅛@67⅜.

Provisions were weak. An advance of 10@15 cents in live hogs seemed to have no effect. Prices at the close were 2½ to 10@12½ cents lower.

Cash quotations were as follows: Flour was barely steady; No. 3 spring wheat, 95@1.02; No. 2 red, 1.01@1.01⅛; No. 2 yellow corn, 79@79⅛; No. 2 oats, 50½; No. 2 white, 46@46½; No. 3 white, 73; No. 2 rye, 87½@94½; good feeding barley, 55@60; fair to choice malting, 1.15@1.22½; No. 1 flaxseed, 1.25½; No. 1 northwestern, 1.25@1.30; short ribs, sides (loose,) 8.00@8.50; mess pork, per bbl., 13.00@13.62½; lard, per 100 lbs., 8.00@8.62½; short clear sides (boxed,) 9¼@9½; whisky, basis of high wines, 1.37.

New York Cotton Market.

[By Private Wire to E. F. Hutton & Co., Bankers and Brokers, Members New York Stock Exchange, No. 112 West Third street.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Cotton opened steady, 1 to 4 above. Trading was quite heavy, but not active. We expect a large ginners' report on Monday at the opening. The Wall street operator was sending out very bullish information on future outlook today. The market is only a scalping one at the moment, but is working toward a higher basis and would advise buying on all soft spots.

Dick Bros. say: "The cotton market was generally steady today, with the buying indicating the presence of a more bullish sentiment than has been apparent for some time. Heavy and somewhat damaging rains in Oklahoma and North Texas also caused some buying. We think it would be wise to accept profits on the long side, but we do not favor going short."

C. B. & Co. say: "Sentiment at the moment seems to be veering to the bull side of the market and if the ginners' figures, as reported, are any forecast of the government they might rightfully be construed as very bullish."

J. S. Bache & Co. say: "Pending the ginners' report there may be no great change in prices. On any break we favor purchases of the late month."

M. S. & Co. say: "A favorable influence is undoubtedly the high quality of the crop. Pending the ginners' report, we may not have an active and higher market, but we don't look for a serious decline."

Greene says: "Early cables were about as expected. The feeling here is getting very bullish, and in view of the large amount of cotton bought yesterday, the market should have done better. The short interest in the market is being reduced. The receipts of cotton continue heavy and no doubt will for some time. We still believe you will see a traders' market, but we would be careful about going long on advances, but on ten or twelve points break, would buy distant months."

Hill says: "Cotton has merit and should ultimately work higher; but intelligent speculation suggests purchases at ten or twelve points decline from the top prices reached, and not on bulges."

WARRANT STILL CAUSES FIGHT.

INJUNCTION SUIT THREATENED AT SANTA MONICA.

City Attorney Gives Opinion That Four-Thousand-Dollar Payment to Ocean Park Is Legal, but Justice of Peace May Go to Law Over It. Activity in Real Estate.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SANTA MONICA, Oct. 22.—An injunction suit is in prospect in connection with the payment of the $4000 warrant issued by the City of Santa Monica in favor of Ocean Park, in settlement for money alleged to be due on account of the sewer difficulties. City Attorney Odell has given an official opinion to City Treasurer Bane, advising him that the demand is a legal one and that it has his indorsement as a legal obligation. He advises the disregarding of notices that may be served upon him not to pay the warrant, and says if any citizen feels that he should take action to prevent the payment he must do it by writ of injunction. He admonishes the Treasurer that his refusal to pay the warrant or register it will be done at that officer's own risk and the City Attorney's office will not defend any suit brought to compel action on the demand.

There being no funds in the treasury to meet the requisition the warrant was registered and turned over to President Eakins of the Ocean Park board.

Justice of the Peace J. C. Steele, who gave the Treasurer notice that he would resist the payment of the warrant, today employed counsel and stated that if, after investigation, the law in the case was found as he believed it to be, he would at once institute injunction proceedings with a view to having the courts restrain the payment of the warrant.

REALTY DEALS.

G. W. Short has been granted a permit for the construction of a residence on Arizona avenue at the corner of Eighth. The structure is to cost $2000. G. VanZandt of Los Angeles has purchased a lot in the Palisades and will build a residence for the occupancy of his family. M. Fairhead of Los Angeles has purchased the Grassett home on Ocean avenue and will bring his family here to reside. M. Jensen of Pasadena has purchased the Blanchard residence on Second street and will make his home here.

The steamer J. S. Higgins is due to arrive at Port Los Angeles from the north tomorrow, with a cargo of lumber.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Crain have arrived from Scranton, Pa., and will make their home here.

According to notices posted by the constable, the "Log Cabin" of Frank Lawton's Rustic Cañon pleasure resort will be sold on the afternoon of the 27th inst., to satisfy a judgment of the Imperial Ice Company. Among the articles included in the sale are the cabin, bar-room fixtures and sixteen furnished tent-houses.

Hotel Windermere, family, transient.

WORSE YET TO COME.

Vegetarian Sinclair and Magnate Wilshire on Way to Bolster Socialist Cause.

Upton Sinclair, the author of a sweet romance about wormy sausage and maggots, and Gaylord Wilshire are coming to Los Angeles some time at the end of this month as the guests of the Socialists.

Wilshire began his career in Los Angeles; she's more to be pitied than blamed.

As the proprietor of a big bill-board trust, Wilshire got money enough to enter upon a life of leisure. One time some one asked him why he wanted to be a Socialist; and he replied truthfully that it was the only game he ever played that was more fun than golf.

He has promised while here to carry in the street parade, October 31, a big transparency bearing the words: "Let the Nation Own the Trusts."

Sinclair will carry one reading, "I Am a Vegetarian."

If the readers of his novel on society are to be believed he ought to carry a transparency saying, "I Am a Rough Neck."

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

OCEAN PARK, Oct. 22.—There is to be a political gathering at the intersection of Pier avenue and Trolleyway at 2:15 tomorrow afternoon. The Republican organizations of the bar district will be there to receive Gov. Gillett and hear him discuss the issues of the campaign. The meeting will be a short one, but many of the beach Republicans will accompany the campaign party to the Soldiers' Home, where the Governor will deliver an extended address.

A second Republican gathering will be held at the Casino in the evening. The principal speaker will be Walter Leeds, who will have something to say on the way in which the electors should mark their ballots on the several constitutional amendments.

LEROY WRITES.

W. R. LeRoy, of hot-air-engine fame, has written to local stockholders that he will arrive at the beach with his engine within three days. He says the patent is a success, and that the engine runs with no fuel other than air, water and electricity, the latter of its own generation. He says he will have the engines in operation by the sea within a few days after the parts arrive.

The Santa Monica Bay's Chamber of Commerce, which was recently consolidated, will hold a meeting Saturday evening, at the Casino Auditorium.

Plans for the purpose of annexation to Los Angeles will be formulated and discussed. The project of building a channel from Venice to within four or five miles of the city limits of Los Angeles will be placed before the meeting.

A. F. Webster is president of the Chamber of Commerce of the Bay Cities. The following guests have been invited from Los Angeles: Joseph H. Call, president of the municipal waterways; Mayor Harper, Milton A. Young, Henry T. Mazard, S. A. Buther, Marshall Stimson, Oscar C. Mueller, Frank Wiggins.

Rev. Ramon Prat,

NEW MISSION BELL.

The Monte Carlo booth is under direction of Mrs. Josefa Del Valle Forster, of the famous Camulos ranch, where "Ramona" was born. Mrs. Forster is assisted by Mrs. Macusick and a bevy of pretty girls.

At the luncheon booth is Mrs. William Dox and assistants. The domestic booth is under the supervision of Mrs. Valke; candy booth, Mrs. Julian Troconis; fancy work booth, Mrs. Charles Hannan, Mrs. Moss and Miss Frances Hannan; flower booth, Mrs. Flores; cigar and cigarette booth, Miss Duron; confetti booth, Miss A. Cuneo; tamale booth, Mrs. E. Lopez, Mrs. Richards and assistants; ice cream booth, William McCormick.

An extended programme, composed of Spanish dances and Spanish music will be given at the old Mission tomorrow, under the direction of Miss Lottila Corrella.

JUD RUSH IS STILL POPPING.

TOUCHES OFF EXPLOSIVE UNDER CONGRESSMAN NIGHTLY.

Tells Gardena People Just What McLachlan Has Done for His District, According to the Congressional Record—Wonderful Speech of Three Minutes to the House.

Following out his custom of touching off some high explosives at each one of his meetings, Jud Rush, at Gardena last night, tossed something in the direction of the Congressman from this district which exploded with a loud noise when it came in contact with something hard to explain.

The record of the man who has been presumed to be serving this district in Congress for ten years was under discussion, he having asked to have the weak spots, if any there are in it, pointed out to him. Mr. Rush took up the matter of the appropriations for the developments in San Pedro Harbor, and showed that either the man who gets up the Congressional Record in Washington overlooked something of great interest to the people of the Seventh Congressional District, or else the Congressman from this district overlooked it himself. The Congressional Record doesn't say anything about the Congressman having secured $4,000,000 in appropriations for San Pedro, but the Congressman, himself, says that he has done so; and it was into this very matter which Mr. Rush delved before the large audience which gathered at Gardena last night. Mr. Rush said:

"Mr. McLachlan has made his record as a member of Congress an issue in this campaign, and has asserted, among other things, that he has obtained for this district appropriations aggregating $4,000,000 for San Pedro Harbor. It is strange that the Congressional Record does not contain any accounts of his efforts in this matter.

"Surely no one would reflect on the memory of Stephen M. White, or challenge the intelligence of the people of this great district by asserting or maintaining that James McLachlan was in any way responsible for obtaining the appropriation of $2,900,000 for the outer harbor, or that he rendered any material assistance to the success of that project. Since that time the Rivers and Harbors Appropriations Bill has appropriated small sums from time to time to be expended annually in the improvement of the inner harbor; but, so far as the record shows, Mr. McLachlan had no more to do with obtaining these appropriations than any other member of the House of Representatives.

"During the second session of the Fifty-eighth Congress Senator Bard introduced and the United States Senate passed, on February 8, 1904, as an item in the Urgent Deficiency Bill, an amendment appropriating $19,700 in addition to the sum already appropriated for the purpose of purchasing additional land for a public building in Los Angeles. The matter went to the House and Mr. McLachlan, in a great speech occupying almost three minutes, and consisting of 269 words, urged the House to pass this appropriation; but immediately upon the completion of his argument the House voted it down, and all that Senator Bard had gained in the Senate was lost in the House.

"On March 15, 1904, Senator Bard asked and obtained unanimous consent for the consideration of a bill in the United States Senate appropriating $225,000 to purchase additional property for the erection of a public building in Los Angeles city, which bill was passed by the Senate. On April 15, 1904, Mr. McLachlan asked unanimous consent for the consideration of this same bill in the House, and offered an amendment reducing the appropriation from $225,000 to $175,000, in which form it passed the House. In order to reduce this appropriation $50,000 and secure the passage of this bill in that form, Mr. McLachlan used seventy-four words. How much more the appropriation would have been reduced if he had spoken for five minutes no one knows.

"During the last session of Congress Senator Flint introduced and there was passed by the Senate, a joint resolution defining certain harbor lines in the inner harbor. This resolution was prepared in the War Department and favorably and unanimously reported from committee, and Mr. McLachlan obtained unanimous consent of the House for the immediate passage of that resolution, every one favoring it. On this occasion he delivered another tearful speech, of thirty-five words.

"I have searched the Congressional Record carefully, but I have been utterly unable to find a single instance in which a bill introduced by Mr. McFarland affecting our harbor interests, or concerning any public improvement, ever passed the House, much less became a law. They were invariably referred to appropriate committees, where they still rest, undisturbed.

"I find that every measure appropriating money for public improvements in this district has first been introduced in the Senate and passed by the Senate, and the contest, if any made, has been in the Senate, after which some of them have passed the House by unanimous consent, and others been killed in the House.

"On the 21st of last February a telegram from a private source in Washington reached the Chamber of Commerce of Los Angeles city notifying it that a resolution was pending in the Senate which provided for the establishment of the harbor lines of the inner harbor. The chambers of commerce of the cities of Los Angeles, Wilmington, San Pedro and Long Beach had requested the passage of such a resolution, and very much desired these lines to be established in order that the intended development of large enterprises might proceed at once. Through some mistake or mishap this resolution contained a provision to the effect that these lines were not to be established until they had met with the approval of the claimants of the tide lands at San Pedro; in other words, until they met with the approval of the transportation monopoly, which controlled the inner harbor in San Pedro.

"From February 11 to February 21, ten days, this joint resolution, printed in the Record and containing this pernicious clause, had been laid on Mr. McLachlan's desk in the House of Representatives every morning, and either he never read it to see what it was or else wished to have it passed and become a law, bad as it was. The Chamber of Commerce of Los Angeles, ever watchful of the people's interest, and with its characteristic energy, immediately went to work to have this resolution amended by leaving out this objectionable clause; but it does not appear that Mr. McLachlan was called upon to help in this good work; on the contrary, a Congressma from one of the far eastern States, who was in Washington, was asked to attend to the matter, and did what there was to be done for our dist ct, even though we were strangers and his home and interests thousands of miles away. This incident disclosed the fact that the commercial bodies of Los Angeles have for some time been compelled to keep a man in Washingt n to look out for their interests, and pay for his services out of their own pockets, and it was this man who disclosed the iniquitious clause in this resolution, and not the watchful Congressman from this district.

"Mr. McLachlan also stated in his public addresses that it would be unwise for the people of this district to send a new man to Congress, for the reason that it would take him some time to become accustomed to his work, and that his services for the first term would be practically valueless. The Congressional Record, however, discloses this fact: Hon. R. J. Waters, during the first and only term that he served as a representative from this district, did more work and accomplished more for the people of this great county than has Mr. McLachlan in all the ten years he has occupied that position. Senator Stephen M. White served but one term in the United States Senate. During the first two years of that term Mr. McLachlan was a member of Cong ess from this district. The record discloses that Senator White did vastly more work, and accomplished immeasureably greater good for Los Angeles county in the first two years of his first term than has Mr. McLachlan in all the years of his service.

"In recent addresses I have shown from the record that Congressmen Smith and Hayes, members from California, during their first terms each did much more successful work than has Mr. McLachlan in any term that he has served. So sayeth the Congressional Record."

Mr. Rush will remove the corn from another can of the same at Whittier tonight.

BACK FROM TEXAS.

Dr. Bresee, General Superintendent of Pentecostal Church of the Nazarene, Coming.

Rev. Dr. P. F. Bresee will return today from his visit to the general assembly of the Pentecostal Church of the Nazarene, which held its sessions at Pilot Point, Tex. Sunday next will mark the thirteenth anniversary of the organization of the Church of the Nazarene in this city, and the event will be observed by holding a great service of welcome to Dr. Bresee.

It will likewise be a celebration of the union of the Holiness Church of Christ with the Pentecostal Church of the Nazarene, which took place at the Texas meeting. This brought with it 130 congregations, and the entire organization now has a total of over 300 congregations, Dr. Bresee being general superintendent for the western district. Rev. J. W. Goodwin, assistant pastor of the local church, has arranged the reception for Dr. Bresee and it will be made one of much interest.

DEMOCRATIC PETITION DENIED.

The petition of the Democratic County Central Committee, filed in the Supreme Court, for a writ of mandate, to compel the County Clerk to destroy the present official ballots, was dismissed yesterday, and there will be no hearing. Apparently the reasons which appealed so strongly to Justice Albert Lee Stephens and his friends did not have much weight with the justices. Unless there is some other way in which to hold up the printing of the regular ballots for November 3, the objectionable "Vote for four" will appear over the name of Justice Stephens, the Democratic candidate for Superior Judge.

JUSTICE BEATTY INITIATED.

Beatty Chapter, Phi Delta Phi fraternity of the University of Southern California College of Law, met at Levy's last night and entertained Chief Justice Beatty of the State Supreme Court, for whom the chapter was named. The distinguished jurist was in a happy mood among a great bunch of young lawyers, and was formally initiated as an honorary member of the fraternity. The ceremony was attended with characteristic enthusiasm.

CREDIT MEN DINE.

The Los Angeles Credit Men's Association met last night at Levy's and around the table discussed the meeting of the national association at Denver, and disposed of the routine business. H. Flateau was chairman of the evening, and the principal talk was made by Attorney W. T. Craig, on the proposed amendments to the bankruptcy law. Mr. Craig referred somewhat facetiously in his opening to the transformation that has taken place in recent years, by taking legal business from the hands of the lawyers and placing it with boards of trade, trust companies and other like organizations.

FEDERAL COURT AT FRESNO.

The Fresno sitting of the United States Court will probably last for three weeks, according to the indications of the calendar. There are several trials on the docket, among them two or three damage suits against railroads. The session begins November 9, and several days prior to the first court day there will be a flitting of Federal officials from Los Angeles to Fresno.

SUFFRAGETTES GO TO JAIL.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—Seventeen of the woman suffragists who were arrested October 12, during the storming of the House of Commons, on charges of disorderly conduct, were today sentenced in the Bow-street Police Court to terms of imprisonment varying from three weeks to three months. The women were offered the alternative of giving bonds for their good behavior but they elected to go to jail.

SCIENCE NOTES.

Photographing the Voice.

A wonderful photographic instrument has been invented in Sweden, wherewith the human voice is photographed and reproduced in absolute perfection, because it can be photographed without having to be spoken into a metal, funnel-like receiver, as is the case with the graphophone. Hence there is no unnatural metal sound which so distresses the sensitive as when it is reproduced from a phonograph. Not only can the voice be reproduced by this new method, but it can be enlarged like an ordinary photograph, and reproduced so as to be heard long distances. A spoken word can be heard fifteen miles, for example: Signals along the coast can be spoken, leaving no doubt as to the locality. The hum of an ant hill can be enlarged to appear like the hum of a large city. Infinitesimal sounds can thus be enlarged and studied. Posterity can now have the voice of a Roosevelt or a Bryan without the metallic accompaniment.

Cure of Locomotor Ataxia.

A no more puzzling nervous disease than locomotor ataxia has been known to the medical profession, and the fact that a cure has been discovered is an immense boon to many a sufferer. For thirty-two years Dr. Le Grand N. Denslow of New York sought the source of the disease, and finally discovered it in lesions along the urinary tract. By treating these lesions he has apparently cured thirty cases of the disease during the past four years, and with the removal of the lesions emaciation has also disappeared. The lesions are believed to create a sensory impulse that was finally conveyed to the roots of the spinal cord.

Production of Tantalum.

The extent of the natural resources of the earth are only recognised by the discovery of uses to which new elements can be put. Thus tantalum was only separated from its constituents after so much discouragement that its name was the result of its elusive nature. Only a few years ago the mineral yielding it was so hard to find that museums could not be supplied with specimens. Now Australia alone furnishes more than seventy tons of tantalite a year—not a large supply, but enough for present needs, as a single pound of tantalum gives filaments for 25,000 lamps of twenty-five candle-power.

New Use for Wood Waste.

By a new treatment of wood waste F. Auner of Medgyes, Hungary, has produced satisfactory substitutes for wood, horn, rubber, and like materials. After a preliminary treatment and hardening with size and such solution as aluminum salts or potassium bichromate, the waste is dried and ground, and the fine material is then mixed with a binding agent, such as glue, containing a little potassium bichromate, together with oatmeal or linseed meal, or other substance containing starch, gum or varnish. The details of the process may be be considerably varied. Further hardening may be given by the addition of mineral matters, such as infusorial earth, chalk, kaolin or fine alumina; and toughness may be imparted by adding 5 to 10 per cent. of chopped textile fiber, rags, hemp, jute or the like. Coloring matters may be incorporated. The mass, after thorough mixing, is subjected to the action of ... molded under pressure, ... variations the waste is ... specially adapted for ... and drawer handles, ... wall coverings, dishes ... and furniture.
